Treaties, Engagements and Sanads relating to the States, etc., in Central India in Political Relations with the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor-General, Central India.

INTRODUCTION.

THE States in Central India are in political relations with the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India and the Resident, Gwalior. The Central India Agency includes the subordinate Agencies of Bhopal, Southern States of Central India and Malwa, Bundelkhand and Baghelkhand. In 1921 the Gwalior Residency was separated from the Central India Agency and placed in direct relations with the Government of India.

There are in Central India 29 Salute States, eleven of which are under direct treaty engagements with the British Government. These are Gwalior, Indore, Bhopal, Rewa, Orchha, Datia, Dhar, Dewas (Senior and Junior branches), Samthar and Jaora. Next in order come the Mediatised State of Ratlam, the Sanad States of Panna, Charkhari, Ajaigarh, Bijawar, Baoni and Chhatarpur, the Mediatised States of Sitamau, Sailana, Rajgarh and Narsingarh, the Sanad States of Baraundha, Nagod and Maihar, and the Mediatised States of Jhabua, Barwani, Ali-Rajpur and Khilchipur. There are also a large number of minor States and Estates, the majority of which are held under agreements mediated between them and their superior Chiefs by the British Government.

Of the Treaty States, Bhopal and Jaora are Muhammadan; Gwalior, Indore, Dhar and Dewas, Mahratta; Rewa, Orchha and Datia, Rajput; and Samthar, Gujar. With the exception of the Muhammadan State of Baoni, all the Mediatised and Sanad Salute States are Rajput.

The multiplicity of petty Chiefs, and the peculiarity of the tenures on which they hold their States, founded as they are on the measures adopted for the pacification of the country after the Pindari war, necessitate in Central India and Malwa more interference on the part of the British Government in the affairs of the Chiefs than it is usual or expedient to exercise in the States of Rajputana. Under the Mahrattas, as had previously been the case under the Muhammadan governors, the petty Chiefs in Central India exercised but limited powers within their respective States: and, on the establishment of British supremacy in these provinces, the officers of the British Government naturally assumed the position of arbiters of all differences by which the public peace could be disturbed, and of judicial functionaries to whom all sentences of life and death were referred, except in the case of offences committed within the jurisdiction of the larger States which had vitality enough to preserve peace within their limits. The minor Chiefs, other than those in whose favour an exception has been made by the Government of India, refer all serious cases, more especially those involving capital punishment, whether inter-jurisdictional or not, to the political agents concerned, or the Suzerain Darbar.

A list of the various payments, made under treaty or otherwise by or to the British Government, is appended to this Introduction.

Rules for the amicable settlement of boundary disputes between the States of Central India by mutual agreement and, failing that, for their judicial settlement by a boundary commission; for the demarcation of the boundary; for the erection of pillars and for their preservation; for the exaction of penalties from States whose subjects infringe the settlement; and for appeals from the decisions given, were laid down by Government in 1862. These rules formed the basis of those prepared in 1877 and at present followed in settling disputed boundary cases in Central India and Rajputana. They were slightly modified in 1891 and again in 1904, chiefly with a view to the better protection of boundary marks.

In 1889 Rules were framed, with the approval of the Government of India, for facilitating the pursuit, apprehension and extradition of criminals between some of the States of Central India. These rules are now observed by them all. There are also reciprocal arrangements on certain matters, such as extradition, surrender of police and military deserters, waiver of charges, service of summons, etc., between certain States in and outside Central India and the adjoining British districts.

The area of Central India is about 77,914* square miles; and the population, according to the Census of 1921, 9,192,499.*

The case of what are commonly called the Mediatised Chiefs is somewhat complicated, and the following remarks will serve to elucidate the subject:—

At the close of the Pindari war the districts in Malwa and Central India were in so disorganized a state as to be unsafe even for troops to pass through. It had been the policy of the chief Mahratta powers, during the preceding years of anarchy, to reduce to subjection the petty Rajput Chiefs within their influence. The Mahratta leaders parcelled out the districts among themselves either by mutual agreement or caprice, or according to their power to enforce obedience to their will and authority. Thus it came to pass that, at the time of the introduction of the British power, the smaller States were found to be under tributary obligations to Scindia, Holkar, or the Puars of Dhar and Dewas, and sometimes to all these Chiefs. The tributary claims of the Mahratta States were occasionally fixed and well defined, but generally varied, both in amount and in the regularity of their enforcement, with the power to exact them. Many of the smaller Chiefs, who had been driven from their possessions, found refuge in the hill fastnesses and jungles and avenged themselves by levying contributions from, or altogether destroying, the detached villages which had been usurped by the stronger powers. Their example was imitated by men who, without any claims to territorial inheritance, had influence enough to gather round them a sufficient number of robbers to make themselves feared. Unable to suppress such outrages, the larger States found themselves compelled to purchase the good-will of the plundering leaders by allowing them a share of the revenues of their districts as black-mail, or tanka, on condition of their abstaining from aggressions.

Such a system could only exist in the absence of a power strong enough to enforce peace and good order. For the pacification of the country all parties eagerly solicited the interference of the British Government, who the more readily undertook the task because of the opportunity which it afforded them of breaking the continuity of the influence of the Mahratta powers, with whom they had recently been engaged in a contest for empire, by establishing throughout Malwa a succession of Rajput Chiefs and others owing the security of their estates and the comparative independence of their position to the intervention of the British Government. The policy pursued by the British Government was to declare the permanency of the rights existing at the time of the British occupancy, on condition of the maintenance of order; to adjust and guarantee the relations of such Chiefs as owed mere subordination or tribute, so as to deprive the stronger powers of all pretext for interference in their affairs; and to induce the plundering leaders to betake themselves to peaceful pursuits either by requiring their superiors to grant them lands under the British guarantee, or by guaranteeing to them payments equivalent to the tankas which they levied.

The results of these measures, as described by Sir John Malcolm, were a virtual surrender of the supremacy over the petty States* and Chiefs to the British Government; the reduction of the military classes

* The three schedules appended to Malcolm's Report on Malwa (History of Central India) contain lists of most of the Chiefs who had received guarantees. The engagements with nearly all of these will be found in their proper place in this publication. But of some, whose names are entered in Malcolm's lists, no trace can now be found. It will be convenient for purposes of reference to note these here:—

Extract from the schedules appended to Malcolm's History of Central India, showing those petty Chiefs, Garasias, etc., who received guarantees at that time, but who cannot now be traced.

No.	Names of Chiefs and those on whom they have claims.	Amount, and conditions under which it is paid.
SCHEDULE II.	17 Rawal Nawal Singh on the Nawab (Bhopal).	5,001 Rupees annually to be paid from the kachahri.
	45 Nawal Singh on Holkar	40 Rupees annually. (Note. — This Nawal Singh is supposed to be the same as No. 17.)
	49 Rao Zalim Singh on Kotah.	400 Ditto.
SCHEDULE III.	13 Bishan Singh, Mandloi, with Bhikaji Kamasdar of Dargaon.	Bishan Singh claimed certain dues from the pargana which the Kamasdar refused as being unjust. On reference, Sir J. Malcolm decided that the former should have 5 per cent. dami land, agreeably to the existing sanad; Rupees 4 bhet from each village; Rupee 1 bhet for each renewed patta; two villages in inam; and quarter of the collections on sayar, etc., 29th November 1819.
	20 Sudhan Singh of Bhilwara with Bhawani Das.	This was a dispute between Sudhan Singh and Bhawani Das, because the latter appropriated to himself the donations to the god Devi; settled that Sudhan Singh pay Bhawani Das a certain sum, and the latter not to interfere with the collections made from devotees, 4th December 1819.
	23 Mohan Singh with the Holkar State.	Mohan Singh's father held 300 bighas of land for village service from the Government, but on his death the land was resumed; settled that Mohan Singh receive a grant of 100 bighas in inam, June 1820.
	25 Unkar Lal, Zamindar, with Manik Ramjani.	Unkar Lal to pay Rupees 500 annually to Manik Ramjani, whose nose had been cut off at the instigation of Unkar's mother, and who also was plundered of all her property, September 1820.
	35 Rao Devi Singh Gond.	A jagir of Dhairi, and a bhet of Rupees 5, and Rupees 2 per cent. on the revenue from each village in Nimanpur Makrai. (Note. — A settlement of this kind was made DIRECT between the Dhar Darbar and Devi Singh, but NOT under the guarantee or through the mediation of the British Government. No trace of such guarantee is to be found among the Darbar records.)
	36 Golab Rao Gond.	Ramgarh in jagirs; a bhet of Rupees 5 from each village; a dami of 1 per cent. on the revenue. (Note. — This man was charged with cattle-lifting in 1834. Probably his rights were confiscated.) to the control of the British power; and the cessation of ruinous interference in the affairs of the smaller States on the part of their more powerful neighbours.

From the guarantee thus given no deviation was permitted. "Where any circumstances", says Sir John Malcolm in his report on Malwa, "call for the interference of the British Government and an engagement or guarantee is given, no departure from that is permitted. It is indeed by the maintenance of the impression that the signature and seal of a British officer is, to whomsoever granted, the completest of all securities for his rights, privileges, or possessions, that our power over the multiplicity of States and Chiefships depends; and it is, above all others, a point upon which we can never with safety admit the slightest evasion, much less deviation". In later times, however, when long years of peace have obliterated the memory of the embarrassments which the Girasia leaders were able to create, their guaranteed rights have occasionally been lost sight of. The larger States have forgotten that their claims over the less powerful Chiefs were only established by a power stronger than their own; and it has been their policy to encroach on the guaranteed rights of their subordinates, which they justly consider to be marks of dependence, and gradually to reduce the subordinates to entire obedience to themselves.

On the other hand, the guaranteed Chiefs, relying on the protection of the British Government and the limitation imposed on the power of their superiors, have not infrequently attempted to assume a degree of independence to which they are not entitled. It has proved a matter of much difficulty for the officers of the British Government to hold both parties fast to their engagements; but the necessity for a strict adherence to the engagements concluded in 1818 is as strong now as it was then. The degree of interference exercised by the British Government in the affairs of the guaranteed Chiefs varies with the nature of the engagements concluded, which were very numerous and diverse in character: some being in the form of engagements between the superior State and the subordinates guaranteed by the British Government; others being sanads or deeds issued by the representative of the British Government either alone or conjointly with the ruler of the superior State; and others being mere orders or parwanas issued by the superior Chief to which the representative of the British Government attached his signature as guarantee. But although there is very great diversity in their tenures, the guaranteed Chiefs may all be divided roughly into three main classes: first, those Chiefs in the administration of whose affairs the interference of the superior is excluded by the express terms of the guarantee; secondly, those Chiefs whose sanads contain no such stipulation; and thirdly, those Chiefs who possess no sanads at all. The second class may be further subdivided into those in the administration of whose affairs interference is (a) now excluded by practice, (b) still exercised.

Until 1921 none of the Mediatised States had power of life and death. They referred all cases of heinous crimes involving sentences of death, or transportation, or imprisonment for life, to the local officer of the British Government. But in 1921 most of them were empowered to dispose of all criminal cases, except those against Europeans, Americans and Government servants, subject to the condition that persons sentenced to death, transportation, or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General.

In cases where guaranteed land or tanka holders also hold unguaranteed land or tankas, it has been decided to omit all reference to such unguaranteed holdings in this publication; but, in the case of guaranteed landholders, it has not been found practicable to separate the statistics of area, population and revenue; which, as given, are those of the entire holding whether guaranteed or not. In the case of guaranteed tanka holders, holding no guaranteed land, statistics of area, population and revenue have been omitted altogether. It has also been decided that, when the same individual has a guaranteed holding from two or more Darbars, the account of the Estate will appear under the Agency concerned with the most important holding, with a cross-reference under the Agency concerned with that, or those, of less importance.

With regard to the dates given in the Documents held by the Mediatised Chiefs, it is to be noted that there are two (Vikrama) Samvat eras (the Northern and Southern) differing from each other by six months: two Fasli eras (the Northern and Deccan) differing from each other by two years: and two Arabic eras—Hijri (A. H.), the lunar year, and Arabi (A. A.), the solar year that begins and ends on the same dates as the Fasli year, which runs from June to June. The Arabi year is seven years behind the Northern, and nine years behind the Deccan Fasli; thus 1219 A. A. (June 6th, 1818—June 5th, 1819 A.D.)=1226 Northern Fasli and 1228 Deccan Fasli; while the approximately corresponding lunar year was 1234 A. H.

This Volume deals with the States and Estates in political relations with the Government of India through the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India, and with the subordinate Agencies of Bhopal and Southern States of Central India and Malwa. The States in the Bundelkhand and Baghelkhand Agencies, which are treated separately as differing in many respects from other parts of Central India, and the Gwalior Residency are dealt with in Volume V.

I.—CENTRAL INDIA AGENCY.

The affairs of the Indore State were under the immediate political supervision and control of the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India until September 1899, when a separate Resident was appointed to conduct political relations with the Maharaja Holkar. The appointment of Resident was abolished in November 1916 and the relations of the Indore State were again placed under the direct political control of the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.

The outlying portions of the State, for the purpose of routine matters such as extradition, are in the political charge of the Political Agent in the Southern States of Central India and Malwa; while the Pargana of Alampur is within the political charge of the Political Agent in Bundelkhand and the Pargana of Nandwai in that of the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.

The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India also deals directly with eight mediatised land and tanka holders.

On the abolition of the post of Resident at Indore in 1916, the guaranteed holdings of Bai, Bilauda*, Dhaora Ganjara, Kayatha, Men, Naulana* and Sheogarh* came under this Agency: also Hirapur, which had been transferred from the Bhopal Agency to the Indore Residency in 1909.

The Estate of Lalgarrh, which is included in the Gwalior Residency, is described under this Agency, since the Thakur's most important holding is from Holkar.

In 1909 the Estate of Bhatkheri, which was then in the Malwa Agency, lapsed to the Indore Darbar: and Ajraoda* in 1915, and Dhulatia* in 1919, both of which were then in the Gwalior Residency, lapsed to the Gwalior and Indore Darbars.

In 1921, on the separation of the Gwalior Residency from the Central India Agency, it was decided that the Estates named below who, besides their holdings from Gwalior, either hold land or receive tankas from the States shown against their names, should in respect of their Gwalior holdings deal with the Gwalior Residency, and for the others with the Agency entered against their names:

Name.	Land or tanka held from	Agency.

The Bhumia of Rajgarh, besides his grant from the British Government, has guaranteed holdings from Indore and Dhar. In respect of all these he deals with the Political Agent, Southern States of Central India and Malwa.

In 1921 the Estates of Bilauda, Hirapur, Lalgarh, Naulana and Sheogarh came under the settlement, made with Gwalior in that year, in regard to their guaranteed holdings from the Gwalior Darbar. In respect of those holdings they deal with the Resident, Gwalior.

(1) INDORE.

The Holkar family who rule at Indore are Hindus of the Dhangar or shepherd caste. The first of the Holkar family who rose to eminence was Malhar Rao, who was one of the most distinguished leaders in the first Mahratta invasion of Northern India. His only son, Khande Rao, married the famous Ahalya Bai and was killed in battle in 1754, leaving a son, Mali Rao. Malhar Rao died in 1766 and was succeeded by his grandson Mali Rao, who died insane nine months after his accession. His mother Ahalya Bai then assumed personal charge of the administration, and appointed Tukoji Rao Holkar, who belonged to the same caste, but was in no way related to Malhar Rao, to bear titular honours, command her army in the field, and discharge such duties as from her sex, she was unable to perform. Ahalya Bai died in 1795 and the rule of the State devolved on Tukoji Rao. He died in 1797, leaving two legitimate sons, Kashi Rao and Malhar Rao, and two illegitimate sons, Yeshwant Rao and Vithoji. Malhar Rao was killed in battle in 1798; and Yeshwant Rao then became the real chief of the house of Holkar, though professedly acting in the name of Khande Rao, infant son of Malhar Rao. Vithoji was captured and put to death by the Peshwa Baji Rao in 1801.

In 1802 Yeshwant Rao defeated the united forces of Scindia and the Peshwa near Poona. The conclusion of the Treaty of Bassein (see

† In respect of their Indore holdings: with Southern States of Central India, Malwa, in respect of their Dewas holdings.

Vol. VII, The Peshwa, No. XIII), by which the subordination of the Peshwa to the British Government was firmly established, defeated Yeshwant Rao's hopes of possessing himself of the person of the Peshwa. In 1803, when Scindia and the Raja of Berar combined against the British, Holkar promised to join the confederacy; but on the actual outbreak of hostilities he kept aloof, and apparently intended to take advantage of the war to aggrandise himself at Scindia's expense. His schemes were, however, rendered hopeless by the peace with Scindia, which ensued upon the conclusion of the Treaty of Sarji Anjangaon (see Vol. V, Gwalior, No. IV); and Holkar, after making a series of unacceptable proposals for an alliance, drifted into war with the British. In the military operations which followed he was pursued by Lord Lake across the Sutlej, whither he had retired in the hopes of forming a combination with the Sikhs against the British Government: and in December 1805 he signed a Treaty (No. I) on the banks of the Beas, by which he surrendered a large portion of his territories. (See also Appendix No. I.)

Lord Cornwallis' second appointment as Governor-General marked a change in the policy of the British Government, and it was considered expedient to withdraw from the connection formed with some of the minor Rajas in the conquered provinces to the west of the Jumna. His successor Sir George Barlow was guided by the same policy notwithstanding the remonstrances of Lord Lake, who not only considered that the British Government were pledged to respect their engagements with these Chiefs, but also that the alliances with them interposed a strong barrier against the future encroachments of the Mahrattas. In pursuance of his policy, however, Sir George Barlow caused a declaratory article to be added in February 1806 to the Treaty of December 1805, relinquishing to Holkar the districts of Tonk, Rampura, and other districts forming the ancient possessions of the Holkar family, which at one time it had been the intention of Government to cede to Scindia in lieu of the actual grant of four lakhs of rupees assigned to him under the Treaty of 1805 (see Vol. V, Gwalior, No. VI). By article 4 of the Treaty with Holkar the district of Kunch in Bundelkhand was assigned as a life-grant to Bhima Bai Sahiba, daughter of Yeshwant Rao Holkar. This lady died in November 1858, and the district of Kunch then reverted to the British Government. A pension of Rs. 20,000 a year was assigned for life to her grandson Govind Rao Bolia, for the support of the old retainers of the family; but, as Govind Rao did not devote this money to the purpose for which it was intended, the grant was resumed and the retainers pensioned for life by the British Government.

Soon after the conclusion of the Treaty of 1805 Yeshwant Rao Holkar poisoned his nephew Khande Rao and Kashi Rao was put to death by his favourite, Chimna Bhau. Yeshwant Rao thus became in name, as well as in fact, the head of the house, but soon after became insane. He died in 1811, leaving a son, Malhar Rao, during whose minority the State was torn by the most violent dissensions. Tulsi Bai, Yeshwant Rao's favourite concubine, secured herself in the regency.

In entering on the Pindari war it was the policy of the Marquess of Hastings to put a stop to the predatory system by a revival of the political alliances which had been abandoned in 1805. The weakness of Holkar, which formed an excuse for connivance at Pindari depredations, necessitated the intervention of the British to restore his government and to subdue his mutinous army. Proposals for an alliance were on the point of being offered when Tulsi Bai secretly expressed a desire to place the young Holkar and his government under the protection of the British.

While negotiations were pending, however, information was received of the probable outbreak of hostilities with the Peshwa, and a hostile bearing was immediately assumed by Holkar's Darbar. It is probable that Tulsi Bai would have concluded the alliance with the British; but a sudden revolution was effected by the mutinous army, she was seized and barbarously murdered, and the Pathan Chiefs who headed the military faction, having pledged themselves to adopt the cause of Baji Rao, broke off the negotiations. Holkar's army sustained a complete defeat at Mahidpur on the 21st December 1817, and on the 6th January 1818 the Treaty of Mandasor (Mandsaur) was concluded (No. II), by which the engagement between the British Government and Amir Khan was confirmed; four districts rented by Zalim Singh of Kotah were ceded to him; Holkar lost all his possessions within, and to the south of, the Satpura hills; and his remaining territories came under the protection of the British Government. By article 4 of the Treaty, Holkar ceded to the British Government all his claims to tribute and revenue over the Rajput princes, some of whom were specified: the list did not include Partabgarh, but an arrangement was come to later, whereby the British Government undertook to pay to Holkar the Partabgarh tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 72,700. The equivalent (Rs. 57,874-3-2) in British currency, at the rate of exchange then obtaining, is still paid by the Government of India to the Indore State, in spite of the subsequent depreciation in the value of the Salim Shahi coin in which payment is recovered from Partabgarh. By article 5, Holkar ceded all his territories within or north of the Bundi hills: and this cession was erroneously supposed to include Holkar's one-third share of the pargana of Keshoraipatan, which was accordingly conferred on Bundi by a Treaty concluded in 1818 (see Vol. III, Haraoti and Tonk Agency, No. I). When the correct facts were afterwards ascertained, the transfer to Bundi was allowed to stand, and the British Government agreed to pay Holkar Rs. 30,000 (Bundi currency) annually, as compensation for the territory of which he had been erroneously deprived. It appears, from contemporary documents, that the original intention was to make this payment until a suitable grant of territory could be assigned; but this intention, if it ever really existed, was not pursued. By article 6 of the Treaty, Holkar transferred the fort of Sendhwa to the British Government. But it was restored in 1856 in consideration of a payment of Rs. 16,000 for the construction of a bridge over the Gohi Nadi, and on the conditions that no alteration would be made in the existing customs duties on the Agra-Bombay road, and that the residents of Sendhwa were not allowed to suffer by the transfer of the fort to Holkar.

The anarchy and confusion which prevailed in Holkar's territories previous to the conclusion of the Treaty of Mandasor had completely ruined the finances of the country. Tantia Jogh, Holkar's Minister, set himself zealously to effect their recovery. Occasional loans were made to him by the British Government on the security of the Kunch jagir and the Partabgarh tribute, by which means the Minister was enabled to discharge the arrears of the disbanded troops and other pressing demands. Of the troops retained a portion was set apart for the formation of the Mahidpur Contingent, others were sent into the districts, and only a select body of about 500 cavalry was retained at the capital, together with a sufficient force of infantry.

Two insurrections broke out in 1819, one occasioned by an impostor personating Malhar Rao Holkar, and the other by the pretensions of Hari Rao Holkar, son of Vithoji and cousin of the Maharaja. The impostor, whose real name was Krishna Kunwar, assembled a considerable force to the west of the Chambal, and kept the field for some months, supported by a body of Arab and Makrani mercenaries from the Gujarat border; but he was at length encountered by the Mahidpur Contingent, and his party broken and dispersed. He then fled to Kotah; but being there recognised by an agent of Holkar's government, he was seized and brought to Indore, where he was kept in confinement for some time, but was ultimately pardoned and set at liberty. The insurrection of Hari Rao Holkar was less formidable; for soon becoming sensible of the folly of his enterprise he relinquished it, and threw himself on the generosity of his young cousin who, it is said, was disposed to pardon him, but was dissuaded from his purpose by Tantia Jogh, who thought it imprudent that he should be left at liberty to disturb the peace of the country. He was accordingly kept under confinement.

Serious disturbances broke out on the Rampura frontier in 1821, fomented by the Thakur of Bhatkheri and others, which were not finally quelled until the beginning of the following year and after the employment of the Contingent under a British officer. The results of the operations were that the Bhatkheri Chief's misconduct was punished by the sequestration of that portion of his Jagir which he held under Holkar's government; that Bhairur Singh, another of the leading insurgents, delivered himself up under the promise of subsistence; and that Ajit Singh, the Chief of the band of Sondhia plunderers, was sent with some of his companions to Sondhwara for a year's close confinement. Again towards the end of 1822 it became necessary to employ a detachment of British troops for the reduction of the fort of Barkhera, in which a body of insurgents had assembled and were committing various excesses in the neighbouring districts.

In 1826 an Agreement (No. III) was made with Holkar, Dhar, Dewas and other States in Malwa, securing to the British Government the exclusive right to purchase opium grown in Malwa; but, as the result of this arrangement was unsatisfactory, the monopoly was abandoned in 1829, and a transit duty was levied instead upon the opium in its passage through the British territories to the sea coast.

In 1829 the Begu Thakur, a feudatory of Mewar, took possession of Holkar's district of Nandwas. The invader was expelled by a body of Holkar's troops; but the Thakur, about a year after the first aggression, again seized the same district, and was again driven off by Holkar's troops and the Contingent. The Mewar State was held responsible for the Thakur's aggression, and a demand of Rs. 24,000 in payment of the expenses incurred by Holkar in repelling the first attack was made upon the Maharana. This compensation was not paid until eight years had elapsed after the occurrences for which it was claimed: and the Indore Darbar never obtained compensation for the loss and expense incurred by the second aggression of the Thakur.

Malhar Rao Holkar died in October 1833. He left no issue, but his widow and his mother adopted a child, who was said to be of the same caste and lineage as Malhar Rao. The British Government made no objection to this adoption, but at the same time did not bind themselves to support the arrangement if it should appear to be illegal or subversive of the rights of any other party, or contrary to the wishes of the majority of the Chiefs and followers of the Holkar State. It was acknowledged simply as the spontaneous and unopposed act of the government of Indore, in which the people seemingly acquiesced. The child was publicly installed in January 1834 under the title of Martand Rao Holkar. The adoption of Martand Rao, however, proved to be a device of the mother of Malhar Rao Holkar for the purpose of keeping the power in her own hands during a long minority. It was not indeed acceptable to the people, who were in favour of the succession of Hari Rao Holkar, who had been imprisoned in 1819 for rebellion, and had ever since been kept in rigorous confinement. He was released in February 1834 by a powerful body of his partisans, and received a ready welcome from the troops and people. The policy of non-interference prevented the Resident from giving active support to Martand Rao, although the installation had been acknowledged by the British Government. Serious disturbances followed. The wealthy merchants fled from Indore; trade was suspended; and the marauding Bhil tribes infested the roads and plundered many villages. As Hari Rao evidently had the popular voice on his side, and it was necessary to put a stop to the anarchy which prevailed, it was decided to support him: and he was eventually escorted into Indore by a detachment of the Contingent under command of a British officer, and was formally installed in April 1834. Martand Rao was banished, and granted an allowance of Rs. 500 a month on condition of his resigning all claims to the succession.

The long imprisonment of Hari Rao had unfitted him for government: and the management of affairs was left in the hands of his Minister Raja Bhao Phansia, whose oppressive and unpopular measures revived the hopes of Martand Rao's party. In September 1835 an attack was made on the palace for the purpose of assassinating the Maharaja and his Minister. The attempt was unsuccessful, and resulted in the slaughter of the whole of the assailants.

At this juncture Hari Rao applied to the British Government for aid; but it was refused, on the ground that the engagement to maintain the internal tranquillity of the country depended on the condition that the measures of its government were not directly or indirectly the cause of disturbance, and because the grant of assistance would require a continual interference in the internal affairs of the State, inconsistent alike with the position of Holkar and the policy of the British Government.

In 1841 the Maharaja adopted as his heir and successor Khande Rao, a boy of thirteen years of age, distantly related to the ruling family. Hari Rao died in October 1843. Warned by the evils which resulted from the policy pursued on the accession of Martand Rao, the British Government took immediate measures to proclaim Khande Rao as the acknowledged successor to the gaddi, and to make it known that no other claims would be recognised. Khande Rao died in February 1844. He was never married, and there was no lineal heir to the State, and no person who had a legitimate right to adopt.

The nomination of a successor was therefore declared to rest exclusively with the British Government: and the Resident, Sir R. Hamilton, was instructed to make the selection in such a way as to show that it was manifestly the sole act of the British Government. The mother of Hari Rao Holkar, who was greatly respected by the people, and who had been associated with the Resident in the administration before Khande Rao's death, pleaded the claims of Martand Rao; but Government refused to select him, and intimated their intention of nominating the second son of Martand Rao's paternal uncle Bhau Holkar, if he should be found on enquiry to be the most eligible. The Resident thereupon declared in full Darbar the desire of the British Government to perpetuate the State of Holkar by the selection of a successor from amongst those eligible to such distinction; that the Mah Sahiba had pointed out the second son of Bhau Holkar as a fit successor; and that the Governor-General, having a great respect for the Mah Sahiba, had determined to place him on the gaddi. Three days later, the Resident installed the boy as Tukoji Rao II. In a letter, dated 9th November 1844, to the young Chief the Governor-General explained the conditions on which the State was conferred on him. This Letter (No. IV) was declared to have the force of a Sanad, and the Maharaja was required to present a nazar of 101 gold mohurs on its delivery.

Martand Rao Holkar died without issue in 1849, and with his death ended the intrigues which from time to time endangered the peace of the State during the rule of Hari Rao Holkar and his successor.

During the mutiny of 1857 a portion of the Indore troops made an attack on the Residency, which obliged the officiating Agent to the Governor-General, Colonel Durand, to retire to Bhopal. The mutineers were also joined by the Malwa Contingent, a local corps, stationed at Mahidpur, towards the maintenance of which Holkar paid an annual subvention of Rs. 1,11,214 in lieu of his obligation under article 11 of the Treaty of Mandasor. In recognition of his services during the mutiny Tukoji Rao II received the thanks of the Government of India, and the expenditure of Rs. 3,06,992-8-3, incurred by him on the troops which had done duty for the rebel contingent, was refunded.

In 1862 the Ruler of Indore was granted a Sanad of Adoption (No. V).

In 1864 Holkar agreed (No. VI) to cede, free of charge, all land required specially for railway purposes; to compensate owners for land and buildings taken up by the line; to give full civil and criminal jurisdiction over this land to the British Government; and to remit all transit duties on through traffic. Certain conditions regarding the surrender of Indore subjects within railway limits were at the same time agreed to by the British Government and embodied in the same memorandum.

In 1865 Holkar was permitted (No. VII) to capitalise his contributions towards the Mahidpur Contingent and the Malwa Bhil Corps. Accordingly, the State deposited Rs. 23,81,520 with the Government of India, the interest thereon at 5 per cent. being assigned as the payment for the future, "thereby relieving His Highness from all demands on account of the said contingent and Bhil corps, as well as from all pecuniary demands, present or future, and from service with troops". The place of the disbanded Contingent was taken by the Central India Horse, which was raised by the Government of India in 1858, one regiment being stationed at Agar with a detachment at Mahidpur. In 1894 the cantonment of Mahidpur was restored to the Darbar.

In 1867 the Ruler of Indore was granted a permanent salute of 19 guns, and a permanent local salute of 21 guns within his own territory.

In 1869 Holkar offered a loan of a crore of rupees to the British Government for the construction of a railway from Khandwa to Indore. The offer was accepted, and the terms of the loan were finally settled in 1870 by a formal Agreement (No. VIII). The extension of the line northward to Ratlam, with a branch from Fatehabad to Ujjain, was undertaken in 1873, and its further continuation to Neemuch in 1877, the necessary land in Indore territory being made over in each case in accordance with the Agreement of 1864. The working of the line on behalf of the British Government was made over to the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway Company in 1885, and this contract was renewed in 1901 and again in 1905.

In 1872 the Maharaja was required to relinquish the manufacture of arms in his own territory and their importation from abroad, on the ground that the accumulation of arms of precision and cannon in the Indore arsenals could not be justified for the purpose of internal safety or by the necessity of external defence.

By article 6 of the Treaty of Mandasor, Holkar had ceded to the British Government all his territories and claims of every description whatever within, and south of, the Satpura range of hills. But no exact demarcation was attempted till 1864, and its final settlement was only concluded in April 1873. In 1877, as an act of grace and to commemorate the assumption by Her Majesty Queen Victoria of the title of Empress of India, it was determined to make over to the Maharaja Holkar a portion of this territory, comprising an area of 360 square miles on the Satpura frontier of the district of Khandesh.

In 1878 a Postal Convention (No. IX) was made with Holkar to facilitate the interchange of correspondence between the Imperial post and the Indore State post.

In 1861 the Government of India had authorised the Agent to the Governor-General to institute negotiations for an exchange of territories. Holkar agreed to cede a number of scattered villages in the Deccan, and five in the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh (known at that time as the North-Western Provinces), for lands of equal value in the districts of Satwas-Nimawar and Nimar. The actual transfer of the lands was finally concluded in 1868; but the adjustment of the accounts in connection with the exchanges was not finally settled till 1881, when a Kharita (No. X) was sent to the Maharaja, intimating the conclusion of the negotiations and approval of the arrangements that had been made. The pargana of Barwaha in Nimar was included in the lands transferred to the Maharaja, on the condition that he abolished all transit duties on the trunk road between Indore and Khandwa. For certain iron works which had been established at Barwaha the Maharaja paid Rs. 50,000 in 1868.

In 1880 the British Government, having acquired a virtual salt monopoly by the purchase of the salt sources of Rajputana, addressed the several States of Central India in which salt was not produced, proposing to them the abolition of the duties which they levied on salt passing through their territories and offering at the same time to compensate them for any loss which their revenues might suffer in consequence. The Maharaja Holkar consented (No. XI) to these proposals in 1881, on condition of receiving as compensation for his concession 45,000 maunds of salt annually from the British Government, to be delivered by them at Indore on payment of Rs. 2-12-0 per maund, the selling price of salt at Indore being then over Rs. 5 per maund. This compensation represented four times the amount of revenue which the Maharaja Holkar had derived from the abolished duties. Similar agreements were concluded with other States, and it soon became clear that, in consequence of an increased consumption, the British Government were in a position to reduce their own tax on salt. The price of salt consequently fell, and Holkar complained that the value of the compensation made to him in kind had been seriously affected, and asked that it might be paid in cash. Both the justice and the propriety of the claim were questionable; but the Government of India conceded his request, and a Supplementary Agreement (No. XII) was concluded in 1883, under which the State receives Rs. 61,875 a year in lieu of the original payment in kind.

Tukoji Rao II died in 1886, and was succeeded by his eldest son Shivaji Rao. His first administrative act was the abolition of all transit duties throughout the State.

In 1870-71 an exchange of territory had been negotiated between the States of Indore and Jhabua, whereby Indore acquired the town and pargana of Petlawad, and Jhabua acquired the town and pargana of Thandla. Indore's right to three-fourths of the sayar revenue at Petlawad, Thandla, and other places in Jhabua territory was adjusted at the same time, by assigning to Indore the sole sayar rights in the town and pargana of Petlawad, and to Jhabua the sole sayar rights in Jhabua territory, Jhabua paying to Indore a compensation of Salim Shahi Rs. 7,172 a year, based on the average receipts of the preceding ten years. The calculation included receipts from transit duties; and, when that form of taxation was abolished in Jhabua territory in 1887, the yearly payment was reduced to Rs. 1,278-11-10, at which it now stands.

In 1892 Holkar formed an Imperial Service regiment of cavalry, which was subsequently converted, at the desire of the Government of India, into a transport train with a cavalry escort.

Between 1891 and 1895 railway communications in the State were extended by the construction of the Godhra-Ratlam and the Bhopal-Ujjain Railways, the Darbar providing land free of charge, and ceding full jurisdiction in respect of the sections of those lines in Indore territory, on the same terms as those agreed upon in 1864 (see No. VI).

In 1899 Shivaji Rao's maladministration had become so serious that a Resident was appointed to the direct political charge of the State in subordination to the Agent to the Governor-General, and the Maharaja was required to consult him in all important matters.

In 1901 an Agreement (No. XIII) was entered into with the Maharaja for the effective control and discipline of his Imperial Service Troops when serving beyond the frontier of the State.

In 1902 the British rupee was adopted as the standard coin of the State.

In January 1903 Shivaji Rao resigned the gaddi in favour of his son, Tukoji Rao Holkar. Shivaji Rao was permitted to retain the personal title of Maharaja and to reside in the State, receiving an allowance of Rs. 4,00,000 a year. He died in 1908.

During the minority of Tukoji Rao III the State was administered by a Council of Regency under the supervision of the Resident.

In 1905 land was made over on the usual terms, including cession (No. XIV) of full jurisdiction, for the construction of the portion of the Nagda-Muttra Railway running through the State.

In 1907 the Indore Darbar's half share of the village of Talen and the village of Latakheri were, with the approval of the Government of India, exchanged for the villages of Lasuria and Kundeli of Rajgarh.

In 1908 the Indore State, with the sanction of the Government of India, sold all rights and powers exercised by them in the Jagir village of Datwara to the Barwani State for Rs. 50,000.

In the same year the unification of the Holkar State Post Office with the Imperial Post Office was approved and introduced. By this arrangement the State was granted a free supply of British service stamps to the value of Rs. 25,000, provisionally raised to Rs. 35,000 in 1923.

In 1911 Tukoji Rao III was invested with full powers.

After the abandonment of the opium monopoly in 1829, the extent of poppy cultivation greatly increased in Malwa, much opium being sent to Bombay for export to China. The restriction on the China trade, introduced in 1907, resulted in a continuous decrease in the acreage under poppy in the Holkar State: and in 1916-17 the Government of India entered into an Agreement with the State for the annual supply of a fixed quantity of crude opium, to be sent to the Government factory at Ghazipur and manufactured there into excise opium for consumption in British India. The Agreement was renewed in 1922 and again, for a smaller quantity, in 1926 (No. XV).

Tukoji Rao III was suspected of some sort of complicity in the murder of one Bawla, a prominent Memon merchant of Bombay, which was committed at Bombay in 1925. He was therefore invited by the Government of India in 1925 to submit to a Commission of Enquiry; but in preference to doing so he expressed a desire to abdicate. This was permitted, and he abdicated on the 26th February 1926 in favour of his minor son, the present Maharaja Yeshwant Rao II, born in September 1908. The Maharaja resided in England for education from 1920 to 1923 and 1926 to 1929 when he was at Christchurch, Oxford. He was invested with full ruling powers on the 9th May 1930. During his minority the administration of the State was carried on by the State Cabinet with the Prime Minister as its President, under the supervision and with the advice of the Agent to the Governor-General.

In 1928 the Government of India sanctioned the payment to the Indore Darbar, with effect from the 22nd August 1872, of arrears, at the rate of Rs. 61-10-0 per annum, on account of the jama of village Laundi in the Burwai pargana: which, though included amongst the lands transferred to Holkar in 1868 (see No. X, Annexure to Schedule A) was in 1872 granted on quit-rent tenure to one Rana Kirat Singh who, it was found, had held it on quit-rent tenure previous to its transfer to Holkar. The annual sum payable to Government by the Darbar (see Memorandum annexed to No. X) has therefore now been reduced by Rs. 61-10-0.

The State's treaty payments with the British Government are tabulated in the Introduction. The State also receives from other States the following sums annually:—

- (i) From the Narsinghgarh State a tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 85,000, which has been converted into Rs. 58,577-1-0 British. Payment is made through the Bhopal Agency, and the tribute carries with it no rights of supremacy.
- (ii) From the Jhabua State, as the result of the Thandla-P'etlawad settlement, Rs. 1,400 on account of difference of revenue on land exchanged, and Rs. 1,278-11-10 in lieu of sayar rights. Also Rs. 2,014-12-0 on account of tribute on three Umraos' estates in Jhabua territory which have escheated to that Darbar; and Rs. 1,500 on account of the Khawasa Estate. These sums are all in Salim Shahi rupees, but are paid in British currency at the conversion rate of exchange, 100

British currency equal to 200 Salim Shahi. The customs and 'Khawasa payments are made through the Southern States of Central India and Malwa Agency, the others direct.

- (iii) From fifteen Umraos* in Jhabua territory separate tributes, totalling Salim Shahi Rs. 11,884-1-0. These sums were originally assigned to Indore by Jhabua in part satisfaction of its own obligations to the Maharaja Holkar, and are paid direct. The Maharaja Holkar possesses no suzerainty over these Umraos.

The Kasba of Sundersi which was under the triple jurisdiction of Gwalior, Indore and Dhar was exchanged for five villages of Gwalior in 1929.

In accordance with the provisions of article XIV of the Treaty of Mandisor (1818) the Maharaja appointed his Vakil with the Viceroy in 1930.

On the death of the late Rawat Sajjan Singh in 1908 without heirs, the guarantee of the Estate of Bhatkheri (No. XXXI) lapsed to the State. The Darbar, however, continued the Estate to the widow of the deceased for her life.

Similarly on the deaths without heirs of the guaranteed Tankadars of Ajraoda and Dhuletia (see Vol. V, Gwalior Residency—Lapsed Estates) in 1915 and 1918 respectively, the tankas lapsed to the State.

The area of the State† is 9,519 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,151,587; and the revenue about Rs. 1,35,36,000.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921 the authorised strength of the Indore State Forces consists (December 1926) of—

Indore Holkar Cavalry Escort	200
Indore Holkar Transport Corps	266

The following other State forces are maintained:—

Cavalry	568
Infantry	1,202
Artillery	303

The State possesses 9 serviceable and 51 unserviceable guns.

With effect from the 1st January 1922 the designation "Imperial Service Troops" was changed to "Indian State Forces".

The liability of the State to the operation of the Nazarana rules had not been decided by 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

* Jaknaoda, Jamli, Barwet, Bureta-Gehendi, Sarangi, Gugri, Karwar, Baori, Raipuria, Umarnkot, Kodli, Hanmantia, Naogaon, Unterbela and Bori.

† The Maharaja also owns some Mirasi lands in the Khandesh district; the village of Sapura on istimrari tenure in the Jaora State; and certain patelki land in the Hyderabad State.

The arrangement is recorded, along with other questions outside the settlement, in a Document (No. XVI) issued to the Zamindars by the Indore Darbar in 1226 A.A. In 1858 the Darbar, without reference to the Central India Agency, commuted the arrangement for a money payment of Hali Rs. 748, representing the average receipts of the previous ten years, from which were deducted Hali Rs. 325, representing the cost of the collection and of maintaining a guard on the pass, and including a subscription of Rs. 61 for religious purposes. No. I.

TREATY of PEACE and AMITY between the BRITISH GOVERNMENT and JESWUNT
RAO HOLKAR.

Whereas disagreement has arisen between the British Government and Jeswunt Rao Holkar, and it is now the desire of both parties to restore mutual harmony and concord, the following Articles of Agreement are therefore concluded between Lieutenant-Colonel John Malcolm on the part of the Honourable Company, and Sheikh Hubeeb Oolla and Balla Ram Seit on the part of Jeswunt Rao Holkar, the said Lieutenant-Colonel John Malcolm having especial authority for that purpose from the Right Honourable Lord Lake, Commander-in-Chief, &c., &c., His Lordship aforesaid being invested with full powers and authority from the Honourable Sir George Hilary Barlow, Governor-General, &c., &c., and the said Sheikh Hubeeb Oolla and Balla Ram Seit also duly invested with full powers on the part of Jeswunt Rao Holkar.

ARTICLE 1.

The British Government engages to abstain from the prosecution of hostilities against Jeswunt Rao Holkar and to consider him henceforward as the friend of the Honourable Company, Jeswunt Rao Holkar agreeing on his part to abstain from all measures and proceedings of a hostile nature against the British Government and its allies, and from all measures and proceedings in any manner directed to the injury of the British Government or its allies.

ARTICLE 2.

ARTICLE 3.

The Honourable Company hereby engages to have no concern with the ancient possessions of the Holkar family in Mewar, Malwa, and Harrowtee, or with any of the Rajahs situated to the south of the Chumbul; and the Honourable Company agrees to deliver over immediately to Jeswunt Rao Holkar such of the ancient possessions of the Holkar family in the Deccan now in the occupation of the Honourable Company, as are situated south of the river Taptie, with the exception of the fort and pergunnah of Chanderee, the pergunnahs of Ambar and Sengham, and the villages and pergunnahs situated to the southward of the river Godavery, which will remain in possession of the Honourable Company. The Honourable Company, however, in consideration of the respectability of the Holkar family, further engages that, in the event of the conduct of Jeswunt Rao Holkar being such as to satisfy the State of his amicable and peaceable intentions towards the British Government and its allies, it will at the expiration of eighteen months from the date of this Treaty restore to the family of Holkar the fort of Chanderee and its districts, the pergunnahs of Ambar and Sengham, and the districts formerly belonging to the Holkar family, situated to the south of the Godavery.

It is, however, stipulated that Jeswunt Rao Holkar shall immediately, upon the Treaty being signed and ratified, proceed towards Hindustan, by a route which leaves the towns of Putteeala, Kythul, Jhind, and the countries of the Honourable Company and the Rajah of Jeypore, on the left; and Jeswunt Rao Holkar engages on his route to make his troops abstain from plunder, and that they shall commit no act of hostility in any of the countries through which they may pass.

ARTICLE 9.

This Treaty, consisting of nine Articles being this day settled by Lieutenant-Colonel John Malcolm on the part of the Honourable Company, and by Sheik Whereas by the second Article of the abovementioned Treaty Maharaja Jeswunt Rao Holkar renounces all right and title to the districts of Tonk, Rampoorra, Boondee, Lekherree, Sameydee, Bhaumungaum, Dase, and other places north of the Boondee hills, and now in the occupation of the British Government; and whereas it has been understood that the Maharaja attaches great value to the district of Tonk, Rampoorra, and other districts in that vicinity, which constituted the ancient possessions of the Holkar family, and the relations of amity and peace being now happily restored between the British Government and Maharaja Jeswunt Rao Holkar, the British Government is desirous of gratifying the wishes of the Maharaja to the utmost practicable extent consistent with considerations of equity, and of manifesting its solicitude to cultivate the friendship and good-will of the Maharaja; therefore the British Government hereby agrees to consider the provisions of the second Article of the Treaty aforesaid to be void and of no effect, and to relinquish all claim to the districts of Tonk, Rampoorra, and such other districts in their vicinity as were formerly in the possession of the Holkar family, and are now in the occupation of the British Government.

No. III.

SUBSTANCE of an ENGAGEMENT in Persian between the BRITISH GOVERNMENT and MAHARAJAH HOLKAR'S GOVERNMENT regarding OPIUM,—dated 18th February 1826.

ARTICLE 1.

The British Government engages to take annually from Maharajah Holkar's Government 5,000 Surat maunds of pure opium in cakes, each maund consisting of four punseerees and each punseeree weighing 401 Oujein Halee Rupees, or 391 new or 407 old Furrackabad Kuldar Rupees; and to pay for the same at the rate of 30 Furrackabad Kuldar or Oujein Halee Rupees. If a higher price than this should be given for purchases from others, the Maharajah's Government shall be entitled to a similar price. The said quantity of opium to be delivered and weighed in all November at the Honourable Company's godowns at Indore or Mahidpore as may be desired by the Company's Opium Agent. Whatever quantities the Opium Agent or his deputies may object to as adulterated, damp, or otherwise faulty, shall not be taken, but pure and prime opium such as the Agent is in the practice of purchasing from the merchants of Malwa shall be taken.

ARTICLE 2.

The British Government will pay the Maharajah's Government for the opium as above stipulated in three equal instalments—the first on the 1st January, the second on the 1st of March, and the third as soon as the opium has been delivered and weighed.

ARTICLE 3.

The Maharajah's Government engages to confine the cultivation of poppy in his territories within an extent calculated to yield a quantity not exceeding in any year 6,000 Surat maunds of dry opium. Of this produce 5,000 maunds are to be delivered to the British Government, and this remainder to be appropriated by the Maharajah's Government for necessary purposes.

ARTICLE 4.

If a diminution should take place in the cultivation of poppy within the Maharajah's territories, or the crops be damaged by inclemency of weather, and the Maharajah's Government finds itself in consequence unable to complete the stipulated quantity of 5,000 maunds from the produce of its own territories, and the same should be made clearly manifest to the Company's Opium Agent, in such case, and provided the Opium Agent should be able to make purchases in the Malwa markets at Rupees 30 per punseeree, the Maharajah's Government will complete the stipulated quantity by purchases in the markets. But if the Opium Agent should be unable to purchase in the markets at that price, then the Maharajah's Government will not be required to make up the deficiency, notwithstanding which the British Government will gratuitously, in consideration of the intimate union subsisting between the two governments, make up to the Maharajah's Government the difference to the full price of 5,000 maunds at Rupees 30 the punseeree as stated in the 1st Article.

ARTICLE 5.

The Maharajah's Government engages to prevent to the best of its power the exportation of opium from his territories not having the sanction of the British authorities, and to confine the sale of opium for internal consumption in his territories to venders under its license. Any quantities passing in or out that may be stopped of their own motion by the officers and agents of the Maharajah's Government shall be delivered over to the Company's Opium Agent, and the Maharajah's Government shall receive two-thirds of the value of the same rated at Rupees 30 per punseeree, or less in property to its quality if of inferior quality. The British authorities moreover shall be at liberty to cause to be stopped and to appropriate any opium herein prohibited which they may discover passing to and fro in the Maharajah's territories, and for all such the Maharajah's Government shall receive one-third of the value rated according to the quality as above stated.

ARTICLE 6.

The British Government being anxious that the Maharajah's Government should sustain no loss from this arrangement whether in transit collections or otherwise, but on the contrary being desirous of obliging and benefitting it, agrees to give it at the end of the year in addition to the price of the opium as settled in the first Article a bonus of Rupees five per punseeree on the quantity therein stated, provided it shall have observed faithfully the conditions of this engagement.

ARTICLE 7.

This engagement shall hold good as long as the British Government may deem it expedient to maintain special arrangements for the control of Malwa opium.

This engagement consisting of seven Articles, is settled at Indore this 18th day of February 1826 A.D., corresponding with the 10th of Rujub 1241 Hegira, and the 11th of Magh Soodee 1882 Sumbat, by Mr. Gerald Wellesley, Resident, &c., on the part of the British Government, and Etul Punt Tantiah Jog, &c., on the part of the Maharajah's Government, and in confirmation thereof counterparts, ratified with the seal and signatures of the Governor-General in Council and the Maharajah, shall be exchanged between the contracting parties.

INDORE STATE,—1844.

TO HIS HIGHNESS MAHARAJAH TUKOJI RAO.

After compliments.—Your Highness' letter, dated 5th July last, has been duly received. In that letter allusion is made to the death of his late Highness Khumdee Rao, which had been reported to me by the Resident at Indore, and it is stated that the ceremonies customary on the occasion had been duly performed. Your Highness further remarks that at the conclusion of the period of mourning you had been, by the great kindness of the British Government, installed as successor to the vacant guddee; and Your Highness proceeds to state that it will be your aim and object so to conduct the duties of the office to which you have been called as to promote the welfare and happiness of the people of the Holkar State.

The intelligence of the early death of the late Maharajah was a cause of much grief to me. By that event the guddee of the Holkar State became vacant, there being no one of the Holkar family remaining entitled to succeed to the principality or to adopt an heir to the guddee.

It became therefore necessary for the Governor-General to make an arrangement for the administration of the government of the Holkar principality.

Having an earnest desire to promote the interests of the Chiefs and people of the State, and to preserve the honour and prosperity of the principality, the British Government determined on this occasion to make such an arrangement as would conduce to the accomplishment of these ends and would at the same time, it was believed, be agreeable to the feelings of the remaining members of the family of the late Hurree Rao Holkar and of the Chiefs and nobles of the principality.

Actuated by these motives, I was induced to direct the British Resident at Indore to nominate Your Highness to the occupation of the vacant guddee.

I have every confidence that Your Highness will, to the utmost of your endeavour, administer the duties of the government in which you have been thus installed in a manner befitting your high station, and with a becoming impression of the importance of the interests which will on your coming of age be entrusted to your care.

It is the intention of the British Government in thus bestowing on Your Highness the principality of the Holkar State, that the Chiefship should descend to the heirs male of Your Highness' body lawfully begotten, in due succession, from generation to generation.

Until the period of Your Highness coming of age the affairs of the government will be administered in your behalf, as at present, by a competent Regency acting under the general superintendence, and in all matters of importance the instructions of the British Resident, who will make arrangements for the education of Your Highness during your minority in a manner suitable to Your Highness' future high destinies.

All existing engagements with other Chiefs and States made by the Chiefs of Holkar and in force at the time of the death of the late Maharaja will continue binding on Your Highness and on Your Highness' Government.

MY HONOURED AND VALUED FRIEND,

The Agent to the Governor-General in Central India has at length been able to report to me the conclusion of the negotiations for the exchange of territory which have been so long pending between Your Highness and the Government of India.

I have now the pleasure to inform Your Highness that I approve and confirm the transfer to the possession of Your Highness of the 231 villages in Taluka Nima-war, and the 176 villages in the district of Nimar, of which the names, revenues, and other particulars are given in schedules A and B of the memorandum by Lieutenant-General Sir H. Daly enclosed in this letter.

That memorandum correctly summarizes the results of the negotiations, and I feel assured that Your Highness will not fail to perceive, in the constant desire to meet Your Highness' wishes which has been evinced by my predecessors throughout the course of the negotiations, evidence of that friendly spirit which I am confident will ever characterize the relations of the British Government with Your Highness' loyal and distinguished family.

I beg to express the high consideration I entertain for Your Highness, and to subscribe myself.

Your Highness' sincere friend,

RIPON,

Viceroy and Governor-General of India.

SIMLA ;

The 25th May 1881.

MEMORANDUM OF TERRITORIAL EXCHANGES effected between the GOVERNMENT OF INDIA and HIS HIGHNESS MAHARAJA HOLKAR, G.C.S.I., from 1861 to 1880.

Whereas the Government of India deemed it advisable to obtain from His Highness Maharaja Holkar, by exchange of territory, the proprietary rights held by His Highness in certain lands in the Deccan, negotiations to effect an exchange of territory were commenced in 1861 by Sir Richmond Shakespear, Agent to the Governor General for Central India.

2. The lands in which His Highness ceded proprietary rights were—

- 9 villages of Taluka Chandore.
- 6 villages in Poona Collectorate.
- 3 villages in Ahmednagar Collectorate.
- 3 jaghire villages in Ahmednagar Collectorate.
- 1 jaghire village in Khandesh Collectorate.
- 1 jaghire village in Sholapur Collectorate.
- 5 jaghire villages in the Bulandshahar District of the North-Western Provinces.

3. The lands given in exchange in full sovereignty by the Government of India were—

231 villages in Taluka Nimawar of which were—

Khalsa villages	134
Quit-rent „	55
Rent-free „	42

176 villages in the District of Nimar, of which—

- 113 were villages in pergunnah Barwai.
- 32 were villages in Pergunnah Dhargaon.
- 30 were villages in Pergunnah Kasrawad.
- 1 Mandlesur.

4. Schedule A attached gives the names of all the villages noted above, together with the revenue as fixed by agreement for each.

5. Schedule B gives the gross and net revenue as finally fixed and agreed to by the contracting parties of the lands given and taken in exchange, as well as the Huqs, cash payments, etc., debitable to each.

6. The following is the detail of the negotiation step by step :—

The Satwas-Nimawar Pergannah was transferred to His Highness Maharaja Holkar on 23rd June 1861. No equivalent in land or cash was received until 31st July 1865 on which (date) the Chandore estate was taken over from Maharaja Holkar.

The Nimar Pergannahs were transferred to the Maharaja on 23rd October 1867, and the Bulandshahr jaghire taken over from His Highness on 27th October 1867.

The Poona* villages were not taken over till the 30th November and 1st, 2nd, and 3rd December 1868, and the Ahmednagar* villages till 29th January and 6th June 1868.

*Wabgaon Estate.

The jaghire villages in the Deccan were taken over in February 1867, January and April 1868, and March and September 1872.

7. The concessions made to the Maharaja in the course of the Satwas-Chandore exchange were as follows :—

I.—In exchange for the proprietary right in nine villages in the Deccan His Highness received 231 villages in Satwas-Nimawar in perpetuity.

II.—The Government of India accepted the Maharaja's own valuation of Rupees 33,214-15-8 for his nine villages, although this sum was in excess of what he had already agreed to accept, and obviously included several items which the Government of India would be unable to recover.

III.—The district of Satwas-Nimawar was valued at the amount of its land revenue only, the abkari revenue being excluded from the calculation.

The net gain to the Maharaja on this account was Rupees 2,156-10-6 a year.

IV.—The claim to a deduction of Rupees 3,209 from the amount of Holkar's Deshmookhi huqs in commutation of service was waived, and the total amounts of these huqs, Rupees 11,410, was credited to the land instead of to the cash account to which they properly belonged.

V.—No interest has been claimed on account of the deferred payment to the Government of India of revenues of Satwas-Nimawar, which, without giving any equivalent, the Maharaja enjoyed from June 1861 to July 1865. The annual land revenue derived from the district by the Government of India before transfer was Rupees 28,872. The Revenue for the four years therefore would amount to Rupees 12,15,488, and on this sum several years' interest has been foregone.

VI.—In August 1872 the Government of India yielded to the Maharaja's request to be credited with the sum of Rupees 5,835-15 on account of repairs to Public Works alleged to have been made at his expense in Chandore after the transfer of that estate to the Government of India.

VII.—Finally the capitalization of the Maharaja's annual contribution towards the maintenance of the Mehidpur Contingent and the Malwa Bheel Corps, which it was originally intended should be treated in close connection with the territorial exchanges, was in 1865 carried out separately at a loss to the British Government of rather more than 5½ lakhs of rupees.

8. The corresponding concessions made to the Maharaja in the course of the Wabgaon exchange were as follows :—

I.—In exchange for the proprietary right only in fourteen villages in the Deccan and five villages in the North-Western Provinces, the Maharaja obtained rights of sovereignty over 176 villages in Nimar.

II.—The value of the Maharaja's villages, on his own computation, amounted to Rupees 38,072 a year. The total revenue of the Nimar lands transferred to His Highness was Rupees 47,701.

III.—Abkari revenue was not included in the valuation of Nimar lands.

IV.—The lapsed jaghire of Chotta Kasrawad, with a land revenue of Rupees 2,099 a year, was conceded to the Maharaja.

V.—No charge was made to His Highness on account of Government buildings at Mandlesur of the value of Rupees 13,225.

VI.—No interest has been claimed on account of deferred payment to the Government of India of the revenue of villages which the Maharaja did not give up for some time after he received possession of the Nimar Pergannahs. Moreover, the Nimar Pergannahs were handed over to Maharaja Holkar under a light assessment at the expiry of the settlement, and the reassessment since made has given the Indore Darbar three or four times the revenue which the Government of India received from the districts, and three or four times the value of Holkar's hereditary lands and hags in the Deccan.

9. As shown in Schedule B, the annual amount due by the Indore Darbar on account of excess of land made over is Rupees 5,285-6-4.* This sum will be deducted annually from the sum of Rupees 30,000 † paid by the Government of India on account of Kesorai Patan, vide page 338, Volume III, Revised ‡ Edition of Aitchison's Treaties and Sunnuds ¶.

I, Rai Nanak Chand, C.I.E., Minister of the Indore State on behalf of the Indore Durbar, hereby cede to the British Government full and exclusive power and jurisdiction of every kind over the lands in the said State which are, or may hereafter be, occupied by the Nagda-Muttra Railway (including all lands occupied for stations, for out-buildings and for other railway purposes), and over all persons and things whatsoever within the said lands.

DATED INDORE ;

NANAK CHAND.

The 30th day of September 1905.

No. XV.

MEMORANDUM of TERMS between the GOVERNMENT of INDIA and the (1) INDORE, (2) RATLAM, (3) JAORA, (4) SITAMAU, (5) SAILANA, (6) DEWAS (JUNIOR) DARBARS and (7) PIPLODA STATE for the PRODUCTION and PURCHASE of OPIUM, —1926.

The Darbar
State will arrange to place under poppy cultivation an area sufficient to produce yearly as nearly as possible (1) 850, (2) 350, (3) 750, (4) 580, (5) 75, (6) 135, (7) 75 Government maunds of crude opium of consistency 70° (or an equivalent amount of crude opium of higher or lower consistency) and to deliver to Government the produce of the same.

NOTE.—(1) Government will not take exception to the failure of the Darbar
State to produce the quantity specified above owing to causes beyond their control.

(2) In the event of an appreciable diminution occurring in the demand for opium from the Ghazipur Factory the quantity of opium specified above may be reduced, by mutual agreement between Government and the Darbar
State without prejudice to the remaining clauses of this Memorandum, which shall then remain in force as if no such reduction had occurred. It is understood however that there shall be no reduction in the quantity specified in this paragraph for any reason except a diminution in the total demand upon Government for Excise or Provision opium, and that no reduction will be made otherwise than after previous notice given to the Darbar
State not later than 1st April in the calendar year preceding that in which the reduction is to take effect.

2. The Darbar
State will use their best efforts to produce opium of such quality as is best suited to the requirements of the Ghazipur Factory and to prevent the production of opium that is not suited to the Factory requirements. With this object in view the cultivation will be confined entirely to—

- (1) the Manasa, Rampura and Garot Parganas excluding the hilly tracts,
- (2), (5) areas of the State other than the hilly tracts,
- (3) that portion of the State lying west of the river Chambal,
- (6) the Ringnod pargana and even within these limits the Darbar will eliminate such villages as produce opium unsuited for use by Government*.

NOTE.—Opium ranging in colour from fawn to dark chestnut is best suited to Government requirements and that of a very dark colour, inclining to black, is unsuitable. Government reserve the right to reject or to accept at a lower rate any opium, found so unsuitable.

The cultivators by whom the cultivation will be undertaken and the area within which it will be undertaken by each cultivator will, before sowings commence, be determined by the Darbar (1) either by means of licenses or otherwise and the cul-
State (2) to (7) by means of licenses tivators will be required to deliver the whole of the produce to the Darbar
State as soon as it is collected.

3. As early as possible in each year, and in any case not later than the (1) 31st October
(2) to (7) 15th December the Darbar
State will intimate to the Agent to the Governor General the area that they have arranged to place under poppy cultivation. By the (1) 31st December
(2) to (7) 15th January in each year they will inform him of the area actually cultivated and of its anticipated output. Thereafter they will keep the Agent to the Governor General promptly informed of serious damage to the crop from hail, frost, blight or other causes.

4. The Darbar
State will take delivery of the opium from the cultivators, and will despatch it as early as possible and not later than the end of May in each year to the Ghazipur Factory by such routes as may from time to time be arranged with the Factory Superintendent, to whom at least a month's notice of the probable date of despatch of the first consignment for each season will be given. The opium will be placed in cloth bags, each of which will contain one maund of opium of, as far as possible, uniform consistency, and will be packed in an outer bag of gunny. A tin ticket bearing the name of the State and a serial number will be attached to each inner bag, and a wood label bearing a paper ticket giving details of the contents of the bag and the tare will be attached to each outer bag. Each bag will be sealed before despatch. The opium will be despatched in wagon loads comprising such quantities as may be arranged with the Factory Superintendent, each wagon being locked and run through to destination, and being accompanied by a peon or other person, who will be in possession of the keys of the wagon, so as to be able to open it should any accident necessitate it being opened in transit.

* This sentence is omitted in the Sitaman and Piploda agreements.

On arrival at the Factory the bags and jars will be examined and if found intact, with seals in order, a receipt will be granted him by the Import officer in the same manner as is done for Government chalans. As each consignment of opium is despatched, invoices or chalans, showing the number and weight of each bag and the estimated consistency of its contents, will be despatched to the Factory Superintendent, Ghazipur. The forms will be provided by Government. These invoices will be in duplicate, and one copy will be returned by the Factory Superintendent to the Darbar State for record. The entries in the invoices will be made in maunds, seers and chitaks, Government standard weights being used.

5. The Darbar State will cause all reasonable, and in particular, the following further precautions to be taken in connection with the despatch of opium :—

- (a) Every wagon that is tendered by the Railway authorities for the carriage of opium will be examined before any opium is placed in it, and if it is of wood, or if it contains or has contained kerosine or other oils, molasses, coal-tar, assafetida, or any other substance likely to damage the opium or to impair its flavour or aroma, the Railway authorities will be required to replace it.
- (b) No opium will be placed in any bag that is not perfectly dry or that has in any way become contaminated with any substance likely to affect the quality, flavour or aroma of opium packed in it.
- (c) In order to prevent leakage from the bags, all opium delivered by cultivators at consistency lower than 67° will, before being despatched, be exposed to the atmosphere until its consistency is not lower than 67°. With the same object bags will not be piled more than 2 deep in a wagon.

6. Doubtful opium should not be sent to the Ghazipur Factory.

Inferior opium, i.e., opium containing an excess of water or passewa in admixture should be separately packed and despatched, on separate invoices and chalan registers, and marked “Inferior, “water mixed”, as the case may be.

NOTE.—Passewa is a hygroscopic liquid that forms in opium when there is an excess of humidity in the atmosphere but can be easily separated by draining.

7. The opium will be assayed as soon as possible after its arrival at the Factory, and the weight, consistency and quality of the contents of each bag reported to the Darbar State. For opium classed as “pure” payment will be made to the Darbar State at the rate of Rs. 13 per seer of consistency 70°, the price of opium of higher or lower consistency being proportionately increased or reduced (i.e., the price paid for each seer will depend on the amount of pure dry opium contained in it, the weight of moisture or oil being neglected). Should the price paid to cultivators in the United Provinces at any time be increased or reduced, the price paid to the Darbar State will be correspondingly increased or reduced with effect from the season in which the increase or reduction takes effect in the United Provinces, but such reduction in price will not be made otherwise than after previous notice given to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ not later than August in the calendar year preceding that in which the reduction is to have effect. In addition, a premium of Re. 1 per seer at consistency 70° will be paid by Government for all opium that is delivered absolutely free from oil.

NOTE.—Following a similar reduction in purchase price in the United Provinces, the Government of India under condition 7 of this Agreement have decided to reduce the price of opium from Rs. 13 to Rs. 10 per seer of 70° consistency plus one rupee extra in case of oil-less opium with effect from the season 1926-27.

8. This agreement is for the delivery of pure opium only. Accordingly all opium that contains adulterants may be returned to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ and all opium that is so adulterated as to be entirely useless for Factory purposes will be so returned. Subject, however, to its quantity not being in excess of that which can conveniently be utilised by Government, opium which, although slightly adulterated, is capable of being used in the manufacture of excise opium* or of "lewa,"* will be paid for at a reduced price proportional to the amount of pure opium contained in it. Opium that is too impure for excise opium,* or "lewa"* but that is capable of being utilized for the extraction of alkaloids will, at the option of the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ either be returned to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ or (provided it does not cause the stock of opium fit only for the extraction of alkaloids to exceed requirements) paid for at a reduced price to be determined by the Factory Superintendent, whose decision on all questions regarding the quality, consistency or value of opium shall be final.

NOTE.—The stocks at the Factory of opium suitable only for alkaloids are at present largely in excess of requirements, and it is unlikely that the Factory will, for some time to come, be in a position to purchase opium of this class. Opium that is returned by the Factory as unfit for use will be returned at the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ expense and risk.

9. (a) Similarly this agreement is for the supply of oil-less opium only. Accordingly the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ will use their best endeavours to secure the delivery of opium free from oil, and Government reserve the right† to make a deduction not exceeding $\frac{1}{12}$ of the price of all opium containing an appreciable proportion of oil.

(b) No opium containing oil shall in any case be packed in the same bag as oil-less opium, and bags of opium containing oil shall be kept apart from bags of oil-less opium or of opium containing a smaller proportion of oil.

NOTE.—Opium should be classed as—

- | | | |
|-------|---|--|
| (i) | } | opium that is absolutely free from oil, |
| (ii) | | opium containing such percentages of oil as may from year to year be specified |
| (iii) | | by the Excise Commissioner for Central India (in consultation with the Factory |
| (iv) | | Superintendent) in respect of each class. |
| (&c) | | |

* These words occur only in Indore agreement.

† In addition to deducting the weight of the oil in order to ascertain the amount of pure dry opium as provided by condition 7.

Opium of each of the foregoing classes will be packed in separate bags, and a different distinguishing mark will be placed on the bags containing each class.

Opium containing oil in such percentages as may from time to time be specified in each behalf by the Excise Commissioner for Central India will be packed in two cloth bags and one gunny bag.

10. All bags,* seals, sealing wax* and tickets required for use in the despatch of opium will be provided by Government, who will also pay the freights from the despatching station to Ghazipur on all opium purchased by them, and the fares to and from Ghazipur of peons accompanying consignments.

11. †Subject to the foregoing conditions and to the proviso to this paragraph Government undertake to purchase the whole produce of the area mentioned in paragraph 3, whether it be more or less than the quantity mentioned in paragraph 1. But in the event of it being (otherwise than through seasonal vicissitudes not likely to be of yearly occurrence) considerably in excess of or less than the quantity mentioned in paragraph 1, the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ will, as far as lies in their power, adjust their cultivation for the following year in such manner as may be necessary in order to secure the necessary reduction or increase. (Except with the special previous sanction of Government it will not be permissible, either in the event of a shortage or otherwise, for the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ to purchase or acquire, for delivery to Government opium produced otherwise than in accordance with condition 2 of this agreement.)

Provided that in the event of the quantity of opium delivered by the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ in any year exceeding by more than 5 per cent. the quantity mentioned in paragraph 1, Government shall have the discretion, after giving due notice, to refuse in subsequent years to accept any deliveries in excess of the quantities mentioned in paragraph 1.

12. In the event of the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ desiring to make advances to cultivators, Government will be prepared, if so desired, to pay to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ on their request between the months of July and October in each year, a sum not exceeding $\frac{1}{3}$ rd of the price of the opium that they undertake to supply to Government and also not exceeding the amount which the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ intend to advance to their cultivators. Similarly Government will be prepared, if so desired, to pay to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ by the 31st March in each year, a sum not exceeding $\frac{1}{2}$ of the price of the opium that they undertake to supply to Government, less any sum already paid to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ for the purpose of making advances to cultivators. Such payments will subsequently be deducted from the sum payable to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ on account of the price of opium.

* These words are omitted in the Indore agreement.

† For paragraph 11 of the Indore agreement see end of this agreement.

13. This agreement will have effect for five years from the season 1925-26 to the season 1929-30 inclusive. It may be previously determined either by the Darbar State or by Government by notice given not later than the 1st of January in any year, such notice having the effect of determining the agreement as soon as the produce of the crop then in the ground has been delivered and paid for.

14. The examination and assay of each consignment of opium will ordinarily commence within about three days of its arrival at the Factory and will ordinarily take between 5 and 10 days, but these periods may be exceeded when numerous consignments are being simultaneously received from different places. An official deputed by the Darbar State will, if the Darbar State so desire, be permitted to be present at the examination of the opium supplied by the Darbar State. He will also be instructed in the process of assay, and will be permitted to visit the laboratory from time to time, in the company of the Factory Superintendent, while the produce of the State is under assay. (The conditions under which laboratory work is necessarily conducted preclude his being given unrestricted access to the laboratory.)

The Darbar State official, if any, deputed for this purpose, should arrange to reach the Factory at the same time as the first consignment, and to remain until the examination of the last consignment is complete. In no case can the examination of opium be postponed owing to his absence.

15. *The Darbar State further agree to adopt the "Scheme for the appointment and maintenance of a Joint Opium Officer" hereto attached and in consideration of their doing so, the Government of India agree—

(i) that in the event of the termination of the arrangements for the production of opium between Government and any State participating in the said scheme, the Darbar State will at once be informed and shall be at liberty to determine this agreement and to withdraw from the said scheme, by notice delivered to the Political Agent within two months of the delivery to them of such information. Such determination and withdrawal shall take effect—

(a) from the 1st of July next following the date of the delivery of the notice to the Political Agent, if such delivery take place between the 1st October in any year and the 30th June in the following year,

(b) from the 1st of October next following the date of such delivery if such delivery take place between the 1st July and the 30th September in any year ;

(ii) that the peon or other person, required by condition 4 of this memorandum to accompany opium while in transit by rail, shall be provided by Government, and that on the opium being loaded in the railway wagon in his presence and made over to him by the Joint Opium Officer at the despatching station and his acknowledgment of the same taken, Government shall bear all losses occurring during the transit of opium by rail, caused by—

- (a) actual loss of the whole or part of a consignment,
- (b) injury to a consignment demonstrably occurring during such transit (e.g., by fire or water).

In such cases payment for the opium thus lost or injured shall be made by Government to the $\frac{\text{Darbar}}{\text{State}}$ on the basis of the weight, quality and consistency of the opium, as recorded in the chalan despatched to the Ghazipur Factory in pursuance of condition 4.

NOTE.—If so desired by the Opium Agent, the weighment and packing of the opium shall also be effected in the presence of the peon or other person who is to accompany it.

Paragraphs 11 and 15 of the Indore Agreement.

11. Subject to the foregoing conditions Government undertake to purchase the whole produce of the area mentioned in paragraph 3, provided that it is not in excess of the quantity mentioned in paragraph 1. Except with the special previous sanction of Government, it will not be permissible, either in the event of a shortage or otherwise, for the Darbar to purchase or acquire, for delivery to Government, opium produced otherwise than in accordance with condition 2 of this agreement.

* * * * *

15. It is further agreed that if the Darbar employ a deputed or retired officer of the Opium Department approved by Government in this behalf for the control of their opium cultivation, and for the weighment, classification and despatch of their opium, the peon or other person, required by condition 4 of this memorandum to accompany opium while in transit by rail, shall be provided by Government, and that on the opium being loaded in the railway wagon in his presence and made over to him by the said Officer at the despatching station and his acknowledgment of the same taken, Government shall bear all losses occurring during the transit of opium by rail, caused by—

- (a) actual loss of the whole or part of a consignment,
- (b) injury to a consignment demonstrably occurring during such transit (e.g., by fire or water).

In such cases payment for the opium thus lost or injured shall be made by Government to the Darbar on the basis of the weight, quality and consistency of the opium, as recorded in the chalan despatched to the Ghazipur Factory in pursuance of condition 4.

NOTE.—If so desired by the Opium Agent, the weighment and packing of the opium shall also be effected in the presence of the peon or other person who is to accompany it.

TRANSLATION of a DEED of SETTLEMENT executed by MULHAR RAO HOLKAR SOUBADAR through RUGHOO GUNGADHUR, KAMAISDAR of PERGUNNAH INDORE, to RUGHONATH SING, son of TEKCHUND, and KISREE SING, son of BEJOY SING, ZEMINDARS of PERGUNNAH BAE, TALOOKA MUDHARNEE,—1226 A. A.,—1825.

The above pergunnah was desolated and is now being improved by the Circar. An enquiry respecting the zemindaree of the pergunnah was made, but no papers have been found. Agreeably, however, to what you verbally stated the following settlement is made :—

1. The following duties used formerly to be levied on travellers on account of zemindar and chowkies.

Exclusive of duties on travellers, sayer duties were levied from tradesmen at the rate of two annas on every loaded bullock, sheep, camel, &c.

Sayer duty of one anna and not more was levied on every company of travellers, or traders at the following five chowkies, viz.—

- | | |
|----------------|-------------------|
| 1. Nachumbore. | 3. Arveh Khal. |
| 2. Bhoyroba. | 4. Chorur Nuddee. |
| 5. Amlee. | |

According to the above scale, duties at the rate of three annas may be levied on tradesmen on account of zemindar and chowkey ; and duties at the rate of one anna may be taken on every company of travellers ; a duty also of one anna and a half may be levied on every animal carrying the baggage of the traders ; but nothing more than the above should be collected. All duties must be levied according to the rate settled by the mediation of General Sir John Malcolm. You shall make good the loss which any man may sustain in any place from Sumrore village ghaut to the borders of Gooaloo at the time of his coming or returning. You shall always be in attendance and serve the Circar heartily and carefully.

2. The village which you state to have been from of old in your possession in zemindaree tenure, and the lands which you claim to hold for the purpose of cultivation are as follows :—

You have said that you hold the village of Gazeeda and 25 beegahs of land situated in cusba Bae ; you may now improve the said village and cultivate the lands, and from the income thereof you may support your family and children : but after the institution of an enquiry such settlement in respect thereof shall be made as may be deemed proper :—

3. The following is the settlement made :—

One-fourth of the sum fixed to be paid to the Circar shall be given to the zemindar. If you settle aheerees or graziers and others in the village, you will receive a percentage at the rate of Rupees 5 per cent. on the amount to be paid by them to the Circar on account of pasture.

4. It is necessary to make an enquiry whether or not the cess “damee” is due to the zemindar, and whether or not peshcush is payable by the zemindar ; for this purpose it is necessary that you should produce the old receipts which you hold. After enquiry a settlement will be made, and until such settlement is made you may take two rupees on every village. One rupee only should be taken on a village yielding Rupees 25 a year, but on a village paying Rupees 50 you may take two rupees as mentioned above.

5. No duties on account of zemindar and chowkey, as above detailed, shall be levied from persons holding a letter of the Circar exempting them from payment of duties. If any tradesman holds an engagement of the Circar the duties should be levied from him with reference to that engagement. You will keep the tradespeople satisfied by making the usual allowance in their cases. In respect to pilgrims you shall act in consonance with the orders of the Circar. The settlement having been thus made you shall serve the Circar with fidelity, and improve the said pergunnah by bringing the tenants and settling them in the pergunnah. You shall protect the traders, travellers, and passengers, so that they may not sustain any loss. You shall levy duties according to the above settlement which has been made with reference to your verbal statement. After the records have been referred to, such rules in regard to the levying of duties and the payments of peshcush shall be laid down as obtained during the time of the late Bai Saheba.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD granted by MULHAR RAO HOLKAR to KHOSAL SING, GOND, Girassia,—1820.

Whereas you represented to me at Indore that the village of Heerapore in pergunnah Kanthapore was waste and uncultivated, and that should the Circar be pleased to settle it with you, assessing it with a progressive rent, you would bring it into cultivation; and whereas in compliance with your prayer the said village was settled with you from the year 1230 or Sumbut 1877, in order that you might bring it under cultivation, on the following terms :—

1st.—That the said village shall be subject to progressive rent for five years from the year 1230 or Sumbut 1877 to 1234 or Sumbut 1881 inclusive, and that within this period you shall bring the lands into such a state of cultivation that they can yield the full revenue;

2nd.—That from the year 1235 or Sumbut 1882 you shall hold the village in istumraree tenure at the rent of Rupees 600 to be paid to the kamavisdar from whom you will take a receipt;

This Sunnud, containing the above two conditions, is granted to you that you may cultivate the lands of Heerapore for five years from the Sumbut 1877 to 1881 inclusive, subject to progressive rent, and pay annually from the Sumbut 1882 the revenue of Rupees 600 to the kamavisdar of that village, taking receipt for the same. You and your sons from generation to generation shall hold the village, discharge your duties and remain thankful to the Circar.

TRANSLATION of a LEASE granted by the MAHARAJAH (HOLKAR) to KHOSAL SING, GOND, Girassia.

It appearing from the application of the above-named Girassia that Heerapore and two or three other villages in pergunnah Kanthapore are now lying uncultivated and waste, and that if a settlement be made with him on a progressive rent for five years, he will bring them into a good state of cultivation, this lease is granted to him with a view to the improvement of those villages. It behoves him to bring them into a good state of cultivation, within five years from the Mahratta 1230 or Sumbut 1877 to 1234 or Sumbut 1881 on a progressive rent, and to pay annually from the year 1235 or Sumbut 1882 the sum of Rupees 600 of the currency of the said pergunnah to the tehsildar thereof without default, taking receipt for the same. He may be assured that the said villages shall remain in his possession from generation to generation.

AGREEMENT between the DHAR DARBAR and the RAO of HIRAPUR regarding the resumption of the 12 villages in AHIRWAS tract in the NIMANPUR PARGANA of DHAR,—1905.

In accordance with the Likhtam dated Jeth Bidi 10th, Fasli year 1229 (A.D. 1822) from Raja Ramchandra Powar of Dhar to Rao Bheron Singh, the Rao of Hirapur has held from the Dhar Darbar the marginally-noted 12 villages in the Ahirwas tract in the Nimanpur pargana on the payment of an annual tribute of Rs. 601 Hali coin. For a long time past the Rao has been representing that the villages in the Ahirwas tract yield little or no revenue to him and that consequently he finds the payment of the yearly tanka of Rs. 601 a heavy burden on him and he has lately requested that the Darbar may resume the villages and grant him a tanka of Rs. 150 per annum as compensation for the allowance formerly enjoyed by his (the Rao's) family and in lieu of which the tract containing the 12 villages mentioned was held by him. The Dhar Darbar having considered the representations made on behalf of the Rao of Hirapur and other circumstances affecting the Ahirwas tract, have decided to resume the 12 villages. Accordingly the Rao of Hirapur hereby relinquishes all his rights over the 12 villages in the Ahirwas tract which were granted to him by the Darbar under the aforesaid Likhtam and the Dhar Darbar hereby agree to pay to the Rao of Hirapur a tanka of Rs. 150 per annum on the resumption of the 12 villages as compensation for the bana (allowance) mentioned in the said Likhtam. The said tanka of Rs. 150 per annum in British coin will be paid through the Political Agent in Bhopal. This agreement is made between the Dhar Darbar and the Rao of Hirapur with retrospective effect from the 31st March 1904.

TRANSLATION of a SUNNUD granted by MALHAR RAO HOLKAR to SALIM SINGH, THAKOOR,—1819.

FROM MALHAR RAO HOLKAR, TO SALIM SINGH THAKUR, DATED Suma Ashrin Mayaten wa Alaf. (1220 A. A.).

You represented to the Sarkar at Indore that the two villages Lalgarh alias Manpura and Nag-guradiya of Pargana Mahidpur, which you have held for a long time, were resumed last year by the Sarkar and assigned for the erection of the Chatri at Bhanpura. That the Girass Tanka which you formerly used to receive from villages of the Mahal was stopped and it was settled through Captain Law on the part of General Malcolm that no people of any village of the Mahal should be oppressed nor a pice taken direct from villages on account of Girass but should take from the Sarkar Kutcheri an annual sum of Rs. 1,000 (one thousand) in cash and should receive the village Kachhalya, and that a letter for payment of the annual sum of Rs. 1,000 was written to the Kamavisdar of the Mahal. You further represented that two villages had been held by you on Istimrar for a long time.

That the Sarkar had assigned the village of Kachhalya and fixed an annual sum of Rs. 1,000, which arrangement was in force, but that in addition to that to enable you to obtain grass, fuel, etc., a lease of the aforesaid two villages might be given to you on Ijara Istimrar tenure, that then the sum of Rs. 1,000 fixed to be received from Mahal Kutcheri, would be deducted from the income of the villages and the balance of the village revenues according to the lease would be paid by you at any place the Sarkar might direct. A request to this effect was made by you to Gerald Wellesley who brought this to the notice of the Sarkar, and your request having been taken into consideration, it has been determined to grant you an Istimrar lease of the two villages from the current year as follows :—

The Istimrar rent of the two villages—

	Rs.
for Fasli year 1229 St. year 1876	2,251
for Fasli year 1230 St. year 1877	2,401
TOTAL .	4,652

From this are to be deducted, annually, rupees one thousand in the local currency on account of the tanka, which should not then be taken from the Kutcheri and the balance, i.e., for the current year of Rs. 1,251, and from Fasli year 1230, Rs. 1,401 of the local currency would be paid annually by you without any objection or causing expense at any place the Sarkar might direct and obtain receipt for the same.

Be it known to you. Ch : 16 Jilkad. (7th September 1819). Mortab Sud.

II.—BHOPAL AGENCY.

This Agency includes, besides the Treaty State of Bhopal, and the two minor States of Kurwai and Muhammadgarh which are immediately dependent on the British Government, the three mediatised Salute States of Rajgarh, Narsingharh and Khilchipur, and the three mediatised Estates of Basoda, Pathari and Ramgarh.

Basoda and Pathari are feudatories of Gwalior: and though, in the past, Basoda has been treated as guaranteed by the British Government, the question, whether it should be so treated in future, is now under consideration. Though holding only from Gwalior, these two Estates are included in the Bhopal Agency: and their accounts are, for this reason, reproduced under the Bhopal Agency, not under Gwalior.

In addition to those mentioned above, the Bhopal Agency originally included the following guaranteed Estates:—

Daria Kheri	The Pindara Jagirs:
Dhabla Dhir	Jabria Bhil
Dhabla Ghosi	Dugri
Hirapur	Khajuri
Jhalera	Piplianagar
Kamalpur	Ramgarh
Kharsia	Sadan Kheri
Larawat	Suthalia
Maksudangarh	Tappa
Patharia

In 1908 the Estates of Daria Kheri, Dhabla Dhir, Dhabla Ghosi, Jhalera, Kamalpur, Kharsia, Patharia, the Pindara Jagirs, Sadan Kheri and Tappa, being feudatories of Gwalior, were transferred to the Gwalior Residency. Hirapur was transferred in 1909 to the Resident at Indore: and, on the abolition of that post, came under the Central India Agency

Larawat lapsed in 1879 to the Dhar and Dewas Darbars: Maksudangarh* lapsed to Gwalior in 1909: and Suthalia lapsed to Rajgarh in 1910.

In 1921, on the separation of the Gwalior Residency from the Central India Agency, it was decided that the Estates named below who, besides their holdings from Gwalior, either hold land or receive tankas from the States shown against their names, should deal with the Gwalior Residency

* For account, see Vol. V, Gwalior, Lapsed Estates.

in respect of their Gwalior holdings, and in respect of the other holdings with the Agencies shown against their names:—

1. BHOPAL.

Bhopal is the principal Mussalman State in Central India, and ranks next in importance to Hyderabad among the Muhammadan States of India. The ruling family was founded by Dost Muhammad, an Afghan, who went to Delhi during the first years of Bahadur Shah (1708). In 1709 he obtained a lease of the Berasia pargana. He died about 1740. On his death his minor legitimate son Sultan Muhammad Khan was put in power by the Pathan Chiefs; but the cause of Yar Muhammad Khan, an elder but illegitimate son, was espoused by the Nizam, and Sultan Muhammad was compelled to abdicate in his favour. Yar Muhammad Khan was succeeded by his eldest son Faiz Muhammad Khan. The claims of his uncle Sultan Muhammad Khan were again brought forward by a powerful party; but in the contest which ensued Sultan Muhammad Khan was defeated and was obliged to accept the grant of Rahatgarh for himself and his descendants, and to renounce all claims to the sovereignty of Bhopal and all interference with the affairs of the State.

At this time the Peshwa Baji Rao, while returning from Delhi, demanded in the name of the Emperor the restoration of the territories usurped by the Pathans of Bhopal: and the Nawab was compelled by treaty to relinquish all his possessions in Malwa except a few towns, being confirmed by the Peshwa in his remaining possessions in Gondwara.

Faiz Muhammad Khan left no issue and was succeeded by his brother Yasin Muhammad, who survived only a few days, and was succeeded by his brother Hayat Muhammad Khan, during whose weak administration the real power remained in the hands of his ministers.

Towards the close of the eighteenth century the Bhopal territories were overrun by plundering bands of Pindaris, and were also invaded by Raghuji Bhonsla. At this time Wazir Muhammad, son of the Nawab's cousin Sharif Muhammad Khan, who when a mere youth had fled from Bhopal after an unsuccessful rebellion (in which his father had been killed) against the power of the ministers, returned to Bhopal as a soldier of fortune. He was the means of saving his country from destruction by the Mahrattas, and he became the founder of the branch of the Bhopal family which has since ruled in the State. For many years he carried on a petty warfare with the Mahrattas, in the course of which he reconquered most of the territories which had been lost to Bhopal. But his power and abilities excited the envy and jealousy of Ghaus Muhammad, the son and successor of Hayat Muhammad Khan, who, to strengthen himself against Wazir Muhammad, invited the armies of Scindia and Nagpur to occupy the country, and agreed to pay to Scindia an annual tribute. From this time Ghaus Muhammad, though he long survived and enjoyed the titular dignity of Nawab, had no influence in the government of the country, nor were his claims ever agitated in the discussions which subsequently arose regarding the succession to the Bhopal State.

Wazir Muhammad's first efforts, made about the year 1809, to obtain the assistance and mediation of the British Government in his struggles with the Mahrattas were unsuccessful. He was compelled for self-preservation to league himself with the Pindari leaders. In 1812 a combination was made between Scindia and Raghuji Bhonsla to crush him, and Bhopal was besieged by their united armies towards the close of 1813. Wazir Muhammad made a gallant defence during a siege of nine months, and the Mahrattas were compelled to retire unsuccessful. Scindia was making active efforts to renew the siege in the following year, but he was restrained by the interference of the British Government, who began to see cause for less reliance on the friendship of Raghuji Bhonsla, and to value more the importance of Bhopal as a means of checking the depredations of the Pindaris. The connection of Wazir Muhammad with the British Government, however, never ripened into any formal engagement during his lifetime.

Wazir Muhammad died in 1816, and was succeeded by his second son Nazar Muhammad, with the consent of all parties and, among others, of the elder son Amir Muhammad Khan, who was disqualified by vicious excesses. Nazar Muhammad was married to the Kudsia Begam, daughter of Ghaus Muhammad.

One of the first measures taken by the British Government at the commencement of the Pindari war in 1817 was the formation of a close alliance with Bhopal. The Pindari leaders had long found a secure retreat in the Bhopal State, and it was chiefly by their help that the Nawabs of Bhopal had been able to resist the attacks of Scindia and the Raja of Nagpur. But the connection with these freebooters was distasteful to the Nawab, and tolerated only from inability to control them. Nazar Muhammad therefore gladly accepted the British alliance. An agreement was made with him on conditions proposed by himself, with the addition of an engagement to give the British Government the service of his troops. No formal treaty was executed, but the correspondence (No. I) which passed in 1817 was declared to have the force and validity of a treaty. The conditions of this engagement were faithfully fulfilled, and they were made the basis of a formal Treaty (No. II) of perpetual friendship and alliance concluded with the Nawab in 1818, by which his State was guaranteed; he agreed to furnish a contingent of 600 horse and 400 infantry; and he received five districts in Malwa as a reward for his services, and to enable him to maintain the contingent. The grant of these districts was subject to an assignment of Rs. 6,000 a year on their revenues to Khande Rao, the former manager, which provision was guaranteed by the British Government, No. III being the sanad granted in 1818 to Khande Rao by Nawab Nazar Muhammad under the guarantee of Captain Stewart, subsequently countersigned by Sir John Malcolm. The town and fort of Islamnagar, which had passed from the possession of the Nawab, were also restored to him.

Shortly after the conclusion of the treaty, Nazar Muhammad met his death through an accident. He left one daughter, Sikandar Begam. It was arranged with the consent of the Bhopal nobles, and with the sanction of the British Government, that he should be succeeded, under the regency of the Kudsia Begam, by his nephew Munir Muhammad Khan, son of his elder brother Amir Muhammad Khan, who had resigned his claims when Nazar Muhammad Khan became Nawab in 1816; and that Munir Muhammad Khan should marry Sikandar Begam. In 1827 Munir Muhammad Khan endeavoured to assert his authority, but was resisted by the regent: and he eventually resigned his claim to Sikandar Begam's hand and to the succession in favour of his younger brother Jahangir Muhammad Khan, receiving as compensation a jagir of Rs. 40,000 a year which was guaranteed by the British Government. This arrangement was effected in concert with the Chiefs of the State, who claim by custom a limited privilege in the selection of their ruler.

The Kudsia Begam, anxious to retain the power in her own hands, long delayed, on various pretexts, the celebration of the marriage of her daughter with Jahangir Muhammad Khan. But finding her endeavours to secure the countenance of the British Government to her retention of the administration during her life unavailing, the Begam at last yielded, and the marriage was celebrated in April 1835. This, however, did not put an end to the family dissensions, the Begam still hoping to evade the actual resignation of power, and Sikandar Begam entertaining ambitious views of her own. In 1836 a plot of the Nawab Jahangir Muhammad Khan to seize the person of the Kudsia Begam was discovered. He was arrested and put under restraint, but effected his escape in April 1837 and, being joined by a large party of his followers, raised the standard of rebellion. Although Government admitted the Nawab's claim to be just, and although it had been recognised by Government and by the Kudsia Begam on the supersession of his elder brother, yet formal interference was declined. The Nawab was defeated and compelled to seek shelter behind the walls of Ashta. After the siege of this town had lasted for some months without any decisive result, the Kudsia Begam and the Nawab accepted the proposed mediation of the British Government. An Agreement (No. IV), which was afterwards countersigned by the Governor-General, was concluded between them in November 1837, by which the Nawab was left in charge of the administration, and the Kudsia Begam received a life-jagir of 5 lakhs (Bhopal coin) a year, with which the Nawab pledged himself not to interfere.

The Nawab and Sikandar Begam also executed an agreement in 1837 not to design or commit injury to each other; but, while approving of this agreement, Government considered it to be of too private a nature to admit of its formal ratification.

The reconciliation of the Nawab with Sikandar Begam was not sincere, and shortly after his accession she retired to live with the Kudsia Begam at Islamnagar. The Nawab died in December 1844, having previously executed a will to the effect that his illegitimate son Dastgir should succeed him in power, and that his daughter by Sikandar Begam, Shah Jahan, should be married to a descendant of Wazir Muhammad Khan of pure blood.

The will in favour of Dastgir was set aside, and several plots to place him in power failed. The British Government recognised the succession of Shah Jahan in the same manner as, on the death of Nazar Muhammad Khan, it had admitted the claims of Sikandar Begam; and it was decided that the future husband of Shah Jahan, who was to be selected from the Bhopal family with a view to the amalgamation of the two branches descended from Ghaus Muhammad Khan and Wazir Muhammad Khan, should be Chief of Bhopal; and that in the meantime Faujdar Muhammad Khan, brother of Kudsia Begam, should act as regent, receiving co-operation from Sikandar Begam. The arrangement did not work well; and eventually Faujdar Muhammad Khan resigned his office, and Sikandar Begam was appointed regent in February 1847.

Sikandar Begam conducted the administration with great vigour and ability. She abolished the system of farming the revenue and made settlements directly with the heads of villages; regulated the assessments of the estates of the jagirdars; abolished monopolies of trades; brought the mint under her direct management; re-organised the police; and made arrangements for the liquidation of the debts of the State.

The Bhopal Contingent was reformed in 1840, and the Nawab agreed to increase the yearly tribute paid for its maintenance from Rs. 1,30,000 to Rs. 1,38,000 (Bhopal currency). The Contingent was again re-organised in 1849, when a Supplementary Article (No. V) to the Treaty of 1818 was agreed to by Sikandar Begam, by which the annual contribution for the perpetual maintenance of the Contingent was raised to Rs. 2,00,000 (Bhopal currency), on condition that the whole liabilities of the State for the Contingent were thenceforth to be limited to that sum.

In July 1855 Shah Jahan Begam was married to Bakshi Baki Muhammad Khan of Bhopal. He did not belong to the Bhopal family. Indeed, there existed no member of the family with whom Shah Jahan Begam could contract an eligible marriage; and, as the nobles of Bhopal, although willing to submit to the Begam, were not prepared to acknowledge as ruler of Bhopal anyone who did not belong to the ruling family, some modification of the arrangements made in 1844 became necessary. It was eventually decided that Shah Jahan Begam should be the Chief of the State, her husband being only titular Nawab, and that Sikandar Begam should continue to act as regent till Shah Jahan Begam should reach the age of twenty-one.

Sikandar Begam, however, was dissatisfied with her position. She complained of the recognition of her late husband as Chief of Bhopal, she being sovereign in her own right, and of the consequent recognition of her own daughter during her lifetime. Government, however, having recognised the claims of Shah Jahan Begam, could not set them aside; but Shah Jahan Begam voluntarily resigned her right to rule during her mother's lifetime. Accordingly in 1859 Sikandar Begam was proclaimed Ruler and Shah Jahan Begam her heir, the succession remaining with Shah Jahan's children.

For her services during the mutiny of 1857 Sikandar Begam received, in 1860, a Grant (No. VI) of the pargana of Berasia, which had been confiscated on account of the rebellion that took place in the Dhar State (see Part III (1), Southern States of Central India). The Begam liberally rewarded with jagirs those of her own subjects who rendered good service in the crisis of 1857.

In 1862 the Ruler of Bhopal received an Adoption Sanad (No. VII).

The Bhopal Contingent mutinied in 1857 and was disbanded, its duties being undertaken partly by regular troops and partly by the Bhopal Battalion, which was raised in 1859. In 1862 the Begam formally assented (No. VIII) to this arrangement, which was practically a modification of the Supplementary Article of 1849.

In 1863 the Begam appealed against the exercise of jurisdiction by the Political Agent in respect of cases where British subjects, Indian or European, were either plaintiffs or defendants, as a violation of the 9th article of the Bhopal Treaty of 1818; and claimed the right, under certain arrangements* made (without the authority or knowledge of the Government of India) with the Political Agent in 1847, to try in her own courts British subjects guilty of offences within her territories, and the surrender of British subjects guilty of such offences when apprehended in British territories. The claim, however, was not admitted. The Begam was told that the principle underlying the Treaty of 1818 was contained in article 3, which declares that the Bhopal Darbar will act in subordinate co-operation with the British Government and acknowledge its supremacy; that the 9th article referred to the authority of the Nawab of Bhopal over his own subjects within his own territory and not to British subjects; that this was apparent, first, from the correspondence which took place when the treaty was concluded, and which showed that the object of the clause

* 1st.—If offenders against the British Government, in old and heinous cases, fly to, and conceal themselves within the limits of, the Bhopal State, or if similar offenders against the Bhopal State take refuge within the limits of the British districts, such as Narsinghpur, Hoshangabad, etc., in the first instance, on the receipt of information of the place of concealment of a criminal, the thanadar or police of the British Government, with a parwana from the British district officer to the address of the thanadar and police of the Bhopal State, will proceed to the spot, arrest the offender, and make him over to the nearest thanadar of the said State. In the second instance, the thanadars or police of the Bhopal State will have to follow a like course with regard to the arrest and delivery of offenders against their State, traced to any place within the limits of the British districts.

2nd.—In new and recent cases when offenders, after the perpetration of a crime, fly to the Bhopal territory, and the thanadars or police of the British Government get correct information of their having done so, they will follow the offenders into the Bhopal territory and apprehend and deliver them to the Bhopal local thanadar; they will not in such cases be at liberty to arrest and bring away offenders without the knowledge of the officials of the Bhopal State; but if the British officials in the pursuit of such offenders happen to reach a place within the Bhopal State, where, owing to there being no thana, or being wild and uninhabited, no assistance can be obtained, then they may arrest the offender and take him with them, giving however due notice of their proceedings to the nearest thana of the Bhopal State. The officials of the Bhopal State in similar cases can in like manner enter the British territories and act similarly.

Criminals in heinous cases only will be delivered up by the two Governments. The above rule applies only to such offenders.

3rd.—The crimes which are considered heinous by Colonel Sleeman and the Resident, Indore, are the following:—

- | | |
|--|--|
| No. 1. Wilful murder. | No. 9. Robbery of a child, male or female. |
| „ 2. Wounding with the intent of murder. | „ 10. Robbery of Government property. |
| „ 3. Cutting and wounding wilfully. | „ 11. Giving poison with the intent to murder. |
| „ 4. Entering a house, or boat, or tent, with the intention of theft and plunder, accompanied by wounding. | „ 12. Thagi. |
| „ 5. Highway robbery. | „ 13. Cattle-lifting. |
| „ 6. Dakaiti. | „ 14. Aiding and abetting in sati. |
| „ 7. Setting fire to one's house. | „ 15. Giras. |
| „ 8. Forcible possession of a woman's body with or without adultery. | „ 16. Paranch (incendiarism). |
| | „ 17. Breaking jail. |

was to guarantee to the Nawab that the British courts of justice would not be introduced into his territories: and secondly, by the omission of all reference to European offenders, who had a right to be tried in a certain form and under certain conditions which the East India Company had no authority to compromise or surrender; that the arrangement of 1847 was never sanctioned by the Government of India, and contained a stipulation which was entirely inadmissible, viz., that British subjects charged with offences in Bhopal, if arrested in British territory, should be handed over to the Bhopal authorities for trial and punishment; but that the British Government would not be unwilling to act upon that arrangement in so far as it was consistent with Act VII of 1854 (since repealed) in the case of escaped offenders who were subjects of Bhopal. The law and procedure to be followed by British officers in questions relating to extradition are now defined by Act XV of 1903.

In 1863 Sikandar Begam resolved to proceed on a pilgrimage to Mecca, and requested that an engagement might be given to the effect that no new orders of the British Government would be carried out in Bhopal till her return. The Begam was told that, as it was impossible to foresee events, so it was impracticable for the British Government to comply with such a request; but she was assured that, unless imperatively necessary in the interest of the Bhopal State and its absent ruler, and in the interest of public peace and good order, no such orders would be issued nor any interference allowed with the arrangements she had made for the administration of Bhopal: and that, in the event of the issue of such orders being absolutely necessary, an intimation of their exact nature would be forwarded to her. The Begam was also assured that, in her absence, the protection of the British Government would be extended to Shah Jahan Begam.

In 1867 the Ruler of Bhopal was granted a permanent salute of 19 guns, and a permanent local salute of 21 guns.

Sikandar Begam died in October 1868, and Shah Jahan Begam then assumed the administration. At her request her daughter Sultan Jahan Begam, then about 8 years of age, was expressly recognised by the British Government as her heir (No. IX). Bakshi Baki Muhammad Khan, the husband of Shah Jahan Begam, died in 1867; and in 1871 she married Maulvi Siddiq Hasan. The same honours were paid to him as were enjoyed by her first husband, and he received the title of Nawab. Sultan Jahan Begam was married in 1874, with the consent of Government, to Ahmad Ali Khan, a youth of almost the same age as herself. He was of the same tribe as that to which the Bhopal family belongs, namely, the Mirazi Khel, but was not a member of the family.

The contribution of Rs. 12,000 a year, formerly paid by the Bhopal State for the construction and repair of roads within its territory, was remitted in 1872, on the understanding that the Begam would keep in proper repair the roads already made and spend a reasonable sum annually in opening up others. In 1888 the maintenance of those sections of the Sehore-Dewas road and the Sehore-Biaora road, which lie within the limits of the Bhopal State, was entrusted to the Darbar, under certain conditions.

In 1878 the Bhopal Battalion served in the Afghan campaign.

In 1879 it was proposed by the Bhopal State to establish opium scales at the new settlement of Shahjahanabad near Bhopal, with a bounty on all opium brought there for weighment. Conditional sanction to this arrangement, which was at first tentative for three years, was accorded in the following year by the Government of India. The opium scales were abolished in 1914.

In 1880 an Agreement (No. X) was concluded between the Government of India and the Bhopal State for the construction of a line of railway from Hoshangabad to Bhopal, the State paying 50 lakhs of rupees on that account, and receiving in perpetuity any profits which might accrue on that sum.

In 1881 an Agreement (No. XI) was concluded by which the Bhopal State abolished the levy of transit duties on salt passing through its territories, and the British Government agreed to pay as compensation an annual sum of Rs. 10,000.

The Kudsia Begam died in December 1881, and her jagir lapsed to the State. Her personal property, amounting to nearly 15 lakhs, was inherited by her grand-daughter Shah Jahan Begam, daughter of Sikandar Begam.

In 1887 certain provisions in the Railway Agreement of 1880 were modified by a Supplementary Agreement (No. XII). In 1888 the management of the railway was transferred, by order of the Government of India, from the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company to the Indian Midland Railway Company. Civil and criminal jurisdiction on this line was ceded (No. XIII) by the Begam to the British Government in 1888.

For some years previous to 1885 the administration of the Bhopal State had suffered chiefly owing to the ill-advised interference of the Begam's husband in public affairs, the Begam having retired behind the purdah. The British Government, after repeated expostulation, was at length reluctantly obliged to interpose. The Nawab was deprived of his title and honours, and forbidden to interfere in any way with the transaction of public business. The Begam was at the same time advised by Government to nominate, to assist her in the conduct of public affairs, a responsible minister who should be approved by the Governor-General in Council. It was the wish of the Government that an Indian minister should be appointed; but the Begam pressed for the nomination by the Viceroy of a British officer, and Colonel Ward was selected for the post in 1886. In 1888 an Indian gentleman was chosen by the Begam, with the approval of the Government of India, to succeed him. The ex-Nawab Saddiq Hasan died in 1890. At the time of his death the Government of India had under consideration the Begam's request that the honours of which he had been deprived in 1885 might be restored to him: and it was subsequently decided that, in official correspondence, he should be referred to as "the late Nawab Consort".

In 1890 a further supplementary Railway Agreement (No. XIV) was executed by the Government of India and the Begam, providing that the profits accruing, or the losses incurred on, the Bhopal section of the railway should be divided in perpetuity between the British Government and the Darbar, in proportion to the capital contributed by each party, at the close of the period for which the accounts should be made up.

In 1891 the Begam and her successors were exempted (No. XV) from the obligation to present nazars at interviews with the Viceroy.

In the same year the Begam consented to give the land for a new line of railway running from Ujjain in Gwalior via Sehore to Bhopal, to connect the Rajputana and Indian Midland Railway systems. In 1896 the Begam entered into an Agreement (No. XVI) for the working of the railway by the Indian Midland Railway Company.

In 1897 the State coinage was abolished and British currency was introduced in its stead; since when the State's annual contribution towards the Bhopal Contingent has been Rs. 1,61,290.

Special Arms Rules were introduced into the State in 1898.

In April 1899 the Begum entered into an Agreement (No. XVII) for the discipline and control of the Bhopal Imperial Service Troops when serving beyond the frontier of the State.

Shah Jahan Begam died in 1901 and was succeeded by Sultan Jahan Begam, born on the 9th July 1858. Sultan Jahan's husband Ahmad Ali Khan, who was recognized as Nawab Consort with the title of "Nawab Ahtasham-ul-Mulk-Alijah," died in 1902.

In 1906 the Bhopal Battalion (which had been placed under the orders of the Commander-in-Chief in India in 1897, and renamed the 9th Bhopal Infantry) was delocalised, and its place at Sehore taken by another Indian Infantry battalion, in ordinary relief. Sehore was abandoned as a military cantonment in 1922 and its rendition to the Bhopal Darbar was effected on the 15th October 1929, when the headquarters of the Political Agent in Bhopal were transferred to Bhopal. The present designation of the battalion is 4th Battalion (Bhopal) 16th Punjab Regiment.

In 1908 the Bhopal State post offices were amalgamated, on certain conditions, with the Imperial Post Offices in India.

In consequence of the amalgamation of the Indian Midland Railway with the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, the Bhopal section again came under the management of the latter in 1901: and in 1911 an Agreement (No. XVIII) was executed between the Secretary of State and the Bhopal Darbar, substituting the Secretary of State for the Indian Midland Railway in the Agreement of 1896. The contract between the Secretary of State and the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company terminated in 1925, when the Great Indian Peninsula Railway was transferred to the Government of India. Since then, the railway owned by the Bhopal Darbar has been worked directly by Government agency.

In 1926 the Government of India, as the result of a representation from the Begam, decided that her only surviving son Nawab Muhammad Hamidulla Khan should be recognised as her heir, to the exclusion of the sons of her elder deceased sons. This decision was based on certain rulings of the Government of India in a number of analogous cases of succession in Muhammadan States which had occurred during the last century: and on the view that, in the absence of any local custom to the contrary, the rule then followed was applicable to the succession in Bhopal in the existing circumstances. On the 17th May 1926 Her Highness the Begam voluntarily abdicated, and the present Nawab Muhammad Hamidulla Khan became Ruler of Bhopal. Her Highness the ex-Begam died on the 12th May 1930.

The area of the State is 6,902 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 692,448; and the revenue Rs. 62,10,000.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921 the authorised strength of the Bhopal State Forces consists (December 1926) of:—

Gohar-i-Taj Own Company Infantry	164*
Sultaniah Pioneers	749
Waliahad Infantry	78
Motor Machine Gun Section	—*

The following other State forces are maintained:—

Artillery	36
Armed Police	427

The State possesses 6 serviceable guns.

With effect from the 1st January 1922 the designation 'Imperial Service Troops' was changed to 'Indian State Forces'.

The liability of the State to the payment of Nazarama had not been decided up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

* Not yet organised.

2. KURWAI.

This Chiefship was founded by an Afghan named Muhammad Diler Khan, a Firoz Khel of the Tirah or Khyber district, and a contemporary of Dost Muhammad of Bhopal, with whom he was at one time in alliance for the division of their common acquisitions in Central India. He first entered the service of the Raja of Datia in Bundelkhand, and afterwards, about 1726, that of the Raja of Basoda. On the death of the Chief of Kurwai he seized the State. On the death of Nawab Muhammad Diler Khan the State was divided between his sons, the elder, Muhammad Izzat Khan, receiving Kurwai, and the younger, Ahsanulla Khan, receiving Muhammadgarh and Basoda.

During the decline of the Moghul Empire Kurwai obtained power and dominion equal, if not superior, in extent to that of Bhopal, but suffered great spoliation at the hands both of the Mahrattas and Pindaris. In 1818 the Chief applied to the Resident at Bhopal for protection against the oppression of Scindia's local officials in the neighbouring districts: and in 1820 he received an assurance (No. XIX) that the British Government recognised his hereditary right to the possession of Kurwai.

In 1820 Muhammad Akbar Khan, an illegitimate son of Nawab Hurmat Khan, the successor of Muhammad Izzat Khan, seized the State. The legitimate son of the Nawab, Iradat Muhammad Khan, applied to the British Government; but it was not considered advisable to disturb the arrangements which existed previous to the introduction of British supremacy into Malwa. Through the intervention, however, of the British Government compensation in the shape of an annuity of Rs. 6,000 a year was paid to Iradat Muhammad Khan on his formally abandoning his claim to the masnad. The amount now actually paid to the family of Iradat Muhammad Khan is Rs. 2,230-4-0, British currency.

Muhammad Akbar Khan died in 1843, leaving two sons, Muhammad Muzaffar Khan and Muhammad Najaf Khan. The Nawab had wished to set aside the elder son; but Government would not accede to this request, and Muhammad Muzaffar Khan succeeded. He died in 1858 without male issue, but leaving a grandson, his daughter's son by the Nawab of Basoda. Government ruled that Muhammad Najaf Khan had a preferential claim and recognised him as Nawab. In 1874 Muhammad Najaf Khan, being then fifty years of age and having no male issue, selected his grandson Munawar Ali Khan, son of his eldest daughter, as his heir. The Government of India, in accordance with the wish of the Chief, sanctioned the succession.

The Kurwai Darbar abolished transit duties within their territory in 1884.

Muhammad Najaf Khan died in 1887 and was succeeded by Munawar Ali Khan, whose father Mazhar Ali Khan was appointed to carry on the administration of the State during his minority.

Civil and criminal jurisdiction on the lands occupied by the Indian Midland (now the Great Indian Peninsula) Railway was ceded (No. XX) by the Kurwai State to the British Government in 1888. In 1890 the Government of India sanctioned, as a special case, the payment to the Chief of Rs. 10,880-12-6 on account of the land taken up for the railway.

Munawar Ali Khan died in 1896 and was succeeded by his brother Yakub Ali Khan. Owing to heavy indebtedness, the State was placed under the control and supervision of the Political Agent.

Nawab Yakub Ali Khan died on the 1st October 1906 and was succeeded by his son the present Nawab Sarwar Ali Khan, born in December 1901. During his minority the State was managed under the direct superintendence of the Political Agent. He was formally invested with administrative powers on the 9th April 1923.

In 1921 the State assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the Kathora-Kurwai road lying in its territory.

All matters connected with the succession to Kurwai are regulated by the British Government.

Several members of the Kurwai family, outside the ruling branch, draw pensions from the Kurwai revenues. They reside at Schore, Sironj (Tonk), and other places in the neighbourhood.

The area of Kurwai is 142 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 19,851; and the revenue Rs. 2,64,000.

The State pays Rs. 220 a year as tanka to the Thakur of Agra Barkhera.

The State maintains (1926) a force of 59 Armed Police, with 2 serviceable and 7 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

3. MUHAMMADGARH.

This State was originally part of Kurwai, and was given as a portion to a younger son of the Chief in 1753. It pays no tribute to any State and is directly dependent on the British Government.

In 1884 the Chief abolished transit duties within his territories.

Hafiz Kuli Khan, who succeeded in 1842, died in 1896 and was succeeded by his only son Hatim Kuli Khan. In 1909 he resigned the Chiefship and was succeeded by his eldest son the present Nawab Siddiq Kuli Khan, born on the 26th December 1890, during whose minority the administration was carried on under the direct orders of the Political Agent. He was granted administrative powers in 1912. Owing to the illness of the Nawab the administration was subjected to the supervision of the Political Agent in 1925-26.

The area of Muhammadgarh is 29 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,647; and the revenue about Rs. 30,000.

The military forces of the State consist (1926) of 8 Cavalry, 25 Infantry and 29 Armed Police, with 6 serviceable and 12 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(II) MEDIATISED STATES AND ESTATES.

1. RAJGARH.

The power of the Umat Rajputs was established in the district known as Umatwara in the seventeenth century by two cousins named Mohan Singh and Parasu Ram, who assumed the titles of Rawat and Diwan and made a division of their possessions, the Rawat retaining five villages in excess of the portion of the Diwan as an acknowledgment of his superior birthright. The ancestors of the family, who were proprietors of large herds of camels, came from Mewar in 1442. Out of the division above-mentioned, which took place in 1681, arose the separate Chiefships of Rajgarh and Narsinghgarh. On the Mahratta conquest of Malwa in the eighteenth century, the Umats were compelled to submit in common with other States; but they appear to have obtained unusually easy terms. The successors of the Rawat, who fixed their residence at Rajgarh, became tributary to Scindia; while those of the Diwan, now established at Narsinghgarh, ranked themselves among the dependants of the Holkar family. Tribute was imposed on each in equal proportions; the amount appears to have varied between Rs. 65,000 and Rs. 85,000 a year. The town of Talen was taken from Rajgarh and Narsinghgarh and assigned to Scindia and Holkar as a position to which their agents might repair for the purpose of receiving their tribute.

In 1818 the Chief in possession of Rajgarh was Nawal Singh, who succeeded to the gaddi after the assassination of his brother. On the introduction of the British authority in Central India, the mediation of the British Government was exercised to effect an arrangement for the payment of the tribute due to Scindia. In 1819 Nawal Singh executed an Agreement (No. XXI) making over to Scindia 171 villages in commutation of all Scindia's claims against him: and, at the same time, it was agreed that the British Government alone should have the right to mediate the affairs of Rajgarh. In 1820 the Rawat received Sanads (No. XXII) from the Puars of Dewas for the settlement of his claims on the Dewas district of Sarangpur. These claims were to a share in the land revenue, amounting in some villages to a fourth and in others to a third, a corresponding share in the sayar and transit duties, and an indefinite proportion of rent-free lands in every village. The claims on the land revenue were commuted to an annual payment of Bhopal Rs. 4,101, and the other claims to a payment of Rs. 1,001.

In 1831 Nawal Singh committed suicide, and was succeeded by his son Moti Singh. In 1834 Scindia restored (No. XXIII) the 171 villages made over to him in 1819, on condition that the Rawat should pay the former tribute of Rs. 85,000. This restoration included Scindia's half share of the town of Talen.

In 1846, in consequence of the maladministration of Moti Singh, the British Government interfered and placed the State under management. The Chiefship was restored to Moti Singh in 1856 free of debt, on the express understanding that the revenue leases, which had been made for twenty years, should be maintained.

In 1867 the Ruler of Rajgarh was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

In 1871 Moti Singh announced his conversion to the Mussalman religion and took the name of Muhammad Abdul Wasih Khan. He received the title of Nawab from the British Government in 1872. In 1875 he went on a pilgrimage to Mecca.

In 1881 the State executed an Agreement (No. XXIV) abolishing transit duties on salt, and received as compensation from the British Government 150 maunds of salt annually, to be delivered at Indore free of cost. In 1883 this compensation, in common with the payments in kind made to other States in the same circumstances, was commuted (No. XXV) to an annual payment of Rs. 618-12-0.

Nawab Muhammad Abdul Wasih Khan died in 1880, and was succeeded by his son Bakhtawar Singh who, notwithstanding his own adherence to the Hindu faith, retained all the Muhammadan officials appointed by his father. He died in 1882 and was succeeded by his son Bal Bahadur Singh. On the occasion of Bal Bahadur Singh's installation, he and other members of the Rajgarh family were, by the help of the Chiefs of Narsingharh and Khilchipur, again admitted to the brotherhood of their caste—a concession which Bakhtawar Singh had shown much anxiety to secure.

In 1883 the Chief agreed (No. XXVI) to abolish all transit duties within his territory, with the exception of that on opium.

In 1886 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. XXVII) on the Ruler of Rajgarh.

Bal Bahadur Singh died without issue in 1902 and was succeeded by his uncle Bane Singh.

In 1907 the villages of Lasuria and Kundeli of Rajgarh were, with the approval of the Government of India, exchanged with the Indore Darbar's half share in the town of Talen and the village of Latakheri.

In 1910, on the death without heirs of Thakur Sambhu Singh, holder of the guaranteed Estate of Suthalia (see (III), Lapsed Estates), the Government of India permitted the escheat of the Estate to Rajgarh. The Darbar have, however, continued certain villages in jagir to the adopted successor of Thakur Sambhu Singh.

In 1915 the State assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the portions of the Biaora-Sehore and Rajgarh-Biaora roads lying in its territory.

Raja Bane Singh died on the 9th January 1916 and was succeeded by his son the present Raja Bir Indra Singh.

In 1916 the Gwalior Darbar advanced claims to suzerainty over Rajgarh; but the Government of India held, in 1921 that their claims were untenable.

In 1920 Raja Bir Indar Singh received a sanad granting him, subject to certain provisos, full powers in criminal cases, to be exercised by him personally. In 1921 these powers were made hereditary by a Kharita (No. XXVIII); which, however, does not apply to any criminal case in which the person accused, or any of the accused, are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants. In granting these extended powers, Government desired that persons sentenced to death, transportation, or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General: and that, pending the consideration of such petition, the execution of any person sentenced to death should be stayed. These powers may, in certain conditions, be delegated to a properly qualified Court. The Kharita may be suspended or revoked at the will of the Government of India.

The area of Rajgarh is 962 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 114,972; and the revenue about Rs. 12,00,000.

The Raja pays a tribute of Chanderi Rs. 85,172 to Scindia, under the terms of the Agreement (No. XXIII) of 1834, and Kotah Rs. 1,050 to Jhalawar for Kalipit. He receives annually, on account of tanka, Hali Rs. 3,187 from Scindia, and British Rs. 2,053-9-9 from the Senior, and Rs. 2,053-10-0 from the Junior Branch of Dewas. His tribute to Scindia is paid through the Political Agent.

The military forces of the State consist (1929) of 39 Cavalry, 146 Infantry, 204 Armed Police and 9 Artillery men, with 6 serviceable and 2 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

2. NARSINGHGARH.

Parasu Ram, the founder of the Rajput State of Narsinghgarh, succeeded his father Ajab Singh in 1660 as Minister to the Rawat of Rajgarh. In 1681 he compelled the Rawat to divide his territory with him, and Narsinghgarh thus became a separate Chiefship.

In 1819, with the approval of the Holkar Darbar, the settlement of Narsinghgarh affairs was taken up by the British authorities: and in due course the mediation of the British Government was exercised to effect an arrangement for the payment of the tribute due to Holkar (No. XXIX).

In the same year Subhag Singh, fourth in descent from Parasu Ram, became imbecile and was succeeded by his son Chain Singh: who, owing to a difference with the Political Agent at Sehore, attacked the British forces near that place and was killed in the engagement. Upon Subhag Singh recovering from his imbecility, he was again entrusted with the rule. After his death in 1827, Chain Singh's widow adopted Hanwant Singh, who died in 1873, when his grandson Pratap Singh was recognised as his successor. On this occasion Holkar demanded succession nazarana, but his claim was not admitted by Government.

In 1867 the Ruler of Narsinghgarh was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns; and in 1872 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. XXX) upon him.

In 1881 the State executed an Agreement (No. XXXI) abolishing transit duties on salt, and received as compensation from the British Government 150 maunds of salt annually, to be delivered at Indore free of cost. In 1883 this compensation, in common with the similar payments in kind made to other States, was commuted (No. XXXII) to an annual money payment of Rs. 618-12-0.

In 1884 the State abolished all transit duties within its territory, with the exception of that on opium (No. XXXIII): and in the same year the Chief contributed Rs. 56,000 towards the construction of the Biaora-Sehore road, which passes through his capital. This road was maintained from Imperial Funds up to 1915, when the State assumed responsibility for that portion lying in the State territory.

Pratap Singh died without issue in 1890 and was succeeded by his uncle Mahtab Singh, who died without issue in 1895 and was succeeded by his cousin's son, Arjun Singh. During his minority the State was managed under the direct superintendence of the Political Agent,

In 1921 a Kharita, similar to the one granted to Rajgarh (see No. XXVIII) was granted to the Ruler of Narsinghgarh, conferring on him and his successors enhanced criminal powers to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by the subjects of the State or others.

Raja Arjun Singh died on the 22nd April 1924 and was succeeded by his only son the present Raja Vikram Singh, born on the 21st September 1909. During his minority the administration of the State was carried on by a Council of Regency of which the Political Agent was President with the Dowager Rani as Regent. The Raja was invested with ruling powers on the 7th October 1929.

The area of Narsinghgarh is 734 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 101,426; and the revenue Rs. 9,24,244.

The State pays a tribute of Hali Rs. 85,000 to Holkar (No. XXIX): and the Raja receives tankas of Hali Rs. 1,200 from Scindia, and Rs. 5,102 from Dewas (see No. XXII), under British mediation. These tankas are paid direct, without deduction.

The military forces of the State consist (1926) of 40 Cavalry, 99 Infantry and 93 Armed Police, with 4 serviceable and 5 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

3. KHILCHIPUR.

The first member of the Khilchipur family who settled at the capital was named Ugar Sen; he founded the Khilchipur branch of the Khichi clan of Rajputs in 1544, being compelled to leave his ancestral home at Mau Gagron by the Emperor Humayun of Delhi. The representative of the family accorded allegiance to the Mahratta rulers and became tributary to Scindia in 1793.

On the death in 1819 of Diwan Durjan Sal, Chief of Khilchipur, his mother and widow placed in power a youth named Balwant Singh, whose claim to the succession was inferior to that of many other members of the family, and particularly of Aman Singh. The different claimants appealed to the Gwalior Darbar, who requested that the case might be decided by the British Government. Aman Singh was proved to be the nearest heir; but, as he was at feud with the other branches of the family, it was decided in 1819 (No. XXXIV) that his infant son Sher Singh should succeed under the nominal supremacy of the elder Rani the mother of Durjan Sal. On this occasion the Gwalior Darbar voluntarily remitted the nazarana which they were entitled to claim.

A tribute of Bundi Rs. 13,500 was payable by the Chief to Scindia who, however, assigned (No. XXXV) it to the British Government in 1844, for the maintenance of the Gwalior Contingent.

Sher Singh was succeeded in 1869 by his nephew Amar Singh, whose adoption had previously been recognised by the Gwalior Darbar and confirmed by the British Government.

In 1873 the hereditary title of Rao Bahadur was conferred (No. XXXVI) on the Ruler of Khilchipur: and in 1878 he was granted a permanent salute of 9 guns.

In 1884 the Chief remitted all transit dues, except those on opium (No. XXXVII).

Amar Singh died in 1899, and was succeeded by his son Bhawani Singh, who died on the 18th January 1908 and was succeeded by his son the present Raja Durjan Sal Singh, born on the 26th August 1897. During his minority the State was managed under the direct superintendence of the Political Agent.

In 1908 the Gwalior Darbar advanced claims for suzerainty over Khilchipur; but the Government of India held, in 1911, that the claims were untenable.

Rao Bahadur Durjan Sal Singh was invested with ruling powers on the 22nd February 1918.

In 1921 the Government of India conferred on the Ruler of Khilchipur and his successors, by means of a Kharita (No. XXXVIII), enhanced criminal powers to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by the subjects of the State or others. The Kharita, the terms of which are practically identical with that granted to the Ruler of Rajgarh, does not apply to any criminal case in which the person accused or any of the accused are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants.

In 1928 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. XXXIX) on the Ruler of Khilchipur.

The area of Khilchipur is 273 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 40,043; and the revenue Rs. 2,74,044.

The State pays, as tribute to the British Government, Rs. 11,134-3-6, the equivalent in British rupees of the tribute assigned by Scindia in 1844 (No. XXXV). It is paid in three equal instalments.

The military forces of the State consist (1926) of 9 Cavalry, 70 Infantry, 8 Armed Police and 13 Artillery men, with 5 serviceable guns.

4. BASODA.*

This Estate, which was originally a part of Kurwai, was formed in 1753 by a grant of territory to Ahsanulla Khan, second son of Diler Khan. The Chief is feudatory to Gwalior, though he pays no tribute to that Darbar. In his relations with the Darbar, the Basoda Chief receives the countenance and support of the Political Agent in Bhopal, within whose local jurisdiction the Estate lies, and who since 1822 has exercised the same general authority in its affairs as in those of the guaranteed Chiefs subject to his control. Heinous criminal offences are reported to the Political Agent, in whose court they are tried with the aid of assessors. The Political Agent is also the referee in all cases of dispute arising between the Gwalior Darbar and the Nawab.

Asad Ali Khan, who died in 1864, was at one time Minister of Bhopal, but was removed to Benares on account of his intrigues in favour of Dastgir, the illegitimate claimant of the succession in Bhopal. He was released in 1858 on payment of a fine of Rs. 25,000. On his death he was succeeded by his eldest son Amar Ali Khan.

In 1884 the Nawab abolished all transit duties within his territories.

Amar Ali Khan died in 1896 and was succeeded by his son Haidar Ali Khan, who died on the 27th July 1929 and was succeeded by his son the present Nawab Mohammad Ayub Ali Khan, born in 1877.

The area of Basoda is 40 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 4,237; and the revenue about Rs. 40,000.

The Estate possesses 4 serviceable and 1 unserviceable guns.

5. PATHARI.

The Nawab is a descendant of Dost Muhammad, the founder of the Bhopal family. He formerly held certain villages in the Rahatgarh district, of which he was deprived by Scindia; but in 1807 Scindia restored the Estate, composed of the villages included in it as at present constituted, to Haidar Muhammad Khan. Nawab Abdul Karim Khan succeeded his father Haidar Muhammad Khan in 1859.

In 1884 the Nawab abolished all transit duties in his State.

Nawab Abdul Karim Khan died in 1913 and was succeeded by his son the present Nawab Abdul Rahim Khan.

In 1921 the Estate assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the Kulhar-Pathari road lying in its territory.

In the same year, as a result of the settlement with the Gwalior Darbar in regard to the position of their feudatories, Pathari was declared to be an unguaranteed estate. The Nawab appealed against this decision and after the position had been re-examined it was decided in 1928 that the status quo, whereby Pathari has been maintaining direct relations with the British authorities for the past hundred years, should not be modified.

* Pending a final decision as to the status of this Estate its account has been allowed to remain.

The area of Pathari is 30 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 3,494; and the revenue Rs. 30,000.

6. RAMGARH.

(III) LAPSED ESTATES.

1. LARAWAT.

(For account see Part III (1), Southern States of Central India, Lapsed Estates.)

2. MAKSUDANGARH.

(For account see Vol. V, Gwalior, Lapsed Estates.)

3. SUTHALIA.

The Jagirdar of Suthalia held, under British guarantee, a lease of 12 villages from the Raja of Rajgarh, in return for a payment of Rs. 3,400 (No. XL). The succession failed in 1910: and in 1911 the Government of India sanctioned the lapse of the Estate to the Rajgarh Darbar.

AGREEMENT with NUZZUR MAHOMED KHAN in 1817.

TRANSLATION of a letter from MR. JENKINS to NUZZUR MAHOMED KHAN, the NAWAB of BHOPAL, dated 13th October 1817.

The written proposals of your vakeel Enayet Musseeh, dated 22nd January 1817, or 4th of Rubbee-ul-Awul 1232 A. H., specifying the conditions on which you were desirous of placing your State under the protection of the British Government, have, as you know, been for some time under the consideration of His Excellency the Governor-General. Though hitherto unanswered they have not been overlooked, and I am now instructed to communicate to you His Excellency's assent to them.

The following is an exact transcript of the proposals in question :—

PROPOSALS of HUKHEEM ENAYET MUSSEEH, CONFIDENTIAL AGENT of NUZZUR MAHOMED KHAN, the NAWAB of BHOPAL, agreeable to the wishes of his principal; dated 22nd January 1817, corresponding with the 4th of Rubbee-ul-Awul of the Hegira.

ARTICLE 1.

"The fort of Nuzzurghur, commonly called Seermow or Goolgaon, which is situated near Bhuisa, shall be delivered over to the British Government as a permanent cantonment and depôt for grain, etc.

ARTICLE 2.

"We will use our utmost endeavours to assist in the collection of supplies of cattle, grain, and all other necessary articles for the use of the British troops, at the market prices.

ARTICLE 3.

"Agreeable to the orders of the British Government, we will also abstain from all intercourse and correspondence with the Pindarees and all the plundering A ghans of Hindostan.

ARTICLE 4.

"After we are taken under the protection of the Company we shall have no occasion to enter into engagements and correspondence with the other Chiefs and Rajahs of Hindostan; but in trifling affairs, relating to the administration of the Government, it will be continually necessary to correspond with the neighbouring Zemindars and Chiefs, in which cases, as a previous reference to the British authorities and the obtaining permission might occasion delay, after having concluded any petty transaction of this kind, we will communicate the same to the nearest British authority.

ARTICLE 5.

“After being taken under the protection of the Company we will submit to the British Government all our claims and pretensions on other Rajahs and Chiefs in order that the Company may effect a favourable settlement of the same; or even should we suffer a little loss in this way, we will out of respect to the English Government quietly submit to it.

ARTICLE 6.

“With regard to money stipulations for the payment of the British troops the case is this, that for the last two years the revenues realized by us from our country have not exceeded one lakh and twenty-five thousand Rupees; on which we have with difficulty subsisted. How therefore can we contribute any sum towards the payment of British troops? Let the Company excuse us on this point. But the fort of Nuzzurghur with some villages dependent on it, some of which are flourishing and the others deserted, shall be delivered into the hands of the Company; and when by the assistance of the British Government we shall attain our wishes, we shall never be found deficient in rendering every service in this respect in our power.”

The only additional stipulations which the Governor-General requires from you are that you will zealously co-operate with your troops against the Pindarees and their abettors, according to the advice of the officers of the British Government; that you will admit the British troops at all times into your territory; and that all articles of supply for them shall be purchased and pass through your territories free of duties. In the present condition of your territory and resources the British Government does not require you to contribute anything to the payment of its expenses, but it must be understood that after any eventual increase of your dominions accompanied by the improvement which the restoration of tranquillity may be expected to effect in your resources, you will be ready to contribute in a fair proportion according to your ability.

On these conditions the British Government engages to protect and guarantee your dominions against all enemies, and to recover and restore to your possession such parts of your territories as have been seized and occupied by the Pindarees. You may besides expect such other marks of its favour and kindness as circumstances may put in its power to confer upon you and your own good conduct may merit.

I am authorized by the Governor-General to inform you that it is only necessary for you to signify to me, in your reply to this letter, your assent to the above conditions, to render you at once the ally and to entitle you to the immediate and permanent protection of the British power. But your reply must be distinct and unequivocal.

The British Government has now unalterably determined to suppress the predatory power of the Pindarees, and to destroy and prevent the revival of the predatory system in every part of India. The British armies are advancing from every quarter into Malwa for this purpose. Every State must therefore declare itself either friend or foe. Those even who do not co-operate zealously in this cause will be viewed and treated as enemies. Your professed and approved attachment to the British Government has entailed on you the peculiar enmity of the Pindarees and rendered you deserving of every assistance and support, whilst the local position of your territories, in the vicinity of the Pindaree positions, the bravery of your troops, and the energy of your personal character are calculated upon as enabling you to become a most useful auxiliary in the approaching crisis. Your conduct on this occasion will have the most powerful influence on your future fate, and the Governor-General has no doubt that you will stand the test.

I send this letter through Colonel Adams, and I have to request you will transmit your reply to it through the same channel. On receiving your reply, which must be early, and I cannot doubt will be direct and satisfactory, the Colonel will inform you of his wishes regarding the employment of your troops, and concert with you the necessary measures for the protection of your country, the occupation of the fort assigned for a depot, and the supply, etc., of the British troops which will advance across the Nerbudda into your territories. I shall be obliged by your furnishing Colonel Adams with every information on these topics, and you will of course consider his suggestions on all points as those of the British Government.

TO NUZZUR MAHOMED KHAN, of BHOPAL, written the 23rd December 1817.

Sir John Malcolm duly communicated to me the correspondence which had passed between him and you and the substance of his personal conferences with your agent, the respectable Enayet Shahzad Musseeh, and I have been informed by Lieutenant-Colonel Adams of the junction of a body of your troops, both horse and foot, with his division and of the satisfaction he has derived from their conduct. These circumstances have amply confirmed the opinion I have always entertained of your friendship and attachment to the British Government, and I request you to be assured that a corresponding feeling towards you has always existed in my mind!

In consequence of your letter to Sir John Malcolm stating that you had written to Mr. Jenkins to declare your assent to the terms proposed to you by that gentleman under my authority, I awaited a communication from Mr. Jenkins of that letter and the execution and exchange of a regular engagement comprising those conditions, according to the wish you had expressed, before I signified my formal sanction of them. The late disturbances at Nagpore, which the signal triumph of our arms will soon suppress, having prevented the completion of those arrangements, I deem it proper no longer to delay a direct communication of my unqualified confirmation of the assurances you have received from Brigadier-General Sir John Malcolm and Mr. Jenkins. Your knowledge of the reliance that may always be placed on the assurance of a British officer has however supplied the place of that formal sanction, and the just confidence in my friendship which led you at once to proceed in execution of the terms settled with Sir John Malcolm and Mr. Jenkins has afforded me a high degree of satisfaction. You have already begun to experience the benefits of your alliance with the British Government by the recovery of some of the districts from which the Pindarees were expelled, and you may rely on my unremitting attention to your interests and to the augmentation of your prosperity and resources, as far as circumstances may enable me to indulge this disposition, in the firm confidence that your conduct will be such as to merit every degree of favour.

With regard to the future payment of a portion of the charge of the British troops that may be employed in the protection of your territories, a point on which you have expressed some anxiety, I have only to assure you that whatever may be ultimately arranged to that respect will be framed in a spirit of the utmost liberality and with a due advertence to the pecuniary situation and means of your Government. On this subject be at ease.

A regular treaty shall be hereafter prepared and duly exchanged and ratified, but in the meanwhile I request you to consider this as having the full force of such an instrument.

TRANSLATION of a KHUREETA from HER HIGHNESS the NAWAB SECUNDER BEGUM of BHOPAL, dated 29th May 1862, to the address of the AGENT, GOVERNOR-GENERAL for CENTRAL INDIA,—1862.

After compliments.—Your letter, No. 339, dated 1st May, acquainting me with the arrangements which have superseded those formerly in force in respect to the contingent, has duly reached me, informed me of what I was previously ignorant, and removed the doubts from my mind which I had wished cleared away: Your letter states that the Supplementary Article of the Treaty of 1818, dated 29th November 1849, fixed at two lakhs of Rupees the annual contribution of the Bhopal State for the perpetual maintenance of a contingent of all arms commanded by British officers, for the security of the Bhopal Government; on this account a force of British European troops was stationed at Sehore, which by reason of damage to discipline was subsequently removed to Saugor and Mhow in order that a force, efficient and powerful be always available to afford support to the Bhopal Government in lieu of the former contingent; that the Bhopal levy and Central India Horse will be available for the ordinary duties of the former contingent. Although by this disposition there is an apparent difference from the terms of the said agreement with regard to the late contingent, yet in reality it is a practical fulfilment of the terms of the Supplementary Article; for greater security and support is afforded to the Bhopal Government by the presence of European troops at Saugor and Mhow than was provided for by the former arrangement.

Under these circumstances it is most desirable that there should be no ground for misconception and that the views of the Bhopal Government should coincide with those of the British Government. My friend, when these words of sound advice were well understood by me, viz., that the British Government in lieu of former arrangements had by the existing disposition of troops taken upon itself more efficient measures for the security and protection of the Bhopal State, they imparted perfect satisfaction to me; in truth the new disposition is in accordance to my views and has removed all grounds for anxiety or misconception.

KHUREETA from HIS EXCELLENCY the VICEROY, to HER HIGHNESS NAWAB SHAH JEHAN BEGUM of BHOPAL, dated 30th November 1868.

I have received your khureeta, dated 3rd November, reporting the death of your mother, Nawab Secunder Begum, G.C.S.I. This sad intelligence has been to me a cause of great sorrow, for in her the British Government has lost a staunch ally and a most devoted friend. I grieve, too, when I think of the sadness which must at present overwhelm you, and I wish you to know how heartily I sympathize with you in your bereavement. I have already caused to be forwarded to you, through the Agent, a copy of the Notification which the Government of India caused to be published on receiving the news of the demise of your lamented mother. At the same time, I desire to offer to you my congratulations on your accession to the musnud of Bhopal, and to express my hope that you, by wisely administering the affairs of the State, will prove a worthy successor to her whose loss we deplore. Be assured that the British Government is ready to extend to you the same regard and friendship as it did to your mother.

In compliance with your request, I have much pleasure in recognizing your daughter, Sultan Jehan Begum, as heir to the throne of Bhopal.

Agreeably to your request I send you this yaddasht in which I cede to the British Government the civil and criminal jurisdiction over the land occupied by the Indian Midland Railway within the Bhopal State running from Bhopal to Bhilsa. “The country which is now in possession of my master the Nawab Akbar Khan to be confirmed to him, his heirs, and successors by an appropriate Sunnud to be granted him.”

REPLY.

At the time of the establishment of the authority of the Hon'ble Company in Malwa in the year 1817, corresponding with the month Magh 1225 Fussilee Sumbhut 1874, the Pergunnahs of Koorwey Laonra and Surwassa with Kirwar were in the possession of the Nawab Akbar Khan, having been held by him for twenty-four years since the death of his father the Nawab Hoormat Khan; and it having been determined by the Company's Government to preserve the order of things which existed at the above-named period of its occupation, how therefore should the possessions which then appertained to the Nawab not descend to his heirs and successors? Respecting the Sunnud, in a possession which belongs to the Nawab and not to the Hon'ble Company, it would be inapplicable and is not requisite.

ARTICLE 2ND.

"Any of the brethren, kindred, subjects, or debtors of the Nawab who in opposition to his authority may prefer complaints are not to be received."

REPLY.

From a State not appertaining to the Hon'ble Company it is not customary for the officers of the Company's Government to attend to representations preferred in opposition to the ruling authority of such State. In the case of the claims preferred by Eradut Khan, the brother of the Nawab, they were advantageously settled in order to the prevention of future disputes according to advice given at the Nawab's solicitation.

After compliments.—I have the honour to acknowledge receipt of your Yaddasht, dated 28th September 1888, stating that you have received a letter from the Central India Agency to the effect that the States of Bhopal and Kurwai through which the Indian Midland Railway passes have both practically ceded jurisdiction on the land taken up by the Railway, though no formal agreement has been drawn up, and that a written cession of jurisdiction should be obtained from each Chief concerned and forwarded to Indore.

2. In reply I beg to state that the civil and criminal jurisdiction on the land occupied by the Indian Midland Railway in the Kurwai State has (already) been ceded to the British Government.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT on the part of RAWUT NEWUL SING, RAJGHUR,—1819.

SEAL OF RAWUT NEWUL SING.

Whereas from old a determined tankha or tribute has been paid to the Maharajah Alija Soubadar Dowlat Rao Sindia Bahadur by Rajghur, and whereas for two or three years past this tribute has not been regularly discharged and above Rupees 16,000, due on account of the present year, and still unpaid, I have now of my own accord and pleasure (in order that the tribute may henceforth be liquidated, and that no cause of delay or dispute may exist) resolved to separate and assign villages of Rajghur, according to a schedule herewith annexed, to the kamaisdar of Atmaram Punth in order that the tribute to the Maharajah may be realized from the revenues of these villages, and that no cause of blame or shadow of claim may in future exist; and through my desire to please the Maharajah I have separated the aftermentioned villages and made them over, along with the sayer and rights of every description thereunto attached, to the kamaisdar of Atmaram Punth from the commencement of the Fuslee year 1227, and I will not in any manner hereafter interfere with them or their inhabitants.

And whereas the above-mentioned villages being generally much out of cultivation and possessing but a stinted population, the expense of management and seabundee will be great, the same must be provided from their revenue; for with this or any other claim respecting them I have henceforth no concern. And whatever omissions of tribute there may have been on my part previous to the year 1826, I consider myself absolved from the same in consequence of the present cession.

I hereby under the foregoing considerations also agree to resign all claim to those sums on account of tankha, bheth, etc., which, through the favour of the Maharajah, my ancestors and I have been in the habit of receiving from the pergunnahs of Shujawulpore and Shahjehanpore.

And whereas by concluding this agreement I have conformed to the pleasure of the Maharajah Dowlut Rao Sindia, as well as provided in future for the regular payment of the tankha and obviated all causes of complaint hereafter on either side, the Maharajah accordingly has graciously restored and confirmed to me the remaining part of my possessions (including the fort of Rajghur) which had been attached in consequence of the delays and subterfuges that had occurred in the payment of the tribute, Memorandum of districts and villages alluded to above, as made over in commutation of tribute.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT by the RAWUT NEWUL SING of RAJGHUR, dated 1st Chait Soodee 1876 Sumbut.

SEAL OF THE RAWUT NEWUL SING.

Whereas it was settled with Kristnajee Pundit that the tribute from Rajghur to the Maharajah Alijah Dowlut Rao Sindia should, for the present, or Fuslee year 1226, be Rupees 23,000; and whereas Rupees 6,045 of the above sum has been paid through Kristnajee Pundit, it is now agreed that I should pay the remainder or Rupees 16,955 by giving a banker's acknowledgment for the same amount.

Whatever sums may justly be due and forthcoming from the villages now made over, on account of balances for the present year, shall be carried to my credit, and a corresponding deduction made from the amount for which the acknowledgment has been given.

TRANSLATION of an AGREEMENT concluded by the RAWAT NAWAL SINGH of RAJGURH,—1819.

THE SEAL OF THE RAWAT NAWAL SINGH.

Agreement written as between Rawat Nawal Singh of Rajgarh and the Company Bahadur, represented by Captain William Henley to the effect that whatever disputes arise between Rajgarh and the adjoining pergunas of the other States and the disputes of ryots of his pergana with ryots of other pergunas, shall be referred to an officer of the Company Sarkar Angrej Bahadur and will not be settled by himself. That he will inform the nearest officer in Malwa appointed by the Company of all such matters and abide by his decisions. Whatever thieves, pickpockets and plunderers or troublesome people from amongst outside ryots

KHARITA from the HON'BLE the AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL in CENTRAL INDIA to HIS HIGHNESS the RAJA of RAJGARH,—1921.

It gives me much pleasure to inform Your Highness that the Government of India having regard to the status and position of Rajgarh State and reposing full trust and confidence in the sense of justice which has animated the Rulers of the State, have been pleased to confer on Your Highness and Your Highness' successors, authority to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by subjects of the State or others. This Kharita does not, however, apply to any criminal case in which the person accused or any of the accused are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants. The Government in extending the powers of the Ruler of the State in the manner described desire that persons sentenced to death, transportation or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General. The consideration of such petitions would be the subject of communication between the Agent to the Governor-General and the Ruler of the State, and pending such consideration execution of persons sentenced to death would be stayed. The British Government may at any time suspend or revoke the authority conveyed in this Kharita should circumstances appear to call for such action. The Government of India do not desire that as a condition of this grant of authority the Ruler himself must necessarily be burdened with the onerous work of trying all heinous offences himself. In certain conditions where efficient machinery exists or is created and the Ruler maintains effective control and supervision over it, the Ruler may with advantage delegate his powers in the matter. The Government of India have accordingly been pleased to decide that after the provision of efficient machinery, such as the nomination of a Bench of experienced judicial officers or of a Dewan or Judge possessing the essential legal qualifications for a Court of this nature, the authority conferred on the Ruler to dispose of cases of a heinous nature may be vested by him in such a Court subject to the necessary supervision and control of the Ruler himself, who as Ruler remains responsible for the proper performance of these important and onerous duties. If Your Highness desires to establish such a Court, or to make alterations in such Court or Courts after establishment, you will no doubt elect to do so in consultation with the Political Agent who will be able to afford Your Highness useful advice on the subject.

Dated 18th April 1921.

Similar Kharitas were addressed to the Rajas of Sitamau, Sailana and Narsingharh.

TRANSLATION of an ENGAGEMENT executed to the SOUBADAR by DEWAN SOBHAG SING and KOONWUR CHAEN SING, of SOOBSTAN NURSINGURH,—1819.

Whereas the above Soobstan was always assessed at Salim Sahi rupees 85,000 per annum; and whereas the Pindaree troops having entered the country laid waste the pergunnah, and the people, in consequence, deserted the place; and whereas we, being unable to pay the revenue and to meet the necessary expenses of the Soobstan, brought the matter to the notice of the Circar; the Circar, in consideration of the aforesaid circumstances, and with a view to the improvement of the pergunnah, has directed the payment of the revenue for six years according to the following instalments, viz.—

	Rs.
In 1875 Sumbut	25,000
„ 1876 „	35,000
„ 1877 „	48,000
„ 1878 „	60,000
„ 1879 „	72,000
„ 1880 „	85,000
Total	3,25,000

Therefore we shall, as ordered, pay without any objection, year after year, the above amount of Rupees three lakhs and twenty-five thousand, which includes the expenses of the mehal, in six years according to the said instalments commencing on the 15th Kartick Soodee and ending on the 15th Bysack Soodee.

TRANSLATION of a PERWANNAH from MULHAR RAO HOLKAR to DEWAN SOBHAG SING and KOONWUR CHAEN SING of SOOBSTAN NURSINGURH.

Whereas the above Soobstan was assessed at Rupees 85,000 per annum, but in consequence of the passing and repassing of the Pindaree troops through the mehal it was laid waste; and whereas you, with a view to bring the matter to the notice of the Circar, deputed Roop Ram Bohora, who, on arrival, represented that, as the mehal was desolated, there was no means of discharging the revenue due to the Circar, amounting to Rupees 85,000, and also requested that the Circar might graciously be pleased to take the above sum by instalments every year so that the mehal might be improved; and whereas it is necessary to realize the revenue of the Soobstan as usual, yet having regard to the fact that the pergunnah has been laid waste; and in consideration of the representation made by you, as well as with a view to the improvement of the mehal, it has been decided, in the presence of the said Roop Ram Bohora, that the yearly revenue of the mehal shall be paid in the following progressive payments so that the amount of rent in the 6th year shall be Salim Sahi Rupees 85,000 :—

		Rs.
In 1228 or 1875 Sumbut	25,000
„ 1229 or 1876 „	35,000
„ 1230 or 1877 „	48,000
„ 1231 or 1878 „	60,000
„ 1232 or 1879 „	72,000
„ 1233 or 1880 „	85,000
	Total .	3,25,000

Therefore, the sum of Salim Sahi Rupees three lakhs and twenty-five thousand having been fixed by the Circar as the aggregate amount of revenue for six years, this perwannah is given to you. You will therefore remit to the Circar the above amount of Salim Sahi Rupees three lakhs and twenty-five thousand according to the aforesaid instalments through the mamlidar, and take receipts for the same.

No. XXXVIII.

KHARITA from the HON'BLE the AGENT to the GOVERNOR-GENERAL in CENTRAL INDIA to the RAO BAHADUR of KHILCHIPUR,—1921.

It gives me much pleasure to inform you that the Government of India having regard to the status and position of the Khilchipur State and reposing full trust and confidence in the sense of justice which has animated the Rulers of the State, have been pleased to confer on you and your successors, authority to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by subjects of the State or others. This Kharita does not, however, apply to any criminal case in which the person accused or any of the accused are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants. The Government in extending the powers of the Ruler of the State in the manner described desire that persons sentenced to death, transportation or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General, the consideration of which would be the subject of communication with you, and that in the case of a sentence of death you will not give effect to such sentence until intimation of the sentence being passed has been given to the Agent to the Governor-General who after awaiting the presentation of a petition for mercy will communicate with you regarding the execution of sentence. The British Government may at any time suspend or revoke the authority conveyed in this Kharita should circumstances appear to call for such action. The Government of India do not desire that as a condition of this grant of authority the Ruler himself must necessarily be burdened with the onerous work of trying all heinous offences himself. In certain conditions where efficient machinery exists or is created and the Ruler maintains effective control and supervision over it, the Ruler may with advantage delegate his powers in the matter. The Government of India have accordingly been pleased to decide that after the provision of efficient machinery, such as the nomination of a Bench of experienced judicial officers or of a Dewan or Judge possessing the essential legal qualifications for a Court of this nature, the authority conferred on the Ruler to dispose of cases of a heinous nature may be vested by him in such a Court subject to the necessary supervision and control of the Ruler himself, who as Ruler remains responsible for the proper performance of these important and onerous duties. If you desire to establish such a Court, or to make alterations in such a Court or Courts after establishment, you will no doubt elect to do so in consultation with the Political Agent who will be able to afford you useful advice on the subject.

Dated 18th April 1921.

Similar Kharitas were addressed to the Rana of Barwani and the Raja of Ali-Rajpur.

III.—SOUTHERN STATES OF CENTRAL INDIA AND MALWA AGENCY.

The Southern States of Central India (formerly Bhopawar) Agency was constituted on its present footing in 1882, by separating the duties of the Political Agent, Bhopawar, stationed at Sardarpur, from those of the Commandant of the Malwa Bhil Corps who till then held the dual charge, and by abolishing the Deputy Bhil Agency at Manpur and including his charge in that of the Political Agent, Bhopawar. In 1891, however, the earlier system, by which the Commandant of the Malwa Bhil Corps held the dual charge, was temporarily renewed; but the charges were afterwards again separated. In October 1911 the headquarters of the Agency were transferred from Sardarpur to Manpur and in 1914 its designation was changed.

In May 1925 the Malwa Agency was amalgamated with this Agency, by placing both under one Political Agent designated the Political Agent in the Southern States of Central India and in Malwa. The Agency is now known as the Southern States of Central India and Malwa Agency.

The Agency also includes the charge of a small tract of British territory, Manpur, surrounded by States and Estates. In 1924 this tract was declared to be a Chief Commissionership and the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India was appointed to be Chief Commissioner and Local Government for the purpose of all enactments in force therein. The area of Manpur is 49 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 4,565; and the revenue Rs. 54,900.

The outlying portions of the Indore State, with the exception of the Parganas of Nandwai and Alampur, are in the political charge of this Agency for the purpose of routine matters such as extradition.

1. SOUTHERN STATES OF CENTRAL INDIA.

This group includes the Treaty State of Dhar, the mediatised Salute States of Jhabua, Barwani and Ali-Rajpur, and the following mediatised minor States and Estates.

Jobat.	Jamnia.
Kathiwar.	Kachhi Baroda.
Mathwar.	Kali Baori.
Ratanmal.	Kothide.
Bakhatgarh.	Mota (Bara) Barkhera.
Bhaisola or Dotria.	Multhan.
Bharudpura.	Nimkhera or Tirla.
Chhota Barkhera.	Rajgarh.
Garhi or Bhaisakho.

Nine of the above Estates are held by guaranteed Bhumias (alluvial proprietors) Bharudpura, Chhota Barkhera, Garhi, Jamnia, Kali Baori, Kothide, Mota Barkhera, Nimkhera and Rajgarh. They are Bhilalas by caste and trace their origin from Marwar. Their holdings consist of villages held on lease from suzerain Darbars, and hamlets called 'paras' or 'puras'. These hamlets were originally held on a uniform payment of a fixed rent at Rs. 3, subsequently reduced to Rs. 2, per plough. The rent has now been fixed at 50 per cent. of the land revenue.

The holdings mentioned in the original deeds have, in many cases, undergone considerable changes. In some cases certain of the villages were relinquished by the holders soon after the settlement, without the knowledge of the British Government: and in others there was either a change in possession of land, or a village was never made over by the suzerain Darbar. The actual holdings at present in the possession of the Bhumias are given in the individual accounts.

The Estate of Larawat, which was then in the Bhopal Agency, lapsed to the Dhar and Dewas Darbars in 1879.

In 1921, on the separation of the Gwalior Residency from the Central India Agency, it was decided that the Bhumias of Jamnia (who holds from Gwalior, Indore and Dhar) and Mota Barkhera (who holds from Gwalior and Dhar) should deal with the Resident, Gwalior, in respect of their Gwalior holdings. In the same year these two Estates came under the settlement then made with Gwalior with regard to their holdings from the Gwalior Darbar.

DHAR.

The Puar family was one of the most distinguished in the early Mahratta history. Anand Rao Puar is usually considered as the founder of the principality of Dhar which, with some adjacent districts, and the right to receive the tribute payable by certain Rajput Chiefs, was assigned to him by the first Baji Rao Peshwa. Anand Rao died in 1749, and was succeeded by his son Jaswant Rao Puar, who was slain in the defeat of the Mahrattas at Panipat. He was succeeded by his son Khande Rao Puar, and he by his son Anand Rao Puar, who died in 1807 and was succeeded by his posthumous son Ramchandar Rao Puar, on whose mother Maina Bai the administration temporarily devolved. Ramchandar Rao died early; but Maina Bai, with the consent of the neighbouring Chiefs, adopted her sister's son under the name of Ramchandar Rao Puar.

For twenty years before the British conquest of Malwa, the Dhar State was subjected to a continued series of spoliations chiefly at the hands of Scindia and Holkar, and was preserved from destruction only by the talent and courage of Maina Bai. By a Treaty concluded in 1819 (No. I) Dhar was taken under the protection of, and agreed to act in subordinate co-operation with, the British Government; several districts which it had lost were recovered and restored to it; its tributary rights over the Rajput States of Banswara and Dungarpur were ceded to the British Government; and it was arranged that the British Government should hold the Berasia pargana for five years, to liquidate a loan of Rs. 2,50,000 which the Government agreed to make to the Dhar State.

In 1821 the British Government mediated an Agreement (No. II) between Holkar and the Dhar State. Both States brought forward claims for lands near Bijaur and Dipalpur: and, as it proved impossible to ascertain the boundary correctly, it was agreed that the lands should be left neutral for the purpose of pasturing cattle.

In the same year, by an additional Engagement (No. III), Dhar ceded the pargana of Berasia and the tribute of Ali Mohan to the British for an annual payment of Rs. 1,10,000. In 1831 the pargana was restored to Dhar, as the collections from it were less than the sum paid for it by about half a lakh of rupees; but, as the Dhar authorities could not manage the district owing to its isolated position and separation from the rest of their territories, it was again taken under British management in 1835, on the understanding that the surplus revenues, after meeting all expenditure, should be paid to Dhar. The payments continued to be made till 1860, when they were stopped as a penalty for the misconduct of those who directed the counsels and forces of the State during the events of 1857, and the pargana of Berasia was made over to Bhopal as a reward for the services of Sikandar Begam of Bhopal during the mutiny (see Part II, Bhopal).

In 1828 the pargana of Nimanpur Makrar in Nimar was made over in perpetuity to the management of the British Government (No. IV), on condition that the surplus revenue, after payment of all expenses of administration, should be annually paid to the Dhar State. It was, however, restored to Dhar in 1830.

Ramchandar Rao Puar died in 1833 and was succeeded by his adopted son Jaswant Rao Puar, who died in 1857 and was succeeded by his half-brother Anand Rao Puar, then 13 years of age. In 1857 bands of Vilayatis and Makranis, who had been encouraged by the weakness and intrigues of those in authority, obtained control and established themselves in the fort, whence after a siege they were eventually dislodged by a British force. In consequence of the failure of the State to fulfil its treaty obligations on this occasion it was confiscated, but was subsequently restored to Raja Anand Rao Puar (with the exception of the Berasia pargana, as narrated above). It was, however, retained under British management until he should attain the age of 18 years, or until he should become competent to manage his own affairs. The administration of the State was entrusted to Anand Rao in 1864.

In 1862 the Ruler of Dhar received a Sanad of Adoption (see Malwa, No. IV): and in 1867 he was granted a permanent salute of 15 guns.

In 1864 the Raja engaged (No. V) to cede to the British Government, with sovereign rights, such land as might be required for the construction of a railway through his State, and to exempt all through traffic from transit duties.

In 1879 the Estate of Larawat lapsed to the Darbars of Dhar and Dewas in proportion to the tribute formerly paid by the Estate: namely two thirds to Dhar and one third to Dewas. The Darbars provided allowances for the maintenance of the surviving members of the Larawat family, for their lives.

In 1886 the Government of India acknowledged the jurisdiction (civil and criminal) of the Ruler of Dhar over the guaranteed Thakurs within his State, in all cases where such jurisdiction could be fairly proved to have become an established prescriptive right by reason of its long continuance. This agreement has now been accepted by all guaranteed holders.

In 1887 the Raja abolished all transit duties in the State.

In 1894 the Darbar adopted the British rupee as the sole legal tender in the State.

Anand Rao Puar died in 1898 and was succeeded by his adopted son Udaji Rao Puar, younger son of Anand Rao's half brother Sambaji Rao Puar, Appa Sahib of Multhan.

In 1904 agreements in connection with a long standing dispute between the Darbar and the four guaranteed Thakurs of Multhan, Kachi Baroda, Bhaisola (Dotria) and Bakhatgarh, regarding the collection of sayar revenues, were amicably arrived at. A mutual agreement was also concluded between the Darbar and the nine guaranteed Bhumias in regard to the right of the Darbar to levy sayar or royalty on the produce of the forests of the Bhumias' villages held from the Dhar Darbar, when such produce is removed from the land on which it grows and is exported elsewhere.

In 1914 the village of Umrod, in the Sundarsi pargana, was transferred with full rights to the Dewas State, Senior Branch, and the villages of Tanda and Gowla, in the same pargana, to the Junior Branch, in exchange for their assignments on the Nimanpur pargana.

In 1918 the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. VI) on the Ruler of Dhar.

Several questions in dispute between the Darbar and the guaranteed Thakurs and Bhumias in respect of their holdings from Dhar, regarding the suzerain claims of the Darbar, were enquired into by the Political Officers and finally decided by the Government of India in 1920. The decisions are a series of findings on important points such as the right of the Darbar to exercise suzerain rights over the Feudatories in respect of civil and criminal jurisdiction, forest, excise, etc.

Maharaja Udaji Rao died on the 30th July 1926, leaving no male issue. On the 1st August the Dowager Maharani, in accordance with the wishes of Udaji Rao expressed before his death, adopted Vikram Singh Rao, born on the 20th November 1920, elder son of Udaji Rao's half-brother Rao Bahadur Setaram Puar of Multhan. On his succession which was recognised and confirmed by the Government of India, he took the name of Anand Rao Puar IV. During his minority the administration is carried on by a Council with the Maharani as President.

The State has abolished customs duties and established town or octroi duty in lieu.

The Darbar have forest and abkari rights in the subsidiary Bhumats in respect of the villages and Bhil paras that they hold from Dhar. The Darbar have granted civil and criminal powers to their subordinate Thakurs and Bhumias, guaranteed and unguaranteed, in respect of their holdings from the State.

The area of the State is 1,777·85 square miles; and population, according to the Census of 1921, 230,333; and the revenue Rs. 16,58,500, exclusive of the alienated holdings.

The State pays an annual contribution of Rs. 6,601-12 towards the maintenance of the Malwa Bhil Corps; the payment of a sum of Rs. 1,200 having been capitalised by the Darbar in 1880, by the surrender of Government promissory notes aggregating Rs. 3 lakhs.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921 the authorised strength of the Dhar State Forces consists (December 1926) of:—

Dhar Light Horse	66
Dhar Infantry (Laxmi Guards)	174

The following other State forces are maintained:—

Cavalry	48
Infantry	30
Artillery	19
Armed Police	171

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(II) MEDIATISED STATES AND ESTATES.

1. JHABUA.

Jhabua was the principal guaranteed Chiefship under the Bhil Agency as formerly constituted, and was originally tributary to Holkar. The family are Rathor Rajputs, and are descended from one of the former Rajas of Jodhpur.

Kesho Das, a Rathor Rajput, did good service in the time of Jehangir in suppressing the lawless bands in south western Malwa. In return for his services he was granted certain lands in the district. During the Mahratta invasion of Malwa in the early part of the eighteenth century, Anup Singh, fourth in descent from Kesho Das, was the Raja of Thandla, now Jhabua, and his brother Indra Singh, was Raja of Amjhera, now lapsed to Gwalior. On the conquest, followed by the division of Malwa, the tribute from Jhabua fell to the share of Holkar. Subsequently, in return for the help promised by Holkar to Bahadur Singh, infant son of Indra Singh, to restore him to the gaddi of Jhabua, an annual tribute of Rs. 35,000 was imposed. Owing to the distracted condition of the country, Holkar was never able to realise the tribute: and an arrangement was made by which Holkar, by way of security for the payment of the tribute, took certain villages in the districts of Thandla and Petlawad and reserved to himself three fourths of the sayar of the whole State. He also received assignments amounting to Salim Shahi Rs. 15,333 on certain of the feudatory Thakurs of the State, who in addition pay British Rs. 5,153-11-3 to their own Ruler. Such was the relative position of the two States on the British Government becoming paramount: and the arrangement was confirmed by Sir John Malcolm, although no written engagement was concluded.

In 1821, in consequence of the disturbed state of the country and the imbecility of Raja Bhim Singh, he was required to abdicate in favour of his son Partab Singh. The arrangements for the administration of the State were made through the mediation and under the guarantee (No. VII) of the British Government. Bhim Singh died in 1829: and on his death the three Parganas of Ranapur, Kanas and Bhagor, retained by him on his abdication for maintenance, reverted to the State. Partab Singh died in 1832 and was succeeded by his adopted son Ratan Singh. Owing to the disturbed conditions in the State at the time, it was for some years taken under the direct superintendence of the British Government.

In 1835, in order to terminate the dual government resulting from the arrangements for the collection of the tribute referred to above, it was arranged that Holkar's demands on the lands in Thandla and Petlawad, on the sayar collections and on the Jhabua Thakurs, should be leased to Jhabua for an annual rental of Rs. 35,000. The lease was for 5 years in the first instance, but was renewed for a further term of 5 years, at the end of which the arrangement previously in force was revived.

Ratan Singh died in 1840 and was succeeded by his infant son Gopal Singh.

Raja Gopal Singh did good service during the mutiny of 1857, in consideration of which he was allowed to exercise limited criminal powers within his State. All heinous offences are reported by the Darbar to the Political Agent, who ordinarily tries murders and other cases of exceptional importance in his own court, but has a discretionary power of making over to the Darbar for trial such cases as may seem advisable. The proceedings of the Darbar in such cases are subject to revision by the Political Agent. All sentences of death require confirmation by the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.

In 1864 the Raja agreed (No. VIII) to cede in full sovereignty such lands as might be required for a railway through his territories and to abolish all transit dues on through traffic.

In 1865 Raja Gopal Singh, having permitted the mutilation of a person confined under suspicion of theft, was fined Rs. 10,000 and required to settle a pension of Rs. 15 a month on the injured man, this pension being under the guarantee of the British Government.

In 1867 the Ruler of Jhabua was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

Frequent and vexatious disputes resulted from the joint system of government in Thandla and Petlawad and of sayar collection: and, in order to terminate them, an exchange of lands and villages was brought about in 1871, by which Petlawad remained with Indore and Thandla with Jhabua. All sayar dues were in future to be collected by Jhabua, who were to pay Salim Shahi Rs. 7,172 per annum for Holkar's three-quarters share in the whole State excepting Petlawad, which had passed to Holkar.

In 1887 the Raja abolished all transit duties in the State: and, on their abolition, the yearly sum of Salim Shahi Rs. 7,172, paid to Holkar, was reduced to its present figure of Salim Shahi Rs. 1,278. A further sum of Salim Shahi Rs. 1,400 is also paid to Indore to equalise the revenue of some of the transferred villages. The tribute of the Umraos, amounting to Salim Shahi Rs. 13,318, is still paid by them direct to the Indore State: and Salim Shahi Rs. 2,014 are also paid direct by the Jhabua Darbar on account of three Jagir Estates which have escheated to Jhabua.

In 1891 the Raja ceded, free of cost and with full sovereignty, the land required for the Ratlam-Godhra Railway which passes through his State.

Gopal Singh died in 1895 and was succeeded by his adopted son the present Raja Udai Singh, born in 1876, son of Thakur Raghunath Singh of Khawasa, a tributary of Jhabua.

Raja Udai Singh was granted full administrative powers in 1898. These were curtailed in 1900, but restored in 1918.

The area of Jhabua is 1,336 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 123,932; and the revenue Rs. 3,49,997.

The State pays Rs. 1,271-3-0 a year towards the cost of the Malwa Bhil Corps.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 24 Cavalry, 74 Infantry and 211 Armed Police with 4 serviceable and 5 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

2. BARWANI.

The Ranas of this State are Sisodiya Rajputs of the Udaipur family, who separated from the parent stock about the fourteenth century. From the beginning of the eighteenth century the power of the Ranas of Barwani gradually declined; their country, originally of considerable extent, was devastated by the Mahrattas; and at length only a strip of the Satpura range, 80 miles in length, with the lowlands on either side, remained to them. They did not, however, become tributary to any of the Malwa Chiefs. Mohan Singh was Rana at the time of Sir John Malcolm's settlement of Malwa. He was succeeded by his son Jaswant Singh.

In 1861, owing to the incapacity of Rana Jaswant Singh, the State was taken under British management and remained so until 1873, when it was restored to the Rana, on the understanding that his continuance in power would depend on his ability to administer his State rightly. On the death of Jaswant Singh he was succeeded by his brother Indrajit Singh, the administration of the State remaining in the hands of the Diwan. In 1883 Rana Indrajit Singh, in order to test his capacity for ruling, was put in charge of the Anjar pargana of his State. The experiment proving fairly successful, he was recommended for further powers: and in January 1886 full administrative authority in his State was conceded to him, on the distinct understanding that the measure was tentative and that, should it fail, it would be necessary to revert to the former arrangement.

In 1867 the Ruler of Barwani was granted a permanent salute of 9 guns.

A claim was preferred by Holkar in 1868 to sovereignty over the village of Datwara, situated in the heart of Barwani, on the ground of possession at the time of Sir John Malcolm's settlement. This was disproved by the evidence, which showed that the village had been granted by the Chief of Barwani in 1771 as a service jagir to Naro Ganeshji, Diwan of Ahalya Bai of Indore, and that for some years after 1812 the Barwani State, having resumed the jagir, received the revenues of the village. There was no evidence to show how the village passed from the successors of the Diwan to the Maharaja of Indore; but, as the grant to the Diwan did not include sovereignty, and as the Maharaja failed to show that he held it on a different tenure, Government pronounced his claim to be untenable. In 1886 Holkar's right to collect excise revenue in the village of Datwara was disputed by the Barwani State: and it was decided that, as Holkar's status in that village was simply that of a jagirdar, he, in common with other jagirdars, had no title to the excise revenue of Datwara.

In 1908, to avoid future disputes, the State, with the sanction of the Government of India, purchased the Indore State's rights in the village for Rs. 50,000.

Rana Indrajit Singh died in 1894 and was succeeded by his son Rana Ranjit Singh. During his minority the administration of the State was carried on by a Superintendent under the direct control of the Political Agent. He was invested with full ruling powers on the 12th January 1910.

In 1911 Rana Ranjit Singh was granted the title of His Highness, with a personal salute of 11 guns.

During the Great War Rana Ranjit Singh served in France in 1915.

In 1916 Rana Ranjit Singh, was granted a sanad conferring on him certain powers, to be exercised by him personally, in criminal cases. In 1921 he received a Kharita (see Part II, Bhopal No. XXXVIII) conferring upon him and his successors enhanced criminal powers to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by the subjects of the State or others. The Kharita does not, however, apply to any criminal case in which the person accused or any of the accused are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants. In extending the powers the Government of India desired that persons sentenced to death, transportation, or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General, the consideration of which would be the subject of communication between the Agent to the Governor-General and the Chief: and that, in the case of a sentence of death, effect should not be given to such sentence until intimation of the passing of the sentence had been given to the Agent to the Governor-

General who, after awaiting the presentation of a petition for mercy, would communicate with the Ruler regarding the execution of the sentence.

In 1921 the permanent salute of the Ruler of Barwani was enhanced to 11 guns.

Rana Ranjit Singh, died on the 21st April 1930 and was succeeded by his son the present Rana Devi Singh, born on the 19th July 1922, during whose minority the administration is being carried on by a State Council.

The area of Barwani is 1,178 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 120,150; and the revenue Rs. 10,31,495.

The State pays Hali Rs. 4,000 a year towards the cost of the Malwa Bhil Corps.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 19 Cavalry, 247 Armed Police and 7 Artillery men, with 2 serviceable and 11 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

3. ALI-RAJPUR.*

The early history of this State is very uncertain; but it appears to have been founded by one Anand Rao Rathor about 1440. When the British power was established in Malwa, the State was under the control of an adventurer named Musafir Makrani. Partab Singh, the Chief of Ali-Rajpur, had died leaving a nephew Kesari Singh, who endeavoured to supplant Partab Singh's posthumous son Jaswant Singh. Kesari Singh was driven out by Musafir, who was the only Makrani leader allowed by the British Government to settle in Malwa. He had long been manager of Ali-Rajpur and was recognised as manager of the State during the minority of Jaswant Singh. An Engagement (No. 1X) was mediated in 1818 between him and the Dhar Darbar by which, in lieu of tribute, alleged to have formerly been Rs. 20,000, the sayar duties in Ali-Rajpur were made over to Dhar.

The sayar duties, however, were not only unproductive, but the collection of them by Dhar officials led to disputes. To remedy these difficulties, the first arrangement effected was an agreement on the part of the Dhar State to pay a sum of Rs. 1,200 a year to Ali-Rajpur in commutation of all claims of individuals on the sayar duties. By this settlement, all pretext for interference on the part of the officials of Ali-Rajpur was obviated. Disputes, however, still continued. For this reason, and with a view to promoting facilities of commerce with Gujarat, the British Government procured from Dhar the cession of the tribute of Ali-Rajpur at the time when Dhar made over Berasia to British management,* and agreed to pay Dhar Hali Rs. 10,000 a year in lieu of the tribute claimed by Dhar from Ali-Rajpur. This sum is collected from Ali-Rajpur by the British Government and paid to Dhar. The tribute having been alienated from Dhar, all supremacy of that State ceased as regards Ali-Rajpur.

Jaswant Singh died in 1862, leaving a will by which he divided the State between his two sons. It was a question whether this partition should be permitted. The neighbouring Chiefs were consulted by the Political Agent: and it was at last decided by the British Government that the will should be set aside and that Gangadeo, the elder son, should be recognized as heir to the Chiefship, subject to a provision in land for his younger brother.

In 1864 the Rana undertook (No. X) to give, with full jurisdiction, any lands that might be required for the construction of a railway.

In 1867 the Ruler of Ali-Rajpur was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

The incompetence of Gangadeo, and the anarchy which had prevailed since he was entrusted with power, compelled the British Government in 1869 to depose him and take the State under management. Muhammad Najaf Khan was appointed Superintendent, and Gangadeo's brother Rupdeo was associated with him in the administration, with a view to his being properly trained for the duties which would ultimately devolve upon him as Chief. The allowance of the deposed Chief was fixed at Rs. 1,000 a month.

Gangadeo, whose excesses had rendered him imbecile for several months previous to his death, died in 1871 and Rupdeo was recognized as his successor; but it was decided to make no change in the management of affairs until he should prove himself capable of administering the State. Rana Rupdeo was entrusted tentatively with the management of affairs in 1873, on the understanding that his continuance in power would depend on the manner in which he carried on the administration. He died in 1881 without male issue.

As the privilege of adoption had not been granted to the deceased Chief, the State might have been treated as an escheat to Government. It was decided, however, to forego the right, and to appoint a successor to the gaddi. After carefully investigating the qualifications and claims of several persons, including the Chiefs of Dharampur and the Thakurs of Mayagaon and Phulwal, the choice of Government fell upon Bijai

* See Dhar, supra.

Singh, the Thakur of Sondwa, then a minor, whose family was an offshoot of the direct line of the Ali-Rajpur Chiefs and whose claims were warmly supported by the Ranis and the most influential persons in the State.

The succession of Bijai Singh was, however, displeasing to Jit Singh, Thakur of Phulwal, who in the time of the previous Chief had, on account of his wealth and influence, ranked above the Sondwa Thakur. Owing to the lax administration of the Diwan, and more particularly by reason of his interference with the hereditary customs of the Bhil Patels and Tarwis, the Bhil population had for some time been in a discontented state. Thakur Jit Singh, taking advantage of this, induced the Bhil and Bhilala leaders, Bhawan and Chitu, to join him in a rising in which many Makranis, headed by Dad Muhammad, joined, as well as a number of Vilayatis from Gujarat and Khandesh. The malcontents plundered the towns of Nanpur, Bhabra and Chaktalla, and threatened Ali-Rajpur; but on the arrival of the Malwa Bhil Corps they dispersed, and Dad Muhammad, the Makrani leader, was shot in a skirmish.

Eventually the leaders, Chitu and Bhawan, were captured and brought to justice. Thakur Jit Singh escaped into Gujarat, where he soon after died; and his Estate was forfeited and lapsed to the State. When the rising had been put down, the claims of all concerned were examined, the hereditary rights of the Bhil Patels and Tarwis were restored, and Thakur Jawan Singh, of Jhaknaoda, in Jhabua, was appointed Superintendent of Ali-Rajpur.

In 1887 all transit duties were abolished throughout the State.

In July 1890 Government sanctioned the tentative administration by Rana Bijai Singh of the parganas of Nanpur and Katali; but, before he could be invested with these limited powers, he died on the 16th August 1890.

As Bijai Singh left no male issue, his cousin Partab Singh of Sondwa was selected in 1891 by the Government of India to succeed him. At the same time it was intimated that, as there were no heirs, direct or adopted, the State had again become liable to be treated as an escheat; and that Partab Singh succeeded in virtue of his selection by the Government of India, and not as a consequence of any relationship, natural or artificial, to the late Chief. A claim to the Chiefship, which was advanced by the Dharampur family on this occasion, was rejected. Rana Partab Singh, who was born in 1878, was formally installed in March 1892. During his minority the State was managed by a Kanidar under the supervision of the Political Agent. He was granted administrative powers in January 1904.

In 1911 the hereditary title of Raja was conferred (No. XI) on the Ruler of Ali-Rajpur.

In 1915 Raja Partab Singh was granted a sanad conferring upon him certain powers, to be exercised by him personally, in criminal cases: and in 1921 he received a Kharita (see Part II, Bhopal, No. XXXVIII) conferring upon him and his successors powers similar to those granted to the Ruler of Barwani (q.v.).

In 1920 Raja Partab Singh was granted a personal salute of 11 guns: and in 1921 the permanent salute of the Ruler of Ali-Rajpur was enhanced to 11 guns.

The area of Ali-Rajpur is 836 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 89,364; and the revenue Rs. 5,50,690.

The State pays Rs. 1,271-3-0 a year towards the cost of the Malwa Bhil Corps.

Under the reorganisation scheme of January 1921, the authorised strength of the State Forces consists (1930) of:—

Cavalry	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	*
Infantry	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	79

The following other State forces are maintained:—

Cavalry	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	23
Armed Police	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	:	160

The State also possesses 2 serviceable and 2 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

4. JOBAT.

The Jobat family are Rathor Rajputs, being an offshoot of the Ali-Rajpur family. The founder of the family is stated to have come originally from Fyzabad in Oudh in the train of the Rajput Chiefs who spread over Malwa, and to have acquired his possessions by his own exertions, making Jobat his residence.

In 1864 Rana Ranjit Singh agreed (No. XII) to cede such land as might be required for a railway passing through his territories.

Ranjit Singh died in 1874 and was succeeded by his son Sarup Singh, who died in 1897 and was succeeded by his son Indrajit Singh.

Indrajit Singh abdicated in March 1916 leaving no heir. The Government of India selected, as his successor, the present Rana Bhim Singh, second son of the Thakur of Borjhar Jagir, a collateral of the ex-Chief. Rana Bhim Singh, who was born on the 10th November 1915, was installed on the 18th June 1917. During his minority the administration of the State is carried on by a Superintendent under the direct orders of the Political Agent.

All transit duties have been abolished in the State.

* Not yet organised.

The Rana exercises full criminal powers except in cases exclusively triable by a Session Court, which are tried by the Political Agent. The Rana has full civil powers, but in cases of value over Rs. 10,000 a regular appeal lies to the Political Agent, with a further appeal to the Agent to the Governor-General, who is the High Court on both sides in matters beyond the powers of the Chief. The Political Agent has revisionary powers, both in Civil and Criminal cases, for the prevention of gross injustice.

The area of Jobat is 131 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 18,296; and the revenue Rs. 1,08,232.

The State maintains a force of 4 Cavalry and 45 Armed Police.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

5. KATHIWARA.

The early history of Kathiwar is obscure. The Thakurs are Jadon Rajputs. Thakur Zorawar Singh, on his death in 1865, was succeeded by his brother Bahadur Singh, who died in 1903 and was succeeded by his grandson the present Thakur Onkar Singh, born in 1891.

The Thakur exercises full powers in revenue and civil matters, and those of a Magistrate of the First Class in criminal cases, residuary jurisdiction being exercised by the political authorities.

The area of Kathiwar is 70 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 5,200; and the revenue Rs. 47,803.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

6. MATHWAR.

The Thakurs of Mathwar are Puar or Prammar Rajputs, said to have sprung originally from the same family as the Puars of Dhar.

Thakur Ram Singh was found guilty of harbouring rebels in 1859 and forfeited his right to the State, the administration of which was assumed by his son Onkar Singh. On the death of Onkar Singh in 1865, his infant son Ranjit Singh succeeded. During the minority of Ranjit Singh, the management of the State was temporarily entrusted to the Ali-Rajpur Darbar, in accordance with the wishes of the deceased Thakur. In 1869, on the deposition of Gangadeo, Chief of Ali-Rajpur, the management was entrusted to Muhammad Najaf Khan, Superintendent of Ali-Rajpur.

Ranjit Singh died in 1901 and was succeeded by the present Itana Bakhat Singh, born in 1870, brother of the Jagirdar of Partabpura and the nearest relative of the late Thakur.

The Thakur exercises full powers in revenue and civil matters and those of a Magistrate of the First Class in criminal cases, residuary jurisdiction being exercised by the political authorities.

The area of Mathwar is 129 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,695; and the revenue Rs. 10,997.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

7. RATANMAL.

The early history of Ratanmal is very obscure. The Thakurs are Puar or Prammar Rajputs.

On Thakur Abhey Singh's death in 1878, his son Dhirap Singh succeeded. He died in 1899 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Dasrath Singh, born in 1892. During his minority the State was managed under the supervision of the Political Agent. It was made over to the Thakur in May 1916.

The Thakur exercises full powers in revenue and civil matters, and those of a Magistrate of the First Class in criminal cases, residuary jurisdiction being exercised by the political authorities.

The area of Ratanmal is 32 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,790; and the revenue Rs. 38,403.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

8. BAKHATGARH.*

The Thakur of Bakhatgarh pays annually to Dhar Hali Rs. 16,502 under a Settlement (No. XIII) made in 1818. In 1819 a dispute between the Thakurs of Bakhatgarh and Kachhi Baroda was settled (No. XIV) through British mediation, and the claims of the Bakhatgarh Thakur on the villages of Dhangikheri and Dudwal were recognised. That portion of the engagement which relates to these two villages is still in force; but the former part of the engagement, regarding the Mandloi dues, is said to have been modified by Sir Claud Wade in 1842.

In 1853 Thakur Bhagwant Singh succeeded his brother Sawai Singh, who was the son and successor of Pirthi Singh, the Chief with whom the settlement was originally made. Bhagwant Singh died in 1869 without having adopted an heir, and left the selection to his widow. Her choice, with the consent of the Dhar Darbar, fell on Partab Singh; and this was confirmed by the British Government.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 7 of Schedule No. 1 and Nos. 18 and 45 of Schedule No. III.

Partab Singh died in 1892, having adopted Sardar Singh of the Bhambori family, to which he himself also belonged; and his succession was sanctioned by the Government of India. Sardar Singh died in 1912 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Rai Singh.

In 1901 Thakur Sardar Singh claimed that the villages of Bhat Bamanda and Barodia, which are mentioned in the Sanad of 1818, but which have long been in the possession of Kachhi Baroda, should be restored to him. Government decided in 1904 not to admit the claim, on the ground that Kachhi Baroda had been in uninterrupted possession of these villages for over a hundred years.

The area of Bakhatgarh is 66 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 10,414; and the revenue Rs. 74,192.

9. BHAI SOLA OR DOTRIA.

Under a Settlement (No. XV) made in 1818, Thakur Chandra Singh engaged to pay annually Rs. 2,501 to Dhar. Chandra Singh was succeeded in 1839 by his brother Hamir Singh, and he in 1842 by his adopted nephew Bhim Singh. He died in 1892 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Onkar Singh.

The area of Bhaisola is 27·7 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,401; and the revenue Rs. 24,777.

10. BHARUDPURA.*

Two engagements were mediated in 1820 and 1821 with the Dhar State by Sir John Malcolm on behalf of Manrup Singh, Bhumia of Bharudpura. The first (No. XVI) granted six villages in pargana Dharampuri in perpetuity on an annual payment of Rs. 525, one village on an annual payment of Rs. 201 and fifteen Bhil paras or hamlets, some of which have been taken out of the Bhumia's possession as a result of subsequent decisions by the political authorities. In consequence of a subsequent agreement between the Bhumia and the Dhar State, without the mediation of the British Government, he now pays only Rs. 327 for the three villages still in his possession. The guarantee is held still to extend to that portion of the original settlement that is still in force by the terms of the subsequent modified engagement.

By the second (No. XVII) Manrup Singh was to receive Rs. 500 annually from the Dharampuri pargana, and was answerable for all robberies between the Man and Karam rivers. In view of the disappearance of his liability for watch and ward, and for payment of compensation in case of thefts, the Bhumia now receives British Rs. 211-13-10.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 6 of Schedule No. III.

The Bhumia also holds (No. XVIII) the village of Kanadipura in Mandu in perpetuity, paying Hali Rs. 40 a year: and in return holds himself responsible for all robberies in the village, and is liable to render military service.

Udai Singh, son of Manrup Singh's son Bishan Singh, died in 1893 and was succeeded by his eldest son Sawai Singh, who died in 1895. On his death the Government of India recognised the succession of his son the present Bhumia Mukat Singh.

The present Estate consists* of four villages and eleven hamlets or Bhil paras held from Dhar.

In 1839 Bishan Singh granted Chiktiabar and other lands to his brother Amar Singh. The last holder, Kishen Singh, died in 1908 without heirs. The family arrangement of 1839, which, though countersigned by Captain Sandys, the Political Agent, was not recognised as a separate guarantee, then ceased, and Chiktiabar reverted to Bharudpura.

The area of Bharudpura is 32 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,046; and the revenue Rs. 13,838.

11. CHHOTA BARKHERA.†

According to the original Settlement (No. XIX) mediated in 1820 by Sir John Malcolm between the Bhumia of Chhota Barkhera and the Dhar State, the Bhumia was to have held two Inam villages and five on farm, on payment of Rs. 853. In 1822, however, by mutual agreement between the Bhumia and the Dhar State, without the knowledge of the British Government, the arrangement was altered, the Bhumia relinquishing four of the five villages and retaining in his possession one village for which he now pays Rs. 151. He was also to hold jointly with the Bhumia of Mota Barkhera (q.v.), fifteen paras but the Dhar Darbar actually gave possession of only eleven which were subsequently partitioned between the two, the Bhumia of Chhota Barkhera retaining six and Mota Barkhera five. In the original lease the Bhumia was made answerable, jointly with the Bhumia of Mota Barkhera, under penalty of forfeiture of his villages, for robberies in fifteen villages. The guarantee is held still to extend to that portion of the original settlement that is still in force under the subsequent modified engagement.

The Estate consists* of three villages and six hamlets held from Dhar. The Bhumia is also in actual possession of the village of Gulba, one of the eight guaranteed villages held by the Bhumia of Mota Barkhera (q.v.) from Gwalior; which, in the division between the two Estates of Mota and Chhota Barkhera, passed to Chhota Barkhera and has been held by that Estate ever since.

The area of Chhota Barkhera is 28 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,582; and the revenue Rs. 25,547.

12. GARHI OR BHAIKAKHO.†

The Estate of Garhi was founded by Barjor Singh, third in descent from Jujhar Singh, the first of the Rajgarh family who settled in Kothide. By the mediation of Sir John Malcolm in 1819, (No. XX) Barjor Singh and his cousin Hathi Singh (who went to Kothide) were jointly granted by the Dhar Darbar six villages in the pargana of Dharampuri, viz., Pipalda, Balwari, Lodhipura, Dudhi, Kailabao and Bhodal. In return they were to be answerable for robberies committed by Bhils of their villages and were not to harbour robbers. Their claims on ten paras or hamlets were also recognised. Hathi Singh, however, relinquished his claim on the villages; three were given up to the Dhar State and the remaining three, Pipalda, Balwari and Lodhipura, were granted on lease to Barjor Singh. The guarantee is held still to extend to that portion of the original agreement which is in force by the terms of the subsequent modified agreement.

Bhumia Nahar Singh was fourth in descent from Jujhar Singh. He was the son of Barjor Singh, who was included in Sir John Malcolm's settlement, and succeeded his brother Lachman Singh in 1864. He died in 1890 and was succeeded by his adopted son Raghunath Singh, whose succession was sanctioned by the Government of India in February 1892. At the same time the status of Garhi as a guaranteed Bhumat was affirmed. Raghunath Singh died in April 1930 and the question of a successor is still under consideration.

The present Estate consists of three villages—Pipalda, Lodhipura and Balwari; and three Bhil paras—Piplaj, Inlipura and Dehrya—held from Dhar.

The Bhumia of Jamnia is descended from Nadir Singh, the principal freebooter in the western Vindhya at the time of the settlement of Malwa.

In 1806 Nadir Singh received from Scindia a Sanad (No. XXI) granting him in perpetuity four villages in Dikthan pargana on payment of Rs. 251 annually. This Sanad, which was guaranteed by Sir John Malcolm, bears an endorsement dated in 1820, and this was probably the date of the guarantee, though the grant ran from 1806. Sir John Malcolm also mediated an agreement by which Nadir Singh was to receive from Holkar a tanka of Rs. 2,564 and to protect the country from Jam to Nalchha.

On Nadir Singh's expulsion from Malwa, his son Bhiman Singh received from Scindia, in 1819, a Sanad (No. XXIII), guaranteed by Sir John Malcolm, granting him the village of Kunijrod on payment of Rs. 401 annually. The Bhumia now pays the Gwalior State Rs. 997, including cesses, for the five villages.

In 1820 Bhiman Singh received, through the mediation of Sir John Malcolm, a Sanad (No. XXIV) continuing to him the tankas which his father had received from Holkar (see No. XXII, under which the Bhumia receives tankas totalling Rs. 2,505 from various districts): and in the same year Sir John Malcolm mediated an Agreement (No. XXV) between Holkar and Bhiman Singh for the lease of the village of Kheri on Ijara Istimrar tenure, at a rent of Rs. 701, from which an abatement of Rs. 150 was made for the protection of the Durjanpur pass.

In 1821 Sir John Malcolm mediated an Agreement (No. XXVI—see also note to No. XVII) between the Dhar State and Bhiman Singh, under which he received Rs. 65 from the Dharampuri pargana on condition of holding himself responsible for robberies. In view of the disappearance of his liability for watch and ward, and for payment of compensation in case of thefts, he now receives Hali Rs. 32-8-0.

In 1833 Bhiman Singh received (No. XXVII) the village of Dabar in Dharampuri pargana, on a quit-rent of Rs. 150.

In 1852 Bhiman Singh's lease from Holkar of the village of Kheri was continued (No. XXVIII) at an increased rent of Rs. 901. It has been decided by Government that the Bhumia's rights in this village,

* Malcolm's "Malwa", Nos. 4 and 5 of Schedule No. II, and Nos. 15, 16 and 22 of Schedule No. III.

as secured by the mediation of Sir John Malcolm in 1820, were guaranteed in perpetuity.

In 1868 an enquiry was made into the claims of Scindia, Holkar and Dhar to some of the 47 hamlets or paras held by the Bhumia of Jamnia independently of the lands guaranteed to him by Sir John Malcolm, over which Nadir Singh and his successors had exercised a quasi-independent jurisdiction ever since the settlement of Malwa. Looking to the length of time which had elapsed, and to the inconclusive and doubtful nature of much of the documentary evidence that had been adduced in support of these claims, Government decided to maintain the existing arrangements and to continue to the Bhumia the exercise of jurisdiction within the 47 paras, subject only to the control of the Political Agent and without interference on the part of the authorities of the adjoining States. A Sanad (No. XXIX) was granted to the Bhumia in 1871, confirming him in the possession of the 47 hamlets. An appeal against this decision was preferred by Holkar, but Government declined to re-open the case.

The Bhumia also receives an allowance of Rs. 80 per mensem from the British Government in virtue of his hereditary office of Risaldar in the Bhumia Police.

Bhiman Singh was succeeded by his son Moti Singh, and he in 1863 by Hamir Singh, who died in 1924 and was succeeded by his eldest son the present Bhumia Raghunath Singh.

The Estate consists* of 47 villages held from the British Government, one from Dhar, one from Indore and five from Gwalior.

The area of Jamnia is 39 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,042; and the revenue Rs. 33,624.

14. KACHHI BARODA.†

In 1818 a Settlement (No. XXX) was made by Sir John Malcolm with Bhagwant Singh of Kachhi Baroda, by which the Thakur received sixteen villages, subject to an annual payment of Rs. 9,459 to Dhar, and engaged to be responsible for the peace of the villages. Bhagwant Singh died in 1856 without direct heirs. The matter was not reported to the Government of India; but, under instructions from Sir R.

Hamilton, then Agent to the Governor-General at Indore, the Dhar State was informed that, as the Thakurai had become vacant, the guarantee of the British Government was at an end. Bhagwant Singh's widow, however, adopted Dalel Singh: and the adoption was confirmed by the Dhar State.

In 1864 the case came under the notice of Government: and it was decided that the abolition of the guarantee was contrary to the policy and previous practice of the British Government. The guarantee was therefore restored.

Thakur Dalel Singh died in 1896 and was succeeded by his eldest son Zalim Singh, who died in 1906 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Beni Madho Singh.

In 1901 the Thakur of Bakhatgarh claimed the two villages of Bhat Bamanda and Barodia, on the ground that they were mentioned in the Sanad granted to him in 1818; but it was decided in 1904 that, as the villages had been in the uninterrupted possession of Kachhi Baroda for more than a hundred years, they should remain in the possession of Kachhi Baroda.

The area of Kachhi Baroda is 34 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 7,455; and the revenue Rs. 54,781.

15. KALI BAORI.

Two engagements were mediated by Sir John Malcolm in 1820 and 1821 between Bhumia Sawant Singh and the Dhar State. By the first (No. XXXI) the Bhumia pays Hali Rs. 501 yearly in perpetuity to the Kamasdar of Dharampuri, in consideration of which he holds six villages and is answerable for the prevention of robberies. By the second (No. XXXII) he received Hali Rs. 1,377 as well as Rs. 123 zāmindari from the pargana of Dharampuri, in return for which he undertook to guard the pargana and to be answerable for robberies. In view of the disappearance of his liability for watch and ward, and for payment of compensation in case of thefts, he now receives British Rs. 583-7-7.

The present Bhumia Sumer Singh, fifth in descent from Sawant Singh, succeeded his father Bhagwant Singh in 1909.

The Estate holds from Dhar, besides the six villages of Kali Baori, Rama Dhama, Walipur, Hasanpur alias Kala Pani, Dhapla and Chitri, the two Bhil paras of Titipura and Ramgarh.

The area of Kali Baori is 20 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 2,539; and the revenue Rs. 16,210.

16. KOTHIDE.

The Estate of Kothide was founded by Hathi Singh, third in descent from Jujhar Singh (see 12, Garhi or Bhaisakho). By the mediation of Sir John Malcolm in 1819 (see No. XX) Hathi Singh and his cousin Barjor Singh (who went to Garhi) were jointly granted by the Dhar Darbar six villages in the pargana of Dharampuri. In return they were answerable for robberies committed by Bhils of their villages and were not to harbour robbers. Their claim on the paras or hamlets was also recognised. Hathi Singh, however, relinquished his claim on the six villages, retaining the paras in his possession. The guarantee is held still to extend to that portion of the original agreement which is in force by the terms of the subsequent modified agreement.

Moti Singh, grandson of Hathi Singh, died in 1895 and was succeeded by his brother Daulat Singh, who died in 1901 and was succeeded by his son the present Bhumia Mohan Singh.

The present Estate consists of 9 Bhil paras held from the Dhar State:—

17. MOTA BARKHERA.*

The Bhumia has relations both with Dhar and with Scindia, settled by Sir John Malcolm in 1820. By the settlement with Dhar (No. XXXIII) he was to hold in the pargana of Dharampuri seven villages on a payment of Rs. 1,526 yearly; in the pargana of Nalchha three villages on a perpetual rent of Rs. 201; and in the pargana of Jahangirpur one village in perpetuity on payment of Rs. 61 annually. He was also to hold jointly with the Bhumia of Chhota Barkhera 15 Bhil paras but the Dhar Darbar actually gave possession of only 11 which were subsequently partitioned between the two, the Bhumia of Mota Barkhera retaining 5 and Chhota Barkhera 6. He was to be answerable for robberies within his limits, under penalty of forfeiting his villages. The Bhumia now pays Rs. 866 only for three villages in Dharampuri, four having been given back, and the payment having been reduced by agreement with the Dhar State, without the knowledge or consent of the British Government, in 1823 (see last document under No. XXXIII). The guarantee, however, is held still to extend to that portion of the original settlement that is still in force under the subsequent modified engagement.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", Nos. 8 and 14 of Schedule No. III.

The original settlement with Scindia (No. XXXIV) was given to Bhumia Fateh Singh. By this the Bhumia is to hold certain villages in the Sagor pargana in perpetuity, paying a revenue of Rs. 1,503 besides dues (as to which see No. XXXVII) which raise the amount of his payments to Rs. 1,641. The Bhumia also holds (No. XXXVI) in perpetuity five villages in Scindia's pargana of Dikthan; for these villages he now pays Rs. 1,403-8.

Bharat Singh, grandson of Fateh Singh, died in 1896 and was succeeded by his adopted son Daulat Singh, who died in 1912 and was succeeded by his elder son the present Bhumia Nain Singh.

The Estate of Mota Barkhera consists* of 7 villages and 5 Bhil paras held from Dhar, and 8 villages held from Gwalior.

The area of Mota Barkhera is 52 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 4,782; and the revenue about Rs. 53,000.

Kathoria.—The family of Kathoria is an offshoot of the Mota Barkhera family.

In 1834, owing to disputes between Chain Singh and Hate Singh, son of Fateh Singh, a Settlement (No. XXXV) was effected by Captain Sandys, under which the village of Kathoria (one of the villages held from Dikthan by Mota Barkhera through Sir John Malcolm's mediation) was awarded to Chain Singh in return for an annual payment of Rs. 361-8-0 to Mota Barkhera. The Bhil para of Shikarpura (one of the paras held jointly from Dhar by Mota and Chhota Barkhera through Sir John Malcolm's mediation but subsequently partitioned between the two) was also awarded to Chain Singh, who became responsible for the yearly payment of Rs. 2 per plough (now 50 per cent. of the land revenue) to the Darbar, and also for the payment of zamindars' haks. Two hundred and fifty bighas of cultivated land in two villages of Mota Barkhera were also granted rent-free to the Bhumia, and Rs. 14 yearly on account of bheth in seven villages.

The present Bhumia Kharak Singh, fourth in descent from Chain Singh, succeeded his uncle Kishor Singh in 1916.

The gross revenue of the Estate is Rs. 4,420.

The Thakur pays to the Dhar State Hali Rs. 18,044 under an Engagement (No. XXXVIII) concluded with Thakur Sawai Singh in 1818, through the mediation of Sir John Malcolm.

Thakur Sawai Singh died in 1849, and was succeeded by his son Dalpat Singh, who died in 1900 leaving no heir, natural or adopted. Kunwar Bharat Singh, younger son of the Raja of Sailana, was eventually adopted by the Dowager Thakurain of Multhan and was selected by the Government of India as the successor of Dalpat Singh.

The area of Multhan is 100 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 11,221; and the revenue about Rs. 91,000.

19. NIMKHERA.†

Under a Settlement (No. XXXIX) effected by Sir John Malcolm in 1820, the Bhumia holds the village of Tirla in hereditary succession, paying annually Hali Rs. 500 tanka, and is answerable for all robberies between Dhar and Sultanpur, under penalty of forfeiture of the village. The Bhumia further pays Rs. 60 as zamindari and dami bhet.

The original grantee was Sheo Singh, who was succeeded by his son Bhima Singh, and he by his adopted son Kanak Singh. In 1863 Government sanctioned the adoption by Kanak Singh of his cousin Daryao Singh as his successor, in the event of failure of direct male heirs. Kanak Singh died in 1864 without issue, and Daryao Singh accordingly succeeded to the tanka. Daryao Singh died in 1894 and was succeeded by his eldest son Indrajit Singh, who died in 1918, without male issue, and was succeeded by his brother Daulat Singh. He died in 1922, and was succeeded by his eldest son the present Bhumia Ganga Singh.

The area of Nimkhera is 107 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 5,353; and the revenue Rs. 61,677.

20. RAJGARH.‡

The Bhumia held on lease from Dhar 12 villages in the Dharampuri pargana. By a Deed (No. XL) executed in 1821 he relinquished 10 out of the 12 villages and retained possession of the remaining two villages of Chandawar and Bhawania on a yearly payment of Rs. 302, and an agreement to keep the roads free from thieves, and to be answerable for all robberies.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 1 of Schedule No. III.

† Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 4 of Schedule No. III.

‡ Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 3 of Schedule No. III.

At the same time an Agreement (No. XLI) was mediated by Sir John Malcolm, under which the Bhumia received Rs. 500 from the Dharampuri Kachehri in addition to British Rs. 21 from the zamindars. In return he was held answerable for all robberies in the pargana. In view of the disappearance of his liability for watch and ward and for payment of compensation in case of thefts, he now receives British Rs. 211-13-10. In 1823 the Bhumia entered into a fresh Engagement (No. XLII) with Dhar, without the knowledge of the British Government, for the lease of one only (Bhawania) of the two villages retained by him in 1821, on a payment of Rs. 101. The guarantee is held still to extend to that portion of the original agreement that is still in force under the subsequent modified agreement.

In 1846 Sir R. Hamilton mediated for the Bhumia a confirmation (No. XLIII) of his haks in Hasilpur under which he now receives Rs. 50 yearly from that Kachehri, and has possession of 12 bighas of irrigated land in Sihod, together with other dues in that village.

In 1869 the claims of Holkar and Dhar to the villages of Rajgarh and Dhal, which had been in the undisputed possession of the Bhumia of Rajgarh since the settlement of Malwa, were investigated: and it was decided by Government that the Bhumia should enjoy the same authority as he had hitherto exercised in the villages in question, subject only to the control of the Political Agent, and without any interference on the part of Indore or Dhar. A Sanad (No. XLIV) was granted to the Bhumia in 1871 confirming him in the possession of these villages. He also receives an allowance of Rs. 30 per mensem from the British Government in virtue of his hereditary office of Jemadar in the Bhumia Police.

In a boundary dispute between Dhar and Indore it was decided that two of the paras, Helabawar and Bhedlia, with their puras, held from Dhar (see No. XI) belonged to Indore State. The Bhumia was dispossessed of them in 1860 by Indore, who contested his right to their possession: and it was only in 1887 that he was again put in possession of them. He holds them on the same terms as he holds Jamanjhiri from Dhar. The Bhumia deals with the Indore Darbar in respect of the villages of Helabawar and Bhedlia.

The original tankadars were Mohan Singh and his son Fateh Singh. Hathi Singh succeeded his father Fateh Singh; and Chain Singh succeeded his brother Hathi Singh in 1864. Chain Singh died in 1899, and was succeeded by his eldest son Ratan Singh who died in April 1930 and was succeeded by his nephew the present Bhumia Ram Singh.

The Estate consists of three villages—Rajgarh and Dhal with their puras held from the British Government, and Bhawania from Dhar—and three Bhil paras—Jamanjhiri with its puras from Dhar, and Bhedlia and Helabawar with their puras from Indore.

The area of Rajgarh is 36 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 728; and the revenue Rs. 18,438.

(III) LAPSED ESTATES.

LARAWAT.

In 1818 Vithal Rao Puar was granted (No. XI/V), under British mediation, the shares of the States of Dhar and Dewas in the pargana of Sundersi. He died in 1834 and was succeeded by his son Madho Rao, who died, without heirs, in 1849. It was then decided that the Estate should lapse; but it was continued, under British mediation (No. XLVI) to Ramchandra Rao, illegitimate son of Madho Rao, for life. On his death in 1879, the Estate lapsed to the Dhar and Dewas Darbars.

TRANSLATION of an ENGAGEMENT executed between HOLKAR and DHAR in regard to Mouza Bijore in Pergunnah Dhar and Mouza Sungrode in Pergunnah Depalpore in Indore, in the time of GENERAL MALCOLM, dated 19th Shual 1236, A.H., corresponding with 20th July 1821.

For many years there has been a dispute between the zemindars of mouza Bijore in pergunnah Dhar and mouza Sugrod in pergunnah Depalpore regarding lands situated on the boundaries of these two villages. As no agreement could be come to, Maharajah Mulhar Rao Holkar and Rajah Ramchunder Rao Puar of Dhar referred the case for decision to Major General Sir John Malcolm who deputed Captain Dangerfield to the boundaries of the villages to enquire into the merits of the case. Captain Dangerfield, having surveyed the disputed lands, submitted a report to General Malcolm, who finally decided that both parties should at all times respect the boundaries fixed and agreed to by the disputants in the time of the late Ahilla Bai and raise no objection thereto; and that both parties should agree to the measurement made by Captain Dangerfield and recorded in the Government office. For their guidance this deed recording the boundary settlement made by the Bai Sahiba is written. The lands lying between the bank of the Chumbul and the point which the Bai Sahiba has marked by sugar mill stones have, after due enquiries, been reserved as grazing land for the cattle of the aforesaid two villages. Neither of the contending parties will ever in future raise any dispute in respect to the boundaries of the above lands, or bring forward any claim thereto. The cattle of both villages shall graze without let or hinderance on those lands. No person shall be permitted to cultivate the above grazing lands. The Bijore people will cultivate the remaining land and none of the contending parties shall interfere with such cultivation. The lands of the village of Sugrod having been measured under the superintendence of Janardan Trimbak Amil of mouza Sugrod in pergunnah Depalpore, Sundar Ramaji, karkoon of Holkar, Beniram in the employment of the Puar Circar, and the patail and patwari of Bijore in pergunnah Dhar the boundaries thereof have been defined as follows :—

The eastern boundary extends to the bank of the Chumbul and the western boundary to the mosque. Boundary pillars have been erected on the east, west, north and south. The lands which lie between the mosque and the boundary pillars measure 804 beegahs. The lands which formed the subject of dispute, and which have been reserved as pasturage for cattle and will ever continue so, stretch eastward to the pillars erected on the boundary of Bijore in pergunnah

Dhar; westward to the pillars erected on the boundary of the arable lands of mouza Bijore in pergunnah Dhār; southwards to the pillars erected on the boundary of Sheogarh in pergunnah Depalpore; and northward to the pillars erected on the boundary of motūza Shāhada in pergunnah Depalpore. The above terms define the boundaries which have been fixed.

This engagement has been executed by the contending parties.

RAMCHUNDER RAO PUAR, of DHAR, as follows,—1821.

ARTICLE 1.

Rajah Ramchunder Rao Puar consents to cede in perpetuity to the Honourable Company the district of Bairsea and the tribute of Allee Mohun.

The Honourable Company stipulates, in consideration of these two cessions, to pay annually to Rajah Ramchunder Rao Puar, his heirs and successors, the sum of one lakh and ten thousand Rupees of the Indore or Oogoin currency.

ARTICLE 3.

Whereas it was agreed by the 6th Article of the Treaty concluded between the Honourable Company and the State of Dhar on the 10th January, A.D. 1819 (12th of Rubbee-ul-Awul 1234 Hegira, and 14th Poos Soodee 1875 Sumbut), that the district of Bairsea should, in compensation of a loan from the British Government to Dhar of two lakhs and fifty thousand rupees, remain in possession of the British Government for a period of five years, viz., from the 27th March, A.D. 1819 (29th Jemmadec-oos-sanee, 1234 Hegira, and the 15th Chyte Soodee 1876 Sumbut), till the 27th March, A.D. 1824 (29th Jemmadec-ul-Awul 1232 Hegira and 15th Chyte Soodee ending 1880 Sumbut), it is to be understood that the arrangement remains undisturbed by any term of the present engagement, and accordingly the payment by the British Government to Dhar of one lakh and ten thousand Rupees will not commence till after the expiration of the five years aforesaid, that is, till the year 1881 Sumbut.

ARTICLE 4.

But, as the two cessions aforesaid are virtually made to the British Government from the date of this engagement, the British Government agrees, that from the date it commences to exercise the rights acquired by the cession of the Allee (Mohun) tribute, it will pay to Dhar at the rate of ten thousand Rupees per annum of Indore or Oogoin currency till the 27th day of March 1824.

ARTICLE 5.

The annual amount of one lakh and ten thousand Rupees of Indore or Oogoin currency, to be paid by the British Government to Dhar, will be liquidated by two equal instalments of fifty-five thousand Rupees each, viz., one in the month of Koowar and the other in the month of Ghyte of each Hindoo year. TRANSLATION of an ENGAGEMENT between BHIM SING, RAJAH of JHABUA, and KUAR PERTAB SING, bearing the signature of CAPTAIN PRINGLE and countersigned by G. WELLESLEY, ESQ., RESIDENT,—1821.

The following settlement was concluded between the Maharaja Bheem Sing and the Kuar Pertab Sing at Jhabooa on the 22nd August 1821, viz., that the Maharaja Bheem Sing shall make over to his son Pertab Sing the charge of the concerns of the country, together with sayer duties and pergunnahs and executive authority according to the following detail :—

The talooka of Jhabooa.

„ „ Thandla.

„ „ Rajla.

„ „ Pitlawud.

Bhet Umraos, or the contributions of the nobles.

As aforesaid, the whole of the talookas, including Bhet Umraos, is made over to Kuar Sahib as well as Sebundeas, Mutasaddees, servants, etc.

The Maharaja retains in personal charge three talookas over and above the village of Kardawud of which he is to receive possession at the expiration of twelve months,—the talooka of Ranapoor, the talooka of Kanas, talooka of Bhagor; the kamdar of these villages to be nominated by the Rajah and to be under his control and obey his orders. The Kuar to attend to the Rajah's desires with respect to the talookas reserved by the Rajah and not to exercise direct authority in the Rajah's talookas. The Kuar is not to raise questions with regard to villages given to Paswanjee and Bapoo Lachhmun, Motijee, Salim Sing, etc. The above to be adhered to, and any neglect on either the Rajah or the Kuar's side will be known to the Circar (meaning British Government) who will make on the occasion what arrangements it deems most proper. Your letter No. 396 has been received desiring that the terms of the second Article of the engagement which ceded "full authority" should be changed into one giving "full sovereignty," and that the condition of the engagement being binding on the succeeding generations might be added.

In accordance therewith the following six Articles, with answers, are appended :—

 1819.

Whereas there has been a dispute between the Rajah Bhugwunt Sing of Kachee Baroda and the Thakoor Pirthee Sing of Bukhtgurbh Mundloi of Budnawur relative to his zemindaree rights and the village of Dhangee Kheree and the produce of some cultivated land at the village of Doodwall, the Rajah Bhugwunt Sing not having paid the dues for the space of forty years and continuing not to pay them, and having a jaghire grant of the village of Dhangee Kheree on which a tankha of Rs. 375 annually was established in favour of Mundloi, and which he (the Rajah Bhugwunt Sing) paid according to the burbust or annual usago of assessment of the pergannah, I have on enquiry found that according to this method of proceeding the dispute will never be terminated; and therefore to settle the difference, the Rajah Bhugwunt Sing of Kachee Baroda shall pay a tankha for the village of Dhangee Kheree from the beginning of the year Sumbut 1875, which shall be fixed at Oogein Rs. 694 annually including mall abwaub and extra charges, and shall pay Oogein Rs. 250 yearly on account of the produce of the 250 beegahs of cultivated ground of the village of Doodwall; total Oogein Rs. 944 shall be paid annually by the aforesaid Rajah to the aforesaid Mundloi and no excuse or evasion shall be made. If the aforesaid Rajah or his heirs shall make any evasion or raise difficulties in paying the sum on account of the village and the produce of the cultivated ground to the Mundloi or his issue, from that time the village and the portion of ground shall be taken out of the hands of the Rajah and given to the Mundloi, and the Rajah shall have no further claim upon the village or the ground.

Dated 15th October 1819, corresponding with 24th of Zilhij 1234 Hijree or 11th Kartick Boodee Sumbut 1876.

This agreement was concluded through my mediation this 11th October 1819.

TRANSLATION of an ENGAGEMENT executed to RAMCHUNDER RAO PUAR by MUNDROOP SING, POTAIL of Zillah BHEESAKHOOR and Zillah MANDOO.

Whereas Mr. Dangerfield has been appointed by the British Government to make arrangements for the suppression of robberies and for the improvement of the country, I through his mediation execute this deed to the Circar and acknowledge that if any Bhoomias, Turvees, Bheels or Bhamurs of my district commit robberies on the roads or in the villages, or if they steal any cattle, I will be responsible. I will remain in obedience to the Circar and receive the usual cesses such as damee, bhett, ghoogree, etc., in accordance with the receipts which may be found among the records of the old zemindars. I will not take those extra cesses which the potails and putwarees were during the disturbances compelled to pay. I will show to the Circar all the old documents which may be found in my possession, and in accordance with them I will take all the cesses. I will serve the Circar with fidelity. If any Bheel of my district commits theft, I will produce the thief and the stolen property. If the thief refuses to obey me, I will bring the Circar to the spot and point out the thief. If a Bheel of any other place commits robbery elsewhere and comes into my talooka, I will not give him an asylum; I will apprehend him and make him over to the Circar. If I fail to account for a theft committed in the elaka, the usual cesses such as bhett, ghoogree, etc., receivable by me, may be resumed by the Circar, I will make no dispute on account of bhett, etc., for villages for which there may be no receipts extant among the records. Being unable to improve the villages which I hold in farm and to pay the revenue thereof, I give them up to the Circar. The revenue of the peshcushee villages which have been settled with me I will pay to the Circar through the Zamindar. Should I object to pay the revenue, the Circar may resume peshcushee villages which I hold; I will of my own accord give them up to the Circar. Besides this the revenues which the Turvees have hitherto paid to the Circar shall also be discharged as usual.

Should any Bhumia or Bhils countenance the robbers the Sircar will have to give me assistance against them. TRANSLATION.

Formerly you used to collect from the villages attached to Killa Mandu in the Dharampuri Pargana, certain cesses, viz., Ghugri, Bhet, Rabla, Laganmandua and the other usual duties, and to levy directly from the Pargana and from traders Sayer duties in money at the Chowki of Baiganda and the Dol Chabutara on the high road. It has now been settled at Nalcha that a fixed amount will be paid to you through the Sirkar's kachery and you are no longer to levy duties from the people of the Pargana or from traders. Further, it is incumbent on you to come to an understanding with your relations, so that they may not complain to the Sirkar, and neither your own sepoys nor those of your relations are to go into the villages of the Pargana. You are to continue to receive the sum fixed by Government in lieu of cesses, and, with this exception, you have no other claim on the Pargana. If you make any claim, it will be considered void.

TRANSLATION of an ENGAGEMENT executed by FUTTEH SING, Potail, and his brother KOONWUR CHAEN SING of Barkhera, in Pergunnah Naulcha attached to the fort of Mandoo, to RAMCHUNDER RAO PUAR, through BAPOOJEE RAGHOONATH.

Whereas the Circar has issued an order to make arrangements in killa Mandoo, Naulcha, Dhurrumpooree, Pergunnah Dhar, to prevent the predatory excursions of the Bheels : therefore I represented that, in consequence of my villages having been laid waste, I have no means of employing sebundeas for the purpose of checking the Bheels ; and request that the Circar may be pleased to advance me such amount of money as may enable me to entertain 50 sebundeas for six months. I also promise that after six months, when my villages shall have been improved, I will serve the Circar and pay the sebundeas out of the income of the said villages, and if I fail to put a stop to the raids of the Bheels and Bhamas, I will refund from Bagree the amount paid to them in the six months. The sebundeas shall locate at the thannahs of Naulcha and Dhurrumpooree. I will without any objection act up to the orders of the Circar's Karkoon at the thannah. I will neither employ nor dismiss a sebundee without report to the karkoon. I will draw pay according to the rules of the mehal. I will serve wherever and whenever the Circar may direct me. I will adopt measures to prevent the Bheels and Bhamas committing plunder ; I will reside at the thannahs of Naulcha and Dhurrumpooree and serve the Circar. If I fail to put a stop to the robberies and plunders of the Bheels and Bhamas and to protect the roads, the Circar shall resume all the inam and Peshcush villages which I hold. And as the Circar has got the village of Pagara in Pergunnah Dhurrumpooree improved through a banker, I will give security for the amount of money which the said banker may have disbursed on account of the above village, and redeem in the course of two months, from 1st Maugh Boodee, the document which has been given to the banker for the purpose of its being returned to the Circar.

TRANSLATION of a ROOBOKAREE issued by CAPTAIN EVANS, Agent at Dhar, on the 7th January 1846.

Hutteh Sing, Bhoomia of Burkhera, represented to me that he holds five villages in Pergunnah Dekthan in istumrarree tenure; and that the kamaisdar realized from him, as rent of those villages, a sum more than mentioned in the lease and engagement; and prayed that the kamaisdar might be directed to collect from him such an amount of rent as is laid down in the engagement. The said Bhoomia having been desired by me to produce the perpetual lease of the five villages held by him said that the lease had been lost for some years. With a view to make an enquiry into the matter the kamaisdar of Dekthan was ordered to produce the engagement executed by the said Bhoomia as well as the annual statements of rent collected from him.

Ballajee Punt Dewan, on the part of the aforesaid kamaisdar, submitted this day to the Court statements of rent realized from the said Bhoomia from 1244 to 1252 Fuslee. From these it appeared that from 1246 to 1252 Fuslee the said Bhoomia paid yearly, as rent for the above five villages, a sum of Rupees 1,403-8 inclusive of cesses such as "sarkaree babtce," "zemindaree bhet," "girass," "bhet farkhatee," bhet, &c. The statements also showed that in 1244 and 1245 the Bhoomia paid yearly a sum more than the above amount.

It is therefore ordered that the said Bhoomia pay into the treasury at Dekthan the same amount of money as he has hitherto done.

No. XXXVII.

TRANSLATION of a ROOBOKAREE issued by CAPTAIN EVANS, Agent at Dhar, on the 16th September 1847.

Gobind Rao Karkoon and Mugun Lall Kanoongoe presented to me a petition on the part of the kamaisdar of Sagore, stating that Bhoomia Hutteh Sing of Barkhera holds three villages situated in the aforesaid pergunnah and praying that, besides the sum of Rupees 1,503, which has been laid down in the lease and engagement as the amount of rent for the above three villages, the said Bhoomia might be directed to pay the cesses or bhets due to amlahs, zemindars, furnavees, girassiahs, etc., as mentioned in the decision. With the petition they submitted a memorandum of the cesses for Rupees 144, viz., Rupees 72 on account of the bhet of the troops; Rupees 18 on account of the bhet of mehal kamaisdar; Rupees 48 on account of the bhet of zemindar; and Rupees 6 on account of the bhet of furnavees; and mentioned that out of the above amount of Rupees 144 a sum of Rupees 72 only was paid yearly during the last four years, and that the remainder was due. The said Gobind Rao Karkoon and Mugun Lall Kanoongoe were then asked to state why no petition was made before this, as the decision in question was passed four years ago, and to give proofs that they received the cesses according to the memorandum. They said in reply that they used to take cesses, "babtee," etc., from the aforesaid Bhoomia, and the local arbitrators having told them not to levy cesses, they wrote to their employer at Lashkar on the subject, but, not having received any answer from him, they were unable to act up to the decision. They also mention that they now, having received orders from the Lashkar to take cesses according to the decision, have waited upon me. In order to prove that they received the cesses yearly, according to the memorandum, for 16 years from the date of the lease to the date of the aforesaid decision, they submitted statements for that period. It appears that the bhet was paid every year. The said Bhoomia in answer asserted that, besides the rent laid down in the lease, he paid the sum of Rupees 72 on account of "bhets" due to amlahs, zemindars, and furnavees, from the date of the said decision to 1903 Sumbut. He further alleged that before the date of the above decision the kamaisdar used to take by force from him yearly Rupees 100 on account of "babtee kirkol," etc.; Rupees 197 on account of "doanni;" Rupees 54 on account of "amlah bhet," etc.; and Rupees 1,503 on account of rent, etc., after deduction of a trifling amount of "chuhoot" and "siropah." The Bhoomia also said that, with the exception of "zemindaree" and "furnavees bhets," all other cesses are paid.

The fact that the cesses, "amlah bhet," etc., were paid to the kamaisdar of Sagore has, in my opinion, been established by usage, and is borne out in documents. Hutteh Sing holds no paper in support of his assertion. He acknowledged to have paid the bhet. No proof was given to show that the statements submitted by the kamaisdar were false.

It is therefore ordered that the said Bhoomia be directed to pay yearly into the cutcherry at Sagore Rupees 72 on account of amlah bheth as well as the cesses, or bheths due to zemindar, furnavees, girassia, &c., according to the established usage of the pergunnah, and that a copy of this be given to the plaintiff and defendant respectively.

 No. XXXIX.

TRANSLATION of an ISTAMBAR PATTa granting in perpetuity the village of TIRLA in DHAR on the part of RAMCHUNDER RAO PUAR, Chief of DHAR, to SHEO SING BHUMIA of NIMKHERA in the HINDOLA PARGANA,—1820.

The above-mentioned village has been continued to the Bhumia and his predecessors by the Kamasdar and the Dhar Government in accordance with the royal grants enjoyed by them from ancient date on the following conditions :—

To protect the villages of the Dhar district from the borders of Sultanpur to the town of Dhar. None of the Bheels or robbers, etc., were to be permitted to rob the villagers and the inhabitants of Dhar of their cattle and property. No travellers or merchants were to be subjected to any injury or molestation.

The predecessors of the Bhumia held this village on the above conditions and paid annually to the Dhar State a tankha amounting to Hali Rupees 350 or three hundred and fifty only.

The Bhumia having failed to observe the conditions above specified during the present anarchy, the ryots, merchants and others suffered serious losses. The Dhar State in consequence confiscated the village of Tirla, and was put to great expenses on account of its management and repopulation and in erecting a fort and a wall.

As peace has now been restored to the country by the grace of God and the interference of the British Government, the Bhumia has been forced to fall back on the Dhar State. He requests that his ancestral village may be given back to him on the following conditions :—

That he will protect the road between Sultanpur and Dhar. That the inhabitants of the intervening villages as well as travellers will be protected by him from injury. That he will put down the robberies committed by Bheels and others. That he will be responsible for and make good all losses that may be caused by Bheel robbers to travellers, traders and ryots. That he will be always obedient to this Government, and will afford no shelter or refuge to robbers and malefactors. That he and his successors, generation after generation, will remain true to the above engagements. In default of which the Government is at liberty to confiscate the village.

In consideration of the services rendered to the State in former times by the Bhumia, it has been settled, through the mediation of Sir John Malcolm, that the village be restored to him on the above conditions in perpetuity, he paying to the Dhar State an annual sum of Rupees 500, Ujjain or Indore Currency, as tankha.

The terms of the settlements are as follows :—

	Rs.
The Bhumia is to pay into the Dhar Treasury the sum of—

By the following instalments from Sumbut 1877 ; he is to observe the above conditions and to get the village populated.

Should I make any objection the villages may be resumed, and I will have no claim on them. I will not give asylum to robbers. If any Bheel of my para commits a robbery, I will be held responsible for it ; I will produce the robber, and in failure thereof I will make good the loss. I will with fidelity serve the Circar and execute its orders. I will make arrangements for the protection of the roads of killa Mandoo, Naulcha, Dhar and Dhurrumpooree. If a theft be committed in any of the above places, or if cattle be stolen from the people, I will be held responsible for it.

The following are the three Bheel villages in my ilaka :—

The Circar may send a karkoon for the purpose of inspecting the above three villages ; I will without any objection pay revenue thereof to the Circar. I will adopt such measures as may prevent the Bheels of Mohunpore, Neemekhara, and Amarkooa from committing thefts ; if they commit a theft I will be held responsible for it. If the villages of Jehangerpore be settled with me, the Circar may send a karkoon to inspect them, and I will pay Rupees 3 per every plough. Whereas by the demise of Madho Rao Puar, the third share in Soondersee, otherwise styled the talooka of Larawut, comprising the villages of Larawut, Kamkhara Bulrea, Gola, Oomrot, and Tanda, its revenues, custom duties, and rights, have lapsed to us, and the Right Honourable the Governor General of India has been pleased to desire that the revenues of the said talooka, as above specified, be assigned to Ramchunder Rao Puar for the term of his natural life on payment by him annually, on the first day of January of each year, into the treasury at Indore of the yearly sum of Company's Rupees (1,000) one thousand, on our account, commencing from 1st January 1850: therefore, we the undersigned do assign for the term of his natural life, on the terms above specified, our third share of Larawut, as herein above described, to the above Ramchunder Rao.

THE SEAL OF ROOKMANGAD PUAR, CHIEF OF

THE SEAL OF HYBUT RAO PUAR, CHIEF OF DEWAS.

R. N. C. HAMILTON,
Resident, Indore.

2. MALWA.

This group includes the Treaty States of Dewas (Senior and Junior Branches) and Jaora: the holding of Panth Piploda, which is held directly from the British Government: the Mediatised Salute States of Ratlam, Sitamau and Sailana: the Mediatised State of Piploda: and the following Mediatised Estates (Guaranteed land or Tanka holders) which are noticed in alphabetical order:—

Bhojakheri.	Sadakheri (Sheogarh).

Borkhera (Dewas).	Sidri.

Kayatha.	Tal.
Kherwasa.	Tonk.
Khojankhera.	Uperwara.
Pathari.	Uplai.

Bhojakheri, which is in the Southern States of Central India and Malwa Agency, is noticed in this group although it has no guaranteed holding in Central India at all—its only guaranteed holding being the village of Sidra in Jhalawar State (see Vol. III, Rajputana, Part IV, Haraoti and Tonk Agency—Jhalawar). Kayatha, though in the Central India Agency (q.v., Part I of this volume), holds only from Dewas, and is therefore noticed in this group.

The Malwa Agency was in charge of the Commandant of the Central India Horse, with headquarters at Agar, until 1895, when it was placed under an officer of the Political Department, with headquarters at Neemuch.

So recently as 1861 the District of Malwa was subject to incessant inroads of Bhils from Banswara and Partabgarh: and in that year it was considered advisable to make an Engagement (No. I) with the frontier Thakurs, in whose districts the hill passes are situated, to combine to oppose the incursions of the Bhils.

Besides the Treaty State of Jaora and the direct holding of Panth Piploda, there were originally in the Malwa Agency the Mediatised

Bhatkheri.	Lalgarh.
Bhojakheri.	Narwar.

Kalukhera.	Uperwara.

In 1907 the two Dewas States, with their feudatory Estates of Pathari and Borkhera (Dewas), which had formerly been under the immediate supervision of the Agent to the Governor-General, were placed in charge of the Malwa Agency: and in 1908 the Sarangpur pargana of the two Dewas States, which had been in the charge of the Political Agent, Bhopal, was transferred to the Malwa Agency. About the same time the Estates of Bagli, Karaudia, Tonk and Uni came under this Agency.

In 1908 the following Estates, being feudatories of the Gwalior State, were transferred to the Gwalior Residency (see Vol. V., Gwalior Mediatished Estates):—

Ajraoda.	Kalukhera.
Bardia.	Karaudia.
Bichhraud I.	Lalgarh.
Bichhraud II.	Narwar.
Dabri.	Naugaon.
Datana.	Piplia.
Dhulatia.	Tonk.

In 1909 the Estate of Bhatkheri lapsed to the Indore Darbar.

In 1910 it was brought to notice that the grant of a quarter share in the village of Uplai, made by the Jaora Darbar to the Thakur of Uplai in 1840, had been mediated by Major Borthwick: and in 1912 the Government of India decided that the Thakur should be treated as guaranteed in this holding.

In 1921, on the separation of the Gwalior Residency from the Central India Agency, the Estate of Bagli was transferred to the Gwalior Residency.

In 1922 the Government of India cancelled the guarantee for the holdings of the Thakur of Uni except in regard to the payment of a fixed rent of Rs. 501 per annum.

The Estate of Larawat (in the Bhopal Agency) lapsed to the Dhar and Dewas Darbars in 1879 (see Southern States of Central India, Lapsed Estates).

In 1921 the Estates of Jawasia and Sarwan came under the settlement, made with Gwalior in that year, in regard to their guaranteed holdings from the Gwalior Darbar. In the same year, on the separation of the Gwalior Residency from the Central India Agency, it was decided that the Estates named below who, besides their holdings from Gwalior, either hold land or receive tankas from the States shown against their names, should deal with the Gwalior Residency in respect of their Gwalior holdings, and for the others with the Agency entered against their names:—

1. DEWAS.

[SENIOR AND JUNIOR BRANCHES.]

Dewas, as at present constituted, consists of two Branches, known as the Senior and Junior.

The Chiefs of both Branches are Mahratta Puars, connected with the Dhar house, and are, generally speaking, equal in rank, power, and authority. The first Chiefs were two brothers, Tukoji and Jiwaji, cousins of Udaji Rao the first Chief of the Dhar house, who came with the first Peshwa, Baji Rao, into Malwa. On the division of that province they obtained possession of Dewas, Sarangpur, and several other districts, yielding a nominal revenue of Rs. 2,42,900, but subject to a yearly payment of Rs. 26,000 to several Girasia Chiefs. To their revenue was added an assignment of the tribute of certain districts to the amount of Rs. 78,922, and at a later date the province of Hamirpur in Bundelkhand, yielding Rs. 75,000 a year, as well as the district of Kandoba in the Doab. The territory acquired in common was partitioned between the two brothers at a subsequent date.

For thirty years before the British occupation of Malwa, the Chiefs of Dewas had been plundered and oppressed by Scindia, Holkar and the Pindari Chiefs, and were deprived of most of the tributary payments as well as of Hamirpur, Kandoba, and other districts; but in 1818 the two Chiefs then in possession, Tukoji, the grandson of the Chief of the same name, and Anand Rao, his cousin, adopted son of the grandson of Jiwaji, were by Treaty (No. II) taken under British protection.

By article 7 of this treaty the two Chiefs agreed to “act by an union of authority and to administer their affairs through one public minister”; but by degrees this union was relaxed, until in 1841 a definite separation of administrative control was effected by each Chief appointing his own Minister. The two Branches are now virtually separate States with distinct lands, revenue and administration. The last matter determined in this connection was the apportionment between the two States of jurisdiction in the city of Dewas and in the town of Sarangpur. The latter arrangement was completed in 1889.

In 1828 the Chiefs of Dewas made over to the administrative charge of the British Government (No. III) the pargana of Bagod, an outlying district in Nimar which they could not efficiently control. The pargana was placed, for administrative purposes, within the limits of the Bhopawar Political Agency, under the direct supervision of the Political Agent. The annual surplus revenue of the pargana, after payment of all charges of administration, was paid to the Chiefs of Dewas.

By the Treaty of 1818 the Dewas State was required to provide a contingent of 50 horse and 50 foot, to be doubled when the revenues improved. In 1827 the contingent was raised to 75 horse and 200 foot which, with Holkar's contingent of 400 horse, formed the Eastern Malwa Contingent. On the amalgamation of the Eastern and Western Malwa Contingents, the obligation to supply a quota of troops was commuted to an annual contribution of Rs. 33,600 Hali coin, since converted into Rs. 28,474-9-2 British currency. This sum is now the only military contribution paid by the Dewas State, and is equally divided between the two Chiefs.

Both the Chiefs of Dewas rendered good service during the mutiny of 1857. In 1862 they received Sanads of Adoption (No. IV).

In 1864 the Chiefs of Dewas agreed (Nos. V and VI) to make over, free of cost, to the British Government lands that might be required for railway purposes; to allow compensation for private property taken up: to cede full jurisdiction short of sovereign rights; and to abolish all transit and other duties on goods passing by rail through their territory.

In 1879 the Estate of Larawat lapsed to the Dhar and Dewas Darbars in proportion to the tribute formerly paid by the Estate, namely two-thirds to Dhar and one-third to Dewas (see Southern States of Central India, Lapsed Estates).

In 1881 both Chiefs agreed (No. VII) to remit all transit duties on salt passing through their territories; and, to compensate them for the loss thereby incurred, Government engaged to deliver at Indore to each Chief one hundred maunds of salt free of cost. When the payment in cash to Holkar was substituted in 1883 for the payment in kind, it was considered advisable to put all the Chiefs in Central India on the same footing, and accordingly a Supplementary Article (No. VIII) was added to the original agreement, by which it was stipulated that the Government should pay to each of the Dewas Chiefs a sum of Rs. 412-8-0 annually in lieu of the original compensation in kind.

In 1885 the Chiefs of both Branches abolished all transit duties within their territories, with the exception of the duty on opium.

In 1890 both States ceded, free of cost, all land required for the Ujjain-Bhopal Railway.

In 1895 the States adopted British currency, in supersession of the Hali coins current till that year.

In 1901 the pargana of Bagod (see No. III) was restored to the Chiefs of Dewas and divided equally between the Branches, irrespective of treaty villages. The substance of the agreement entered into by the States is contained in a Memorandum (No. IX).

In 1906 both Chiefs gave, free of charge, all land in the Alote (Senior Branch) and Gurgucha (Junior Branch) parganas, required for the Nagda-Muttra Railway, and agreed to cede plenary civil and criminal jurisdiction over such lands (Nos. X and XI).

In 1910 the two States entered into an agreement, mediated by the Political Agent abolishing the duty on cotton exported to the ginning factories in either State.

2. DEWAS.

[SENIOR BRANCH.]

Tukoji Puar, one of the Chiefs who was taken under British protection in 1818, was succeeded in 1828 by his son Rukmangad Rao, commonly known as Khase Sahib.

He died in 1860, and was succeeded by his adopted son Krishnaji Rao.

In 1867 the Ruler of Dewas (Senior Branch) was granted a permanent salute of 15 guns.

From the time Krishnaji Rao took charge of his State, his affairs began to fall into disorder and his debts increased annually; he attempted to remedy matters by making over the management of affairs to his adoptive mother, but her administration was not successful. The debts rose to ten lakhs of rupees: and in 1875 it became necessary to place the State under an Indian Superintendent and to assign a suitable allowance to the Chief. In March 1881 the greater portion of the debts of the State having been paid off, and Krishnaji Rao having given proofs of improvement, he was permitted to associate himself in the administration with the Superintendent, whose designation was altered to that of Diwan.

In 1886 it was found necessary to revert to the form of administration sanctioned by the Government of India in 1881: and an Indian Superintendent was appointed to control the administration subject to the immediate supervision of the First Assistant (now Secretary) to the Agent to the Governor-General at Indore. In 1898 Krishnaji Rao was again invested with powers of administration, subject to certain restrictions.

Krishnaji Rao died in October 1899, leaving no heir, natural or adopted. Kesho Rao Bapu Sahib, elder son of Raja Krishnaji Rao's elder brother by blood, was recognised as his successor by the Government of India, and was subsequently adopted by Krishnaji Rao's widow. Kesho Rao, who was born on the 1st January 1888, was installed on the 4th April 1900 with the title of Tukoji Rao III. During his minority the State was administered by a Superintendent under the direct supervision of the First Assistant (now Secretary) to the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India.

Several questions in dispute between the Darbar and the Thakur of Pathari were decided during the minority. The villages held by the Thakur from the Senior Branch are not guaranteed: and the Agent to the Governor-General ruled that jurisdiction therein vested with the Darbar, to which the Thakur was bound to report crimes occurring within their limits; that the Darbar had a right to levy sayar dues, including opium cess, on the holding; and that the Thakur was liable to pay nazarana according to the rules obtaining in the State in respect of all similar holdings. The Estate of Jawasia stands on the same footing.

Raja Tukoji Rao was invested with ruling powers on the 24th February 1908, subject to certain restrictions which were withdrawn in May of the same year. Only the general obligation was imposed, to consult the Political Agent in important matters and before making any important change in measures which had been introduced during the minority.

In 1914 the village of Umrod, in the Sundarsi Pargana of the Dhar State, was transferred with full rights to Dewas (Senior Branch) in exchange for their assignments on the Nimanpur Pargana.

In 1918 the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. XII) on the Ruler of Dewas (Senior Branch).

In 1922 Maharaja Tukoji Rao granted a Permanent Constitution, which included the creation of a State Council and a Legislative Assembly. In this connection the Government of India desired to leave it on record that nothing in the scheme should be regarded as affecting the relations between the Government of India and the Darbar as established by Treaty, sufferance or usage.

The area of the State is 449 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 77,005; and the revenue Rs. 9,99,900.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 46 Cavalry, 105 Infantry and 22 Artillery men, with 2 serviceable and 11 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

3. DEWAS.

[JUNIOR BRANCH.]

Anand Rao Puar died in 1840 and was succeeded by his adopted son Haibat Rao who, in 1858, adopted a son on the understanding that, if a legitimate son of his body should be born, the son by adoption should relinquish all claims to the State. A legitimate son, Narayan Rao, was born in 1860 and succeeded Haibat Rao on his death in 1864. During his minority the State was managed by a kamdar, subject to the direct control and supervision of the Agent to the Governor-General.

In 1867 the Ruler of Dewas (Junior Branch) was granted a permanent salute of 15 guns.

Narayan Rao was entrusted with administrative authority in 1879. He died on the 19th January 1892, childless, and leaving no blood relations. In accordance with his wishes he was succeeded by his adoptive brother's elder son, the present Maharaja Malhar Rao, born on the 10th August 1877. During his minority the administration was under the direct supervision of the First Assistant (now Secretary) to the Agent to the Governor-General. He was invested with ruling powers in 1897; but in 1908 it was considered necessary, in the interests of the State, temporarily to impose some restrictions on his powers. These restrictions were removed in 1912.

The Darbar's right to levy sayar dues, including the opium cess, on the four villages held by the Thakur of Pathari from the Junior Branch, was confirmed in 1905.

In 1914, the villages of Tanda and Gowla, in the Sundarsi Pargana of the Dhar State, were transferred to Dewas (Junior Branch) in exchange for their assignments on the Nimanpur Pargana.

In 1916-17 the State entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement of the Indore State. The agreement was renewed with modifications in 1923 and 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

In 1918 the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. XIII) on the Ruler of Dewas (Junior Branch).

In 1922, on the cancellation by the Government of India of the guarantee for the holdings of the Thakur of Uni, the Estate was made over to Dewas (Junior Branch), on the understanding that the cancellation of the British guarantee meant rather its restriction to the maintenance of the Istimrar on a quit-rent of Rs. 501.

The area of the State is 419 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 66,998; and the revenue Rs. 6,18,550.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 51 Cavalry, 116 Infantry, 73 Armed Police and 22 Artillery men, with 8 serviceable and 2 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

4. JAORA.

Ghafur Khan, the first Nawab of Jaora, was brother-in-law of the predatory leader Amir Khan, whom he represented at the Court of Holkar when Amir Khan quitted Malwa on his expeditions into Rajputana. The lands which had been assigned to him by Holkar were guaranteed to him by the 12th article of the Treaty of Mandasor (Mandsaur) (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. II), on condition of his maintaining a body of 600 horse, the quota to be increased in proportion to the increasing revenue of his districts. Amir Khan himself claimed these lands, alleging that the grants had been made to him although Ghafur Khan's name had been used, and that he was entitled to them by virtue of his engagements with the British Government. Enquiry, however, showed that Ghafur Khan held them on his own account as a member of Holkar's government, and that his real dependence on Amir Khan, which was the origin of his influence with Holkar, had ceased before the war of 1817. Amir Khan's claim was therefore rejected.

Ghafur Khan was succeeded in 1825 by his son Ghaus Muhammad Khan, then only two years of age. The arrangements for the management of the State were made by the British Government; but, as Jaora was nominally subordinate to the Indore State, although really independent of it, the investiture of the infant Nawab was made in the name of Malhar Rao Holkar and confirmed by the British Government, and a nazarana of two lakhs of rupees was presented to Holkar. The elder widow of Ghafur Khan was appointed guardian, with her son-in-law Jahangir Khan as her agent; and they were required to keep open accounts of the State revenues for the inspection of the Resident at Indore. Two years afterwards, in consequence of gross mismanagement and neglect of the Resident's advice, the Begum was removed from the guardianship. It was also decided that, in the event of Ghaus Muhammad's death, the male relatives of Ghafur Khan should succeed in preference to his descendants in the female line.

In 1823 the quota of troops to be maintained was permanently fixed (No. XIV) at 500 horse, 500 foot and 4 guns. In 1842 this arrangement was commuted to a yearly contribution of Hali Rs. 1,85,810, when the Western Malwa Contingent, consisting of the troops furnished by Jaora, was amalgamated with the Eastern Malwa Contingent furnished by Holkar and Dewas. The contribution was reduced to Hali Rs. 1,61,810-4-0 in 1859 as a reward for the Nawab's services during the mutiny of 1857.

In 1862 the Ruler of Jaora received an Adoption Sanad (see Part II, Bhopal Agency, No. VII).

Nawab Ghaus Muhammad Khan died in 1865, and was succeeded by his son Muhammad Ismail Khan, then eleven years of age. It had been intended that, during his minority, Ghaus Muhammad Khan's mother should be the nominal head of a council of regency; but her death occurred within a few days of that of her son, and it was decided that the administration of the State should be carried on as in the lifetime of Ghaus Muhammad Khan, subject to the control and authority of the Political Agent in Western Malwa. Muhammad Ismail Khan was accordingly installed by the British Government in the name of Holkar, to whom, according to precedent, a nazarana of two lakhs of rupees was presented by the Nawab. In return Holkar offered a khilat of Rs. 5,000; but this, with the permission of the Government of India, was declined by the Nawab as being out of proportion to the nazarana.

Attempts were made by the Nawab of Tonk, on behalf of his step-sister, the eldest widow of Nawab Ghaus Muhammad Khan, to interfere with the arrangements for the succession to, and the management of, the Jaora State. For these proceedings he incurred the severe displeasure of Government; and he was forbidden to send any one to Jaora or in any way to interfere with the affairs of the State.

Protests also were made by Holkar against the grant by the British Government of a sanad of succession, and against the recognition and installation of the young Nawab without his (Holkar's) knowledge or consent. His claim to be consulted on the succession was untenable under article 12 of the Treaty of Mandasor, by which the British Government distinctly guaranteed Jaora to Nawab Ghafur Khan and his heirs on certain conditions: and it would have been inconsistent with the provisions of that article if Holkar had been allowed to intervene in the matter. The claim was also opposed to precedent, as no such reference had been made on the succession of Ghaus Muhammad Khan in 1825. Holkar's claims were therefore distinctly negatived: and his objections as regards the sanad of succession were viewed by Government with special dissatisfaction.

In 1867 the Ruler of Jaora was granted a permanent salute of 13 guns.

In 1874 Nawab Muhammad Ismail Khan was entrusted with the administration of his State, Hazrat Nur Khan, his father's chief adviser, remaining as Minister.

In 1881 an Agreement (No. XV) was made between the British Government and the Nawab for the abolition of all transit duties on salt passing through the Jaora State. By this agreement the British Government undertook to pay to Jaora a sum of Rs. 2,500 annually as compensation for the loss thereby caused to the State revenue.

In the same year Muhammad Ismail Khan dispensed with the services of Hazrat Nur Khan and wished to assume the sole management of the State himself; but, on the advice of the British authorities, a council of four was appointed to assist him in conducting the public business. The Nawab, however, objected to their attempt to control his expenditure, and the councillors gradually withdrew from their position of advisers; with the result that in 1885 the State finances showed a debt of over sixteen lakhs of rupees. A new Minister was appointed: and a loan of three lakhs, bearing interest at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, was made to the State by the British Government.

In 1887 the Nawab abolished all transit duties throughout his State, except on opium.

Muhammad Ismail Khan died on the 5th March 1895 and was succeeded by his son the present Nawab Muhammad Iftikhar Ali Khan born in 1883. During his minority the State was administered by his uncle as Kamdar, subject to the general control of the Political Agent.

At the time of the installation of the young Chief, the Indore Darbar raised the question of their right to depute an Agent and present a khilat; but the Government of India rejected the claim, and decided that the Nawab should be installed in the name of the Maharaja Holkar by the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India, and that the khilat should be presented on behalf of the Government of India. The representative of the Indore Darbar was allowed to attend the ceremony as a spectator only. The customary nazarana of Indore Hali Rs. 2,00,000 was paid by Jaora to Indore on the occasion.

Nawab Muhammad Iftikhar Ali Khan was invested with full administrative powers in April 1906.

In 1909 the claims of Ratlam, Jaora and Piploda to the village of Amargarh, in the Sarwan Estate, were rejected by the Agent to the Governor-General: and it was held that the lands belonged to Sarwan, under the suzerainty of Ratlam.

The permanent rate of exchange between the British and Salim Shahi currencies, for guaranteed payments due by the feudatories of the Jaora State to the Darbar as well as for the Darbar's payment to the Thakur of Tal, was fixed by the Government of India, with effect from January 1916, at British Rs. 100 equal to Salim Shahi Rs. 125. These orders did not apply to the payment due from Piploda State to the Jaora Darbar.

In September 1916 the Government of India abrogated the guarantee as mustajirs of the Malhargarh Thakurs (q. v., infra).

In 1916-17 Jaora, which contains the best poppy-growing lands in Malwa, entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement of the Indore State. The agreement was renewed, with modifications, in 1923 and 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

In 1922, on a representation made by the Indore Darbar for the attendance of the Nawab of Jaora at all State functions during the Viceregal Visit to Indore in 1918, and as regards the general status of Jaora vis-à-vis Indore, the Government of India re-affirmed the previous decisions that Jaora, though nominally a fief of Holkar, is really independent of him. As regards attendance at a Darbar at Indore, the Government of India called attention to the admitted fact that the Nawab had not attended any Darbar at Indore since 1874; and ruled that, whatever the practice may have been in times long gone by, such attendance could no longer be regarded as customary.

The Agent to the Governor-General has held that jurisdiction in the guaranteed holdings of the State vests with the Darbar; and that, though the Darbar are not entitled, as of right, to manage the Estates during a minority or owing to maladministration of the Estate holders, as a matter of political and practical expediency they have been permitted since 1922 to manage the Estates on condition that they consult the Political Agent on matters affecting the guarantee of the Estates.

In 1923 the Nawab's claim to feudatory rights over Piploda was held to be untenable by the Government of India, who re-affirmed their decision of 1905 that the Thakur of Piploda enjoyed the full status of a mediatised Chief.

In 1926 the Government of India held that the Thakurs of Borkhera (Jaora), Kherwasa, Sadakheri and Sirsi had established a prescriptive right to excise revenue in their holdings, or to compensation in lieu.

The area of Jaora is 601 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 85,788; and the revenue about Rs. 11,67,000.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 51 Cavalry, 125 Infantry, 235 Armed Police and 16 Artillery men, with 15 serviceable and 2 unserviceable guns.

The Malhargarh Thakurs.

In 1821 Agreements (No. XVI) were mediated between the Nawab and the Thakurs of Malhargarh for 7 villages; between the Nawab and Thakur Onkar Singh of Sanauda for 9 villages; between the Nawab and the Zamindar of Tal for 13½ villages; and between the Nawab and Thakur Chhatar Singh for 2 villages. About the same period similar agreements were mediated between the Jaora Darbar and other Thakurs by British officers. Accounts of the Thakurs in question and of the nature of their holdings and agreements will be found later.

The Thakurs of Malhargarh claimed the position of tributary jagirdars, but they were merely guaranteed lessees of the villages in their hands, the continuance of their holdings being dependent on their observance of the terms of their lease. Moreover, it was agreed that the rent was, according to established general custom, liable to increase from time to time, with reference to the value of the lands. The Government of India finally decided that this was their position.

The Thakurs being recalcitrant and having refused to accept a liberal settlement for 30 years offered to them by the Nawab, it was found necessary in 1885 to allow the Darbar to attach the villages of the Thakurs of Harsor and Manderi until they should submit to his terms. These and the other Thakurs in the same position refused submission and abandoned their villages; but, finding resistance to the orders of Government unavailing, they with one or two exceptions returned in 1886, and in 1890 all accepted the above settlement. This acquiescence, however, did not last long. The Thakurs continued to maintain an attitude of defiance to the orders passed, and remained obdurate in their claim to be treated as guaranteed istimrardars; until, in June 1916, on a memorial submitted by them conjointly with certain other unguaranteed Thakurs, the Government of India definitely decided that, unless the Thakurs signified in writing, within a specified period of time, their submission to the orders of Government which had already been passed, the guarantee would be withdrawn.

The Thakurs were notified of the decision and, on their failure to submit, the guarantee was finally and irrevocably cancelled in September 1916. The Darbar undertook, however, to make liberal arrangements for the Thakurs.

5. PANTH PIPLODA.

Panth Piploda, which now comprises $10\frac{1}{2}$ villages possessed by five different Thakurs, is held directly from the British Government without the intervention of any Indian State. In November 1928 the tract of Panth Piploda was declared to be a Chief Commissionership and the Agent to the Governor-General in Central India was appointed the Chief Commissioner and Local Government for the purpose of all enactments in force therein.

An assignment of the revenue of ten villages of Piploda and Mandawal, amounting to Rs. 11,761,* was originally made by the Peshwa Madho Rao I to the family of Gopal Sambaji, a Mahratta Pandit, and was renewed in the names of his nephews, Dhondu Gopal and Janardan Gopal, by the Peshwa Madho Rao II. By article 14 of the Treaty of 1817 (see No. XV, Volume VII, The Peshwa), the Peshwa ceded to the British Government all his territories and rights in Malwa. By this cession therefore the ten villages of Panth Piploda become British territory; but Government continued the state of things which had existed under Mahratta rule: and in 1821 Naru Dhondu and Wasudeo Janardan, sons of Dhondu Gopal and Janardan Gopal, received from Sir John Malcolm a Sanad (No. XVII), which was confirmed by the Supreme Government, whereby their right to receive tribute on ten villages in the district of Mandawal and the subah of Mandasor was recognized.

* Since 1870 payments have been made of Rs. 11,142-8-0 Hali and Rs. 622-11-0 Salim Shahi.

Naru Dhondu was succeeded in 1850 by his son Gopal Rao, who died in February 1906 and was succeeded by his son Dhondu Gopal alias Nana Sahib, born in 1863. Wasudeo Janardan died in 1868 and was succeeded by his son Janardan Wasudeo, who was of weak intellect and the management of his affairs was entrusted to a kamdar, subject to the control of the Political Agent. Janardan Wasudeo died in 1886 and was succeeded by his son Narayan Rao, born in 1870. He was entrusted with the management of his affairs in 1892. Govind has succeeded Narayan Rao on the latter's death in March 1929.

The grantees have no proprietary rights over the villages from which their assignment is drawn. To prevent disputes between the grantees and the proprietors, the cash assignment is paid through the Political Agent, who directly holds the jurisdiction over these villages. The proprietors were held responsible for the peace of the villages up to 1908 when, owing to maladministration, a Manager was appointed to discharge judicial functions and look after the revenue and general administration under the direction of the Political Agent. The cost of the administration is met from the revenues of the Estate, and the surplus is distributed among the Thakur proprietors.

The villages in the holding are at present held by the several Thakur proprietors as shown below:—

The area of Panth Piploda is 25.29 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 4,406; and the revenue about Rs. 57,700, out of which the revenue assignment is paid to the grantees.

Nazarana was taken on succession from the grantees of the cash assignment up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

(II) MEDIATISED STATES AND ESTATES.

1. RATLAM.*

The ruling family of Ratlam is descended from a younger branch of the Jodhpur family. The Raja of Ratlam was considered the principal Rajput leader in Western Malwa, and in consequence received voluntary allegiance and assistance from the neighbouring Rajput Chiefs. The famous Raja Ratan Singh, the founder of Ratlam, was killed at the battle of Fatehabad in 1658 and was succeeded by his eldest son Ram Singh. He was killed in battle in 1682 and was succeeded by his son Shiv Singh, who died without issue in 1684. His brother and successor Kesho Das incurred the displeasure of the Emperor Aurangzeb, who deposed him in 1695 and afterwards placed his uncle Chhatarsal on the gaddi. In 1701 Aurangzeb granted to Kesho Das the pargana of Titrod: and Kesho Das established himself at Sitamau, which he made his capital. Sailana, which originally formed part of Ratlam, became an independent State in 1730.

Parbat Singh was Raja of Ratlam in 1819 when, under an Engagement (No. XVIII) mediated by Sir John Malcolm between him and Daulat Rao Scindia, Parbat Singh agreed to pay to the Gwalior Darbar an annual tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 84,000, while Scindia undertook never to send any troops into the country or to interfere in any way in the internal administration or succession. This tribute was assigned to the British Government under the Treaty of 1844 with Scindia, in part payment of the Gwalior Contingent. It is now paid to the Government of India under the Treaty of 1860 with Scindia.

Parbat Singh died in 1824. He had no children: and, as disturbances were anticipated in the event of his death without proper arrangements for the succession, Sir John Malcolm recommended in 1821 that Balwant Singh, a cousin of the Chief of Salumbar, whom Parbat Singh had selected to succeed him, should be recognised. This was done, and Balwant Singh continued in possession of the State till his death in August 1857. He rendered good service during the mutiny, in recognition of which his adopted son and successor Bhairon Singh received a khilat of Rs. 3,000 and the thanks of Government.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 1 of Schedule No. I.

Bhairon Singh died in January 1864 and was succeeded by his son Ranjit Singh, aged two years. Mir Shahamat Ali, an officer of the British Government, was deputed to superintend the administration, and with him were associated Ranjit Singh's uncle and the Thakur of Sarwan. Under the careful management of Mir Shahamat Ali the debts of the State, which at the period of his deputation to Ratlam exceeded ten lakhs of rupees, were paid off.

In November 1864 the Raja agreed (No. XIX) to cede to the British Government any land required for railway purposes with plenary jurisdiction, and not to levy transit duty on through traffic.

In 1867 the Ruler of Ratlam was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns. In January 1877, on the occasion of the Delhi Darbar, this salute was enhanced to 13 guns; but, later in the same year, the enhancement was altered and made personal to Raja Ranjit Singh.

Ranjit Singh received independent charge of his State in 1880. His Minister, Mir Shahamat Ali, retired in 1881.

In 1881 the Raja agreed (No. XX) to abolish all transit duties on salt in his State, in consideration of a compensation of Rs. 1,000 a year. In 1885 he abolished all transit duties except those on opium.

In 1887 the British Government made an arrangement (No. XXI) between the States of Ratlam and Sailana, under which Ratlam received Salim Shahi Rs. 18,000 annually from Sailana as compensation for relinquishing the right to levy customs dues in Sailana. This arrangement was modified in 1902 by a fresh one, made directly between the two States (No. XXIII) under which Ratlam agreed to accept British Rs. 6,000 in place of Salim Shahi Rs. 18,000, and to exempt Sailana goods from customs and other cesses.

In 1890 the Government of India mediated an Agreement (No. XXII) between the Gwalior and Ratlam States for the construction of the Raniya-Kachhrod road passing through a portion of Ratlam territory, on payment of a lump sum of Rs. 4,370 as compensation by Gwalior to the Ratlam State. The Ratlam Darbar agreed not to exact any dues on Gwalior goods, except opium, passing through its territory along the road.

In 1890 it was decided to make a railway line from Ratlam on the Rajputana-Malwa system to Godhra, a station on an extension of the Bombay-Baroda line. In August and September 1891 the Ratlam, Sailana, Indore and Jhabua Darbars, through which States the line passes, agreed to cede all land required for it, free of cost and with full jurisdiction.

Raja Ranjit Singh died in 1893 and was succeeded by his son the present Maharaja Sajjan Singh, born in December 1879. During his minority the administration was carried on by a Dewan. He was invested with ruling powers in December 1898.

In 1909 the claims of Jaora, Ratlam and Piploda to the village of Amargarh, in the Sarwan Estate, were rejected by the Agent to the Governor-General: and it was held that the lands belonged to Sarwan, under the suzerainty of Ratlam.

During the Great War Raja Sajjan Singh served in France: and he also served in Afghanistan in 1919.

In 1916-17 the State entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement of the Indore State. The agreement was renewed, with modifications, in 1923 and 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

In 1918 the permanent salute of the Ruler of Ratlam was enhanced to 13 guns.

In the same year Raja Sajjan Singh was appointed Regent of Rewa, during the minority of the present Maharaja Gulab Singh: a post which he held until 1922.

In 1921 the hereditary title of Maharaja was conferred (No. XXIV) on the Ruler of Ratlam; who, in the same year, was granted a permanent local salute of 15 guns within his own territories.

In the same year the Ruler of Ratlam received a Kharita (No. XXV) removing the restrictions theretofore imposed on his powers and granting to him and his successors full criminal jurisdiction over subjects of the State. In 1930 he received another Kharita (No. XXVI) granting him and his successors criminal jurisdiction over all persons committing offences within his territories except Europeans, European British subjects, Americans and Government servants.

The area of Ratlam is 693 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 85,489; and the revenue Rs. 9,67,968.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 30 Cavalry, 81 Infantry and 136 Armed Police, with 5 serviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

2. SITAMAU.*

The Raja of Sitamau is descended from the same branch of the Jodhpur family as the Maharaja of Ratlam; Kesho Das, the founder of the house, having been the grandson of the famous Raja Ratan Singh of Ratlam. The origin of Sitamau dates from the beginning of the eighteenth century, when the revenues of Titrod (i.e., Sitamau) were granted to Kesho Das by the Moghul Emperor, in circumstances already mentioned in the Ratlam narrative.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 5 of Schedule No. I.

A tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 60,000 from Sitamau was guaranteed to Scindia by an Agreement (No. XXVII) mediated by Sir John Malcolm in 1820.

Raja Raj Singh of Sitamau did good service during the mutiny of 1857, and received from the British Government a khilat valued at Rs. 2,000.

In 1860, as a consequence of repeated representations from the Raja, Scindia remitted (No. XXVIII) Rs. 5,000 of the annual tribute due to him from Sitamau.

In 1865 the Raja agreed (No. XXIX) to cede any land required for railway purposes with plenary jurisdiction to the British Government, and not to levy transit duty on through traffic.

In 1867 the Ruler of Sitamau was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

Raj Singh, who was an able ruler, died in 1867 and was succeeded by his grandson Bhawani Singh.

In 1881 Bhawani Singh entered into an Agreement (No. XXX) with the British Government, by which the Darbar abolished all transit duties on salt in consideration of an annual compensation of Rs. 2,000.

Bhawani Singh died in 1885 and was succeeded by Bahadur Singh, elder son of Thakur Takht Singh of Chikla, second cousin of Raja Bhawani Singh. On this occasion Scindia put forward a claim to be consulted regarding the succession; but the claim was held to be inadmissible under the terms of the guarantee held by the Sitamau State. The Darbar also claimed to receive nazarana, but this too was overruled. It was held that Sitamau, being a mediatised State of the first class, was liable to the payment of nazarana to the Government of India alone.

In 1887 the Raja abolished all transit duties in his State, except those on opium and wood.

In 1896 the Raja of Sitamau raised the question of his precedence over the Raja of Sailana in darbar, on the ground of his descent from a senior branch of the family of Raja Ratan Singh, the founder of the Ratlam State. His claim was recognised by the Government of India, and orders to that effect were communicated to the parties concerned in 1902.

Bahadur Singh died in 1899, and was succeeded by his brother Sardul Singh, who died on the 9th May 1900. Owing to a failure of direct male issue, several claims were put forward to the vacant gaddi. The Government of India decided in favour of the present Raja Ram Singh, born in 1880, brother of the Thakur of Kachhi Baroda, on the ground of his descent from the senior branch of the family of Raja Ratan Singh.

In 1915 the State assumed responsibility for the maintenance of the Mandsaur-Sitamau road lying in its territory.

In 1916-17 the State entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement with the Indore State. The agreement was renewed, with modifications, in 1923 and 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

In 1921 the Government of India conferred on the Ruler of Sitamau and his successors, by means of a Kharita (see Part II, Bhopal Agency, No. XXVIII) enhanced criminal powers by removing the previous requirement that all sentences of death, transportation for life or imprisonment for life should be subject to confirmation by the Agent to the Governor-General. The Kharita does not, however, apply to any criminal case in which the person accused or any of the accused are Europeans, European British subjects, Americans or Government servants. In extending the powers, Government desired that persons sentenced to death, transportation, or imprisonment for life should be given every facility to present a petition for mercy to the Agent to the Governor-General: and that, pending the consideration of such petitions, executions of persons sentenced to death should be stayed. These powers may, in certain conditions, be delegated to a properly qualified Court. The Kharita may be suspended or revoked at the will of the Government of India.

The area of Sitamau is 201 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 26,549; and the revenue Rs. 2,59,191.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 15 Cavalry and 123 Infantry, with 1 serviceable and 5 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

3. SAILANA.*

Sailana originally formed part of Ratlam. In 1709, on the death of Raja Kesari Singh of Ratlam, his eldest son Man Singh succeeded to the lands forming the present State of Ratlam, and his second son Jai Singh to Sailana, which he made into an independent State in 1730.

In 1819 Sir John Malcolm mediated an Engagement (see No. XVIII) between the Raja of Sailana and Daulat Rao Scindia, under which the

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 2 of Schedule No. I.

Raja agreed to pay to the Gwalior Darbar an annual tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 42,000; while Scindia undertook never to send any troops into the country, or to interfere in any way in the internal administration or succession. By a separate Agreement (No. XXXI) concluded in the same year, the Raja bound himself to pay Scindia Rs. 75,000 as arrears of tribute. The annual tribute was assigned to the British Government under the Treaty of 1844 with Scindia, in part payment of the Gwalior Contingent. It is now paid to the Government of India under the Treaty of 1860 with Scindia.

Raja Lachhman Singh, with whom the original settlement was made in 1819, was succeeded by his son Ratan Singh who, having no sons, was succeeded by his uncle Nahar Singh, and he by his son Takht Singh, who died in 1850, leaving an infant son Dule Singh. The State was administered by the British Government till the mutiny of 1857, when it was put under a regency headed by the chief widow of Takht Singh. As an acknowledgment of the services rendered during the mutiny in preserving order and furnishing troops, the members of the regency received khilats. Raja Dule Singh was put in power in 1859.

In 1864 the Raja agreed (No. XXXII) to cede to the British Government, with full jurisdiction, any land that might be required for railway purposes, and not to levy transit duty on through traffic.

In 1867 the Ruler of Sailana was granted a permanent salute of 11 guns.

In 1881 an Agreement (No. XXXIII) was made between the Government of India and the Raja, by which he agreed to abolish all transit duties on salt, on receiving annually from the British Government 100 maunds of salt delivered free of cost at Indore. By a Supplementary Agreement (No. XXXIV) made in 1883, this compensation was commuted to an annual cash payment of Rs. 412-8.

In 1885, at the request of Raja Dule Singh, the Government of India recognised as his heir Jaswant Singh of Semlia, whom he had adopted. In consequence of the adoption of Jaswant Singh, the Semlia jagir devolved on his younger brother Ohhatar Singh in 1888.

In 1887 the British Government made an arrangement (see No. XXI) between the Ratlam and Sailana States, by which it was agreed that Sailana should in future levy their own customs duties, compensating Ratlam for relinquishing their right to levy customs dues in Sailana by an annual payment of Salim Shahi Rs. 18,000. This arrangement was modified in 1902 by a fresh one (see No. XXIII) made directly between the two States, under which the payment by Sailana was reduced to British Rs. 6,000.

In 1887 the Raja abolished all transit duties in his State, excepting those on opium.

In 1891 the Raja agreed to cede land, with full jurisdiction, for the Ratlam-Godhra Railway.

Dule Singh died in 1895 and was succeeded by his adopted son Jaswant Singh of Semlia. The Raja of Ratlam advanced some claims in connection with the talwarbandi on the occasion of Jaswant Singh's installation, but they were disallowed.

In 1896 Raja Bahadur Singh of Sitamau raised the question of the precedence of the Ruler of Sitamau over the Ruler of Sailana in darbar, on the ground of his descent from a senior branch of the family of Raja Ratan Singh. The claim was admitted by the Government of India, and in 1902 orders to that effect were communicated to the two Darbars.

Raja Jaswant Singh died on the 13th July 1919 and was succeeded by his eldest son the present Raja Dileep Singh, born on the 20th March 1891.

In 1921 a Kharita (see Part II, Bhopal Agency, No. XXVIII) was granted to the Ruler of Sailana, conferring on him and his successors, on certain conditions, enhanced criminal powers to dispose of trials of all classes of criminal offences committed within the State by the subjects of the State or others.

In 1923-24 the State entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement of the Indore State. The agreement was renewed, with modifications, in 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

The area of the State is 297 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 27,165; and the revenue Rs. 3,01,651.

The military forces of the State consist (1930) of 25 Cavalry, 46 Infantry and 111 Armed Police, with 3 serviceable and 1 unserviceable guns.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

4. PIPLODA.*

The Piploda family are Doria Rajputs, who emigrated several centuries ago from Giral in Junagadh.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 1 of Schedule No. I.

The Settlement (No. XXXV) of this Chiefship, under which a tribute of Salim Shahi Rs. 28,000 is paid to the Nawab of Jaora, in accordance with the 12th article of the Treaty of Mandasor (Mandsaur), was made with Prithi Singh by Sir John Malcolm in 1820. The Thakur receives from Dewas (Senior Branch) Rs. 138 a year as tanka on six villages and from the Junior Branch Rs. 115 on five villages in Jarhguchha. He also holds a grant of land in the village of Betikheri in the Alot district from Dewas (Senior Branch).

The settlement made in 1820 put the Thakur on the same footing as other mediatised Chiefs; but in 1844, when Sir Claud Wade was Resident at Indore, a new Deed (No. XXXVI) was executed between the Thakur and the Nawab of Jaora without the cognizance of the Government of India, by which the Thakur was placed in greater dependence on the Nawab, and the right of the Nawab to control the judicial administration of the Thakur was admitted. The existence of this deed was first brought to the notice of the Government of India in 1864; but it was resolved not to interfere with arrangements which had lasted twenty years, so long as no dispute should arise on the subject between the Thakur and the Nawab.

Thakur Prithi Singh was succeeded by his son Umed Singh, and he by his son Onkar Singh, who died in 1863 and was succeeded by his adopted son Dule Singh. He died in 1888 and was succeeded by his eldest son Kesri Singh.

In 1901 the Thakur of Piploda memorialised the Government of India in respect of a long standing dispute between him and the Jaora Darbar on the Darbar's alleged right to levy customs duty in Piploda. The memorial prayed that the muchalka executed between the Nawab of Jaora and the Thakur of Piploda in 1844 under the authority of Sir Claud Wade should be abrogated; that the attendance of a Piploda Vakil on the Jaora Darbar should cease; and that, instead of a division being made of the actual receipts of the sayar, a fixed sum equal to the average annual collection during the last ten years should be paid annually by Piploda to Jaora.

In 1905 the Government of India decided that the engagement of 1820 gave the Thakur of Piploda the full status of a mediatised Chief. While accepting the claim of the Jaora Darbar to half of the sayar revenues of Piploda, they did not recognise Jaora's right to interfere with the internal administration of Piploda: and they decided that the Darbar should only be paid through the Political Agent, their share of the sayar collections actually made by the Thakur himself. The contention of the Jaora Darbar, that the Thakur had no right to abolish sayar dues, was negatived; but it was ordered that, in the event of his doing so, the Darbar would be entitled to compensation. The engagement of 1844 was held to be binding: and the right of the Jaora Darbar to demand the attendance of a Vakil from the Thakur was confirmed.

In 1909 the claims of Ratlam, Jaora and Piploda to the village of Amargarh, in Sarwan Estate, were rejected by the Agent to the Governor-General: and it was held that the lands belonged to Sarwan, under the suzerainty of Ratlam.

In 1916-17 the State entered into an agreement with the Government of India for the production of crude opium, in circumstances already related in connection with the similar agreement of the Indore State. The agreement was renewed, with modifications, in 1923 and 1925 (see Part I, Central India Agency, No. XV).

Kesri Singh died in November 1919 and was succeeded by his son the present Rawat Mangal Singh, born on the 7th September 1893.

In 1921, as questions regarding the status of Piploda vis-à-vis Jaora and certain other cognate matters, had again arisen, a British officer was placed on special duty to investigate them. Piploda was unwilling to accept his decision: and the matters in dispute were eventually decided by the Government of India in 1923. As regards the status of Piploda, they held that the execution of the muchalka of 1844 had been obtained by coercion, and they were not prepared to allow any weight to it or to considerations arising from it. They re-affirmed their ruling of 1905 that the Thakur enjoyed the full status of a mediatised Chief, and definitely held him to be independent of Jaora and on the same footing as other mediatised Chiefs. The question of the compensation due to Jaora, for the abolition of sayar dues in Piploda, was also decided, by setting off Jaora's right to the dues against the right of Piploda to receive damu from Jaora on account of certain villages in the Tal and Mandawal parganas; both rights being formally recognised. As regards other points in dispute, the Government of India held that Jaora's claim to nazarana was unsustainable: and that recognition of succession, settlement of succession disputes, and administration during the minority of the Thakur, were matters for the decision of the Paramount Power. They declined to admit Jaora's demand for the attendance of the Rawat of Piploda at the Nawab's Darbars.

At the same time the Government of India authorised the use of the title of Rawat in official correspondence with the Chief of Piploda.

The Rawat exercises full criminal powers except in cases exclusively triable by a Session Court, which are tried by the Political Agent. The Rawat has full civil powers, but in cases of value over Rs. 10,000 a regular appeal lies to the Political Agent, with a further appeal to the Agent to the Governor-General, who is the High Court on both sides in matters beyond the powers of the Chief. The Political Agent has revisionary powers, both in civil and criminal cases, for the prevention of gross injustice.

The area of Piproda is 69 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 9,766; and the revenue about Rs. 1,14,000.

The State was liable to the operation of the Nazarana rules up to 1911 when, on the occasion of the Coronation Darbar, all such levies were abolished.

5. BHOJAKHERI.

The original Agreement (No. XXXVII) was mediated in 1820 with Rawat Durjan Singh, ancestor of the present holder, guaranteeing to him the village of Sidra in Gangrar Pargana on payment of Ujjain Rs. 100 to the Kotah State. In 1838 the village was transferred to the Jhalawar State, which now receives the payment. (See Vol. III, Haraoti and Tonk Agency, Jhalawar.)

Thakur Bhawani Singh died in 1912 and was succeeded by the present Thakur Dalpat Singh.

The area of Bhojakheri is 6 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,451; and the revenue Rs. 7,000.

6. BILAUD.

The original grant of Bilaud was made in 1818 by Nawab Ghafar Khan of Jaora to Hakim Mir Zafar Ali (No. XXXVIII). In 1819 Sir John Malcolm mediated the settlement of a dispute between the Nawab and the Hakim, on the terms stated in his certificate (the second annexure to No. XXXVIII). The existence of the guarantee to the Estate was lost sight of until 1885.

Zafar Ali died in 1824 and was succeeded by his son Muhammad Saman Ali, who died in 1875 and was succeeded by his son Muhammad Zamin Ali. He died in 1884 and was succeeded by his son the present Jagirdar Saiyid Ghulam Abbas.

The area of Bilaud is 4.58 square miles; the population 349; and the revenue about Rs. 3,200.

7. BORKHERA (JAORA).

The Thakur holds a Patta (No. XXXIX) signed by Major Borthwick in 1839, and a Parwana (No. XL) countersigned by Sir Robert Hamilton in 1845, in regard to the villages of Borkhera and Rewas. He pays an annual quit-rent of Salim Shahi Rs. 9,201 to the Jaora Darbar on the two villages.

Gulab Singh, with whom the settlement was originally made, was succeeded in 1850 by his son Zorawar Singh, and he by his nephew Nawal Singh in 1851. Bhairon Singh, who succeeded Nawal Singh in 1873, died in 1902 and was succeeded by his son Kesri (Kishore) Singh, who died in 1914 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Mor Singh.

The area of Borkhera is 7.15 square miles; the population 833; and the revenue Rs. 18,500.

8. BORKHERA (DEWAS).

The Thakur of Borkhera, in the Dewas State (Junior Branch), receives yearly tankas of Rs. 484-4 from the Dewas State (Senior Branch), and of Rs. 283-4 from the Junior Branch. The family hold no sanads authorising these grants, but a Parwana (No. XLI), addressed in 1818 by Sir John Malcolm to Thakur Zalim Singh, shows that the Thakur then enjoyed certain money payments from the State of Dewas. The amount of the payment is not entered in the parwana, but has since been ascertained.

In 1889 the Government of India decided that the Parwana of 1818 should be included in this publication.

Amar Singh, grandson of Zalim Singh, was succeeded by his son Ram Singh, who died in 1924 and was succeeded by his elder son the present Thakur Fate Singh.

9. JAWASIA.*

The Thakur of Jawasia receives, direct from the Darbars concerned, the following tankas:—

		Rs.	A.
From Dewas	(No. XLII)	1,793	0
"	(No. XLIII)	1,512	3

Sher Singh and Gulab Singh, the Thakurs with whom the original settlement was mediated, were succeeded by Bhairon Singh. He died in 1883 and was succeeded by Rawat Lal Singh, who died in 1900, and was succeeded by Fateh Singh. He died in 1921 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Gir Raj Singh.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", Nos. 23 and 44 of Schedule No. II.

† These parwanas show only Rs. 321 to be paid by Holkar. The amount given by Malcolm is Rs. 600.

10. KAYATHA.*

By an Engagement (see Note to No. LI) mediated in 1818, the Thakur receives Rs. 1,427 a year from the two Chiefs of Dewas. The settlement was made with Moti Singh and his son Durjan Sal. The present Thakur Partab Singh succeeded his father Sheodan Singh, son of Durjan Sal, in 1912.

11. KHERWASA.

Thakur Takht Singh received in 1839 a Patta (No. XLVIII), signed by Major Borthwick, for the village of Kherwasa: and this was confirmed in 1845 by a Parwana (No. XLIX) countersigned by Sir Robert Hamilton. The Thakur pays an annual quit-rent of Salim Shahi Rs. 5,001 to the Nawab of Jaora.

Takht Singh was succeeded by his son Bhagoti Singh in 1866, and he by his son Zorawar Singh in 1885. In 1887 Zorawar Singh was succeeded by his nephew the present Thakur Partab Singh.

The area of Kherwasa is 3.45 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 508; and the revenue Rs. 11,000.

12. KHOJANKHERA.

The Settlement (No. L) made in 1823 with Daulat Singh guaranteed to him the villages of Khojankhera, Bahadurpura and Arniagujar on payment of Salim Shahi Rs. 2,300 as rent to the Jaora Darbar; and also the rights of dami and sayar, on account of which he receives Salim Shahi Rs. 1,100. Some 10 or 15 years after the settlement, Arniagujar and half of Bahadurpura were resumed by the Jaora Darbar. The matter was brought to the notice of the Political authorities in 1886; when it was decided that there was no sufficient reason for intervening on behalf of the Thakur, who had previously made no complaint. The rent now paid to the Darbar is about Rs. 1,400 a year.

Thakur Bakhtawar Singh, grandson of Daulat Singh, died in 1901 and was succeeded by his eldest son Man Singh, who died in 1907 and was succeeded by his brother the present Thakur Dhul Singh.

The area of Khojankhera is 5.24 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 410; and the revenue about Rs. 6,900.

13. PATHARI.

The Thakur of Pathari receives a tanka of Indore Hali Rs. 2,519 from Dewas (Senior Branch) and Rs. 2,316 from the Junior Branch, under a Settlement (No. LI) mediated by Captain Borthwick and Sir John Malcolm in 1818. The Thakur with whom the original engagement was made was Mahabat Singh. The tanka is paid direct from the two States of Dewas.

* Malcolm's "Malwa", No. 27 of Schedule No. III.

The Thakur of Pathari also holds four villages* from Dewas (Junior Branch) which are regarded as formally guaranteed. His status in regard to these villages was the subject of dispute in 1869, 1885 and 1928, and on all these occasions it was held that the villages were guaranteed: a certificate (No. LII), granted in 1837 by Mr. Johnston, Assistant to the Resident at Indore, to Thakur Zorawar Singh, son of Mahabat Singh, having been considered to be strong corroborative evidence of the existence of a guarantee.

Onkar Singh, the present Thakur, succeeded his father Bakhtawar Singh, son of Prithi Singh, in 1894.

The area of Pathari is 15 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,527; and the revenue about Rs. 16,000.

14. SADAKHERI (SHEOGARH).

The Thakur received from the Nawab of Jaora, in 1839, a Patta (No. LIII) signed by Major Borthwick, regarding the grant of the village of Sadakheri: and this was confirmed in 1845 by a Parwana (No. LIV) countersigned by Sir Robert Hamilton. The Thakur pays to the Jaora Darbar a quit-rent of Salim Shahi Rs. 3,501 on the Sadakheri village.

These settlements were made with Gopal Singh, who was succeeded by his son Gambhir Singh in 1867, and he by his son Bahadur Singh in 1889. It was on the occasion of this succession that the existence of the guarantee was brought to notice. The succession was approved by Government: and it was notified that the Thakur was entitled to the protection of the Western Malwa Agency in respect of his guaranteed possessions.

Bahadur Singh died in 1896 and was succeeded by his brother Sadul Singh, who died in 1920 and was succeeded by his eldest son the present Thakur Raj Singh.

The area of Sadakheri is 60 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 5,053 and the revenue about Rs. 42,000.

15. SARWAN.

(For account see Vol. V, Gwalior Residency, Mediatised Estates. See also Panth Piploda, supra.)

* Rudarwas, Parbatipura, Gopalpura, Hirapur.

16. SHUJAOTA.

The Settlement (No. LV), which was originally made with Raghunath Singh in 1823, guarantees to the holder the villages of Shujaota, Salakhara and Piplia on payment of Salim Shahi Rs. 3,303 as rent to the Jaora State; and also guarantees the rights of dami and sayar.

The existence of the guarantee was brought to notice in 1884.

Khushal Singh, who succeeded in 1851, died in 1904 and was succeeded by his nephew the present Thakur Rup Singh.

The area of Shujaota is 5·7 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 385; and the revenue about Rs. 17,000.

17. SIDRI.

The original grant (No. LVI) from the Nawab of Jaora was mediated in 1824 by Mr. G. Wellesley, Resident at Indore, in consequence of a dispute between the Darbar and Thakuri Lal regarding the village of Sidri which, with some wells, had been held by the latter's family long before the foundation of the Jaora State.

Thakuri Lal, the original holder of the guarantee, died in 1863 and was succeeded by his son Gopal Singh. He died in 1886 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Gordhan Singh.

The area of Sidri is 1·81 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 272; and the revenue Rs. 4,004.

18. SIRSI.

The original Settlement (No. LVII) in respect of the three villages of Sirsi, Khemakheri and Khokhra, was made in 1839 by Major Borthwick with Thakur Bhawani Singh, to whom he also gave a Robkar (No. LVIII) for a quarter share of the village of Panchewa, under Piploda. This has recently (1927) been held to be guaranteed.

Bhawani Singh was succeeded, in 1841, by his nephew Dalpat Singh, who in 1845 received a Parwana (No. LIX) countersigned by Sir Robert Hamilton, confirming the original settlement with Bhawani Singh. The Thakur pays an annual quit-rent of Salim Shahi Rs. 12,301 to the Jaora Darbar on account of the three villages named in the original settlement.

Dalpat Singh was succeeded by Sarup Singh in 1872. He died in 1922 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Sambhu Singh.

The area of Sirsi is 7·56 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 941; and the revenue Rs. 16,000.

19. TAL.

Settlements between Thakur Chander Singh and the Jaora State were mediated by Mr. G. Wellesley, Resident at Indore. In 1821 the villages of Karwakheri and Melakheri were guaranteed to the Thakur in istimrari tenure (No. LX): and in 1822 the dami and other dues of the Tal pargana were guaranteed (No. LXI).

Chander Singh was succeeded by his son Jait Singh, who died in 1853 and was succeeded by his son Lachman Singh. He died in 1859 and was succeeded by his nephew Onkar Singh.

The extravagance of Onkar Singh brought him heavily into debt and in 1880 and subsequent years he applied to the Jaora Darbar for assistance. This was granted and arrangements were made in 1889 by the Darbar, without previous reference to the Political Agent, for managing the Thakur's Estate and paying off the debts. On the facts being brought to notice, it was decided that the arrangement concluded in 1889 by the Darbar with the Thakur should not be interfered with, so long as the status of the Thakur in respect of his guaranteed rights was not materially affected thereby, and provided that there was no infraction of the rule limiting to the holder's lifetime the power of alienating guaranteed property. The right of the Government of India to be consulted on all important points regarding the position and privileges of guarantee-holders, and to decide all questions of succession to guaranteed estates, was at the same time made clear to the Jaora Darbar.

Onkar Singh died in 1901, and was succeeded by Madho Singh, who died in 1916 and was succeeded by his brother the present Thakur Sambhu Singh.

The area of Tal is 9·36 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 1,250; and the revenue Rs. 18,000.

20. TONK.

Thakur Nirbhe Singh succeeded his father Balwant Singh in 1869, and was succeeded by Bijey Singh, who died in 1910 and was succeeded by his son the present Thakur Fateh Singh. He receives from Scindia and Holkar the following tankas:—

	Rs.	A.
From Scindia (No. LXII)	4,457	0
„ Holkar (No. LXIII)	112	8
Total	4,569	8

It was the practice of the Agent to the Governor-General at Indore to grant the Thakur a parwana to enable him to realise the tanka from Scindia's local officials, but the Thakur now receives the tanka from the Gwalior Darbar direct.

The Thakur also receives a tanka of Rs. 4,570 from the two Chiefs of Dewas. No sanads for this tanka have been produced, but the Thakur holds a certificate (No. LXIV), given in 1837 by Mr. P. Johnston, Assistant Resident, Indore, relating to the payment.

21. UPERWARA.

The Settlement (No. LXV) originally made in 1823 with Zalim Singh, guarantees to the holder the villages of Uperwara, Palakheri and Chandankheri on payment of Rs. 3,603 as rent to the Jaora State; and also the rights of dami and sayar. The existence of the guarantee was brought to notice in 1884.

The present Thakur Krishna Singh, fifth in descent from Zalim Singh, succeeded his father Bhairon Singh in 1910.

The area of Uperwara is 7.10 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 974; and the revenue Rs. 23,400.

22. UPLAI.

The Thakur holds from the Jaora Darbar a quarter share of the village of Uplai on istimrari tenure, on an annual quit-rent of Salim Shahi Rs. 401.

The existence of the original Patta (No. LXVI), signed by Major Borthwick in 1840 and granted to Bhopji, was brought to notice in 1910; and in 1912 the Government of India held that the grant should be treated as guaranteed.

Thakur Bheron Singh, third in descent from Bhopji succeeded his father Pirthi Singh in 1894. Bheron Singh died in May 1930 and was succeeded by his minor son the present Thakur Ishwar Singh born in March 1928.

The area of Uplai is .63 square miles; the population, according to the Census of 1921, 110; and the revenue Rs. 3,000.

It has given me such satisfaction to learn that the railroad is to be established in this part of the country. As it is a source of much pleasure to accede to the wishes of the British Government, I hereby give my consent to the four conditions mentioned above.

Nawab Ghuffoor Khan having for his own satisfaction requested a writing under my seal and signature in proof of the arrangement now made in regard to the number of troops to be maintained by him in readiness for the service of the State ; it is accordingly hereby certified that it is not the intention of the British Government to require the said Nawab henceforth to furnish a greater body of troops than what has been recently fixed viz.; five hundred horse and five hundred foot, with four guns, the whole to be good and well armed troops and to be constantly kept in a state of efficiency and readiness for the service of the State ; and the orders of the Government have been received to this effect. In the engagement originally executed between the British Government and Nawab Ghuffoor Khan it was stipulated that in proportion to the increase of the cultivation and revenue of his jaidad, a proportional addition should be made to the strength of the contingent ; but in consequence of the conclusion of the arrangement recently entered into, the above conditions have been substituted and will henceforth continue in force.

Understanding that the village of Sidra Pergunnah Gangrar has been held by you since times of old, that under the administration of Captain Mehrab Khan you used to give a present of one horse, every second year, and that at Captain William Borthwick's suggestion who disapproved of the taking of the present, it was stipulated that the Thakur of Bhojakheri should pay on account of his village Rupees 100 annually of Indore and Ujjain currency by two instalments of Rupees 50 each, the first to be paid on Pus Sudi Punum and the second at the time of rabi harvest on Chait Sudi Punum. You are directed to pay the instalments regularly to the Kota State which will make no further demands.

TRANSLATION of a SANAD from NAWAB GHUFFOOR KHAN granting the village of BELONDA in SUNJIT PERGANA of JAORA to HAKEEM MEER ZAFFURALLY, dated 1st Shaban 1233 Hijri,—1818.

Be it known to the Amils, Mutsuddies, Kanoongoes, Chowdries, Mukadams, and cultivators, present and future, of the Sunjit Pergana of Rampura Soubah Malwa, that the village of Belonda, together with its revenue and customs dues, has been granted rent free to Hakeem Meer Zaffurally from the commencement of the kharif of Fasli 1225 for his support, and it shall continue in his possession from generation to generation, undisturbed. It is required that the possession of the village should be given to the Agent of the said Hakeem, considering the grant as rent free. The village should not be harassed with demands for forced labour (begar), bhett, etc., nor should renewed sanad be called for. Carry out these instructions without fail.

TRANSLATION of a PROCLAMATION from CAPTAIN BORTHWICK regarding the grant by NAWAB GHUFFOOR KHAN, of the village of BELONDA in SUNJIT PERGANA to HAKEEM MEER ZAFFURALLY, dated 11th January 1819, corresponding with 17th Rabi-ul-awal 1234 Hijri.

Whereas Nawab Abdul Ghuffoor Khan has out of his estate, which is guaranteed by the British Government, granted free of rent the village of Belonda to Syud Zaffurally for his support on account of the services rendered by him, whereas the above village is situated on the road and is frequented by travellers and on this account is put to the inconvenience of providing labour, fire-wood, etc., which interferes with the prosperity of the village and its inhabitants, and whereas the said Hakeem is a well-wisher of the British Government, it is notified that no servant of the British Government or any other person passing the village should demand forced labour, fire-wood, etc., otherwise on a complaint being made to any British officer, such person will be considered an offender.

W. BORTHWICK,
Commanding Detachment.

This is to certify that being called upon by both parties to mediate a settlement of a dispute between the Nawab Ghuffur Khan and Hakim Mir Zuffur Ally, I agreed to do so on the ground of my consideration for the character of the Nawab and the public services rendered by the Hakim to Holkar's as well as the British Government, and the following is the settlement to which I have given my consent as according with the wishes of both and appearing to me under all circumstances just and reasonable.

The Hakim Zuffur Ally is at liberty to depart from the service of the Nawab Ghuffur Khan and to live in Hindustan, his native country. He has consented to give up to the Nawab the Sanad he has in his possession for an annual pension to him and his heirs for ever of fifteen hundred Rupees, but retains the sanad or grant (to him and his heirs for ever) conferred upon him by the Nawab Ghuffur Khan as a reward for his services of the village of Belonda in the District of Sunjit which is given for the support of him, the said Mir Zuffur Ally, and his descendants. In witness of my having mediated this agreement I have given one copy of this certificate to the Nawab Ghuffur Khan and another to the Hakim Mir Zuffur Ally.

TRANSLATION of a PERWANNAH from MALHAR RAO HOLKAR to GOPAL RAO KRISHNA, KAMAVISDAR of PERGUNNAH KAYATHE, —1822.

From MALHAR RAO HOLKAR, to GOPAL RAO KRISHNA, Kamavisdar, Pargane Kayathe, dated Suma Salas Ashrin Mayaten wa Alaf.*

Rawat Sher Singh and Gulab Singh, Goyal Girassias, of Jowasia, came to see the Sarkar at Indore and represented that they used to receive Tanka directly from the villages of the aforesaid Pargana, which they no longer received. Orders, therefore, might be issued and their Tanka be restored to them as in the past. The above request was examined and it was found that the aforesaid Girassia Tanka used to be taken directly from the villages of the Pargana. This should now be stopped and they may be warned that from the current year they should not oppress the people of the villages, nor collect a pice from them, but you should recover the amount of their Tanka from the villages. The amount sanctioned to be paid to them from the Mahal Kacheri in lieu of their Tanka has been fixed at Rs. 180. This amount of Rs. 180 is made payable by you annually from the Mahal Kacheri and this letter is written to you (on the subject). So you should collect the Tanka which the said Girassias used to receive from the villages from time immemorial of which they should not be allowed to recover a pice direct and pay to the Girassias the above sum of Rs. 180 yearly in four instalments from the Mahal Kacheri in accordance with the practice in force in Mahal and also take service from them in the Mahal. May this be known to you. Ch. 19, Safar. (4th November 1822).

TRANSLATION of a PERWANNAH from MALHAR RAO HOLKAR to ABAJI BALWANT, KAMAVISDAR of PERGUNNAH MEHIDPUR, —1824.

From MALHAR RAO HOLKAR, to ABAJI BALWANT, Kamavisdar, Pargana Mehidpur, dated Suma Khamas Ashrin Mayaten wa Alaf. (1225 A.A.)

Rawat Sher Singh and Gulab Singh of Jawasia waited upon the Sarkar at Indore and declared that they had long been used to receive Tanka from the village of Palba, of the Mehidpur Pargana, and stated that, if a fixed sum were settled on that account, they would take it and would not exact a pice over and above it, and would render service to the Sarkar in the Mahal, if any were required of them. Taking their request into consideration, and with due regard to the fact that they used to enjoy from of old, a Tanka from the said village, a sum of Rs. 21 has been settled to be paid to Rawat Sher Singh and Gulab Singh of Jawasia from the Kacheri of the said Pargana. You are, therefore, directed to recover from the said village the sum of Rs. 21, and after crediting it to the Sarkar account, pay the said sum every year to the Girasias from the Mahal Kacheri in cash and obtain their receipt for the same. They should not be allowed to go direct to the village for it, but should take the amount from the Kacheri and should attend the Mahal for service whenever required of them. You should warn them accordingly. If the Girasias fail to do all this, you shall not pay them the Tanka without permission of the Sarkar. You shall not call for fresh orders annually. Be it known to you. Ch. 15, Jilkad. (13th July 1824).

ORDERED that from enquiries made before the Court in the presence of the various Vakils, it is clear that Bhawani Singh's claim is right. CENTRAL INDIA.

APPENDIX No. I.

No copy of the document shown in this Volume as No. I under the Central India Agency is forthcoming at present from the Darbar's records; nor has the counterpart been found which Sir John Malcolm engaged to deliver, duly ratified by the Hon'ble the Governor-General in Council, within one month. All that has been found is the following copy of a document in Persian dated four days later, viz., the 6th Shawal 1220 A.H., from camp near Amritsar, which may possibly be a copy of a document delivered by Jeswant Rao Holkar in pursuance of Article 9. It contains 15 articles of which the first 8 reproduce the first eight articles of the treaty as printed, but with certain additions and a few differences. The subjects of the remaining seven articles are respectively :—

9. The Company to compose the differences between Holkar and the Peshwa.
10. The Nagpurwala (Bhousla Raja) to be made to return certain property of which he had cheated Holkar.
11. Certain Jagirs.
12. Holkar's relations with Daulat Rao Scindia.
13. Holkar resigns his possessions in Hindustan.
14. The Company not to interfere between Holkar and the Raja of Jaipur.
15. Return of certain property.

A Hindi copy of the same document, bearing the Maharaja's seal, has also been found. It is dated the 7th Shawal and substitutes for the 14th and 15th articles above described, an article providing that the Company shall not interfere with Holkar's enjoyment, as of old, of Sardeshmukhi, Patelki, and other rights in Khandesh and the Deccan.

The additions which these documents make in the first eight articles are :—

ARTICLE 3.

The passage "Mewar..... Chambal" is replaced by the words "Malwa, Nimar, Kanjiwara, Umatwara, Bhopal and other States like those of Mewar, Marwar, Haraoti and Sopur and other States to the South of the Chambal."

ARTICLE 4.

Contains a provision reserving Alampur and Salone to Holkar.

ARTICLE 8.

Contains a provision that the Company should not interfere with Holkar's friendship with Ranjit Singh and the Sikh Khalsa, and other Chiefs in the Punjab,

If however, this document was not presented, or, if presented, was withdrawn and replaced by a copy of the Treaty as negotiated, its only practical interest lies in indicating certain mistakes in the treaty as now printed, viz.—

- (a) In Article 2 “Dase” is a mis-spelling for Dahi or Daee as it was then spelt, cf. the note below on article 5 of Central India Agency No. II in the original of which the word is spelt Daee.
- (b) In Article 3, “fort.....of Chanderee” should be “fort.....of Chandore”, and “Senghan” should be “Sheogaon”. Further on in the same article “port” of Chanderee should clearly be, as before “fort” of Chandore.

In Article 8, the words “his own country” are used in this document instead of “Hindustan” in both places where it occurs.

TRANSLATION.

A treaty for the establishment of the foundation of peace and amity between the authorities of the Honourable British Company and Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar has been concluded to the following effect :—

Whereas some disagreement and discord recently arose between the Honourable British Company and the aforesaid Maharaja and it is now the desire of both parties to restore mutual harmony and concord, the following articles are concluded through Colonel John Malcolm in accordance with the authority given to him by Nawab Samsam-ud-Daulah Ashja-ul-Mulk Khan-i-Dauran Khan General Lord Lake, Commander-in-Chief, Fateh Jang, who has been invested with authority for this purpose by the Honourable Sir George Hilario Barlow, Governor-General and Administrator of the provinces of India belonging to the Honourable English Company, and through Sheikh Habib Ullah and Bala Ram Seth, invested with powers on the part of Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar :—

ARTICLE 1.

The British Government engages to abstain from the prosecution of hostilities against Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar and to consider the said Maharaja henceforward as one of the friends of the said Government. Accordingly the said Maharaja agrees on his part to abstain from all measures and proceedings of hostile nature against the Honourable British Company and its friends and allies, and from doing any act which may cause harm or injury to the Honourable British Company or its friends and allies. This article is agreed to by both parties in accordance with the conditions laid down.

ARTICLE 2.

The Honourable Company are masters of the Country and just. Now that relations of friendship have been established and all discord has been removed why should not the places Tonk, Rampur, Bundi Lakheri, Samdhi, Bowangaon, Dai and others, situated to the north of Bundi hills, which have been from times immemorial the ancestral property of the State be given up. Owing to friendship it is fitting that they should be restored.

ARTICLE 3.

The Honourable British Company hereby engages to have no concern with the country which belongs from ancient times to the Holkar family in Malwa, Nimar, Khichiware, Umatwara, Bhopal and in other States such as Mewar, Marwar, Haroti, Supor and States situated to the south of the Chambal, nor to interfere with the affairs of those places. And the said Company also agrees to restore to Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar such of the possessions of the Holkar family as are situated in the Deccan south of the river Tapti which are at present in the occupation of the said Company with the exception of the fort and parganah of Chandor, parganah Ambar, parganah Sheogaon and the parganahs and villages situated to the south of the river Ganga Godavari which will remain in the possession of the said Company. In consideration, however, of the greatness of the family of Holkar an engagement is hereby given that in case relations of union and friendship are maintained by Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar and no act is committed by him which may be productive of evil in the territories of the Honourable British Company and its friends and allies, the said country, i.e., the fort and parganah of Chandor, parganahs of Ambar, Sheogaon and villages situated to the south of the river Ganga Godavari, will at the expiration of eighteen months, be made over to Maharaja Jaswant Rao. These places which are [the Maharaja's] ancestral property from ancient times will now, that friendship and union have been established between the parties and all hostilities have been removed, be restored so that there may be no cause for any dispute. And in Malwa, Khichiware, Umatwara, Bhopal and other States of Mewar, Marwar, Haroti, Supor, Thaiwah, Dewlia Partabgarh and in the country situated in the Deccan to the south of the river Tapti, the Honourable British Company shall not offer any hindrance or interference.

ARTICLE 4.

The Honourable British Company renounces all claims to the pargana Kunch and the Bundelkhand district. In case relations of union and friendship are maintained intact by the Maharaja towards the Honourable British Company and its friends and allies, the Honourable British Company shall, after the expiry of two years, give the parganah of Kunch in jagir to Bhiman Bai, the worthy daughter of the said Maharaja to be held by her under the Honourable British Company similar to that now enjoyed by Bala Bai. The family of Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar represents that the parganahs of Kunch and Alsanpur Saulon have from ancient times belonged to that family and that the chhatri (sic) of the late Maharaja Subedar is also at that place. These should be restored without delay in consideration of their being ancestral property. And as regards the remainder of the Bundelkhand district, the Honourable British Company are at liberty (to do as they please).

A jagir similar to that given to Bala Bai should be granted to Bhiman Bai in Hindustan territory.

ARTICLE 5.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar hereby engages to renounce all claims of every description on the Honourable British Company and to the territories occupied by the said Company and its friends and allies. This article is agreed to by both parties in accordance with the conditions laid down.

ARTICLE 6.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar hereby engages never to entertain in his service, Europeans of any description without the consent of the Honourable British Company. It is proper that the British Company should not entertain in their service any of the brothers, friends or servants of this family. If any one should apply to that Company it should have nothing to do with him.

ARTICLE 7.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar hereby engages that as Sarji Rao Khorkhia has created mischief which has wrought such havoc in the country, and as he has particularly been guilty of unbecoming conduct towards the Honourable British Company who have consequently sent proclamations to their friends proclaiming that perfidious man as their enemy, he shall, in view of these facts, never allow him to enter his territory or admit him into his counsels regarding the affairs of his State or entertain him in his service. This is agreed to in accordance with the writing of the Honourable British Company.

ARTICLE 8.

The British Company engages that in case peace is established and the conditions laid down in the above articles are accepted by Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar, the Honourable British Company will permit the said Maharaja to return to his own territory without let or hindrance. And the said Company will not interfere or have anything to do with the affairs of the said Maharaja. It is, however, stipulated that immediately upon the treaty being ratified, the said Maharaja shall proceed by continued marches to his own country by the route which leaves the States of Patiala, Kaithal, Jind, the possessions of the Company and the territory of the Raja of Jaipur on the left, and shall take strict precautions against the territory of the Honourable Company, etc., on his route, being plundered by his troops.

Maharaja Holkar represents that he will take precautions on the road at the time of the return journey, but that he will take revenue (Mu'amla) from Lahore. As the traffic of troops has been by way of Shekhawati, the return journey will be made by that route. It is, however, stipulated that the Honourable British Company shall not in any way molest or injure in the Punjab, etc., Raja Ranjit

Singh, Sardars Fateh Singh, Tara Singh, Dewa Singh, Budh Singh, Jodh Singh Ramgarhia, Karam Singh, Mahtab Singh, Jail Singh, Bhogwan Singh, Baghel Singh, Gurdit Singh, Jodh Singh Kalsia, Kutb-ud-din Khan Kasuria, Raja Sansar Chand of Nadaun, Sahib Singh of Gujrat, Mir Ahmad of Jakranwan, the Chief of Kot Maler and others, who have been the Maharaja's friends from ancient times.

ARTICLE 9.

The Honourable British Company engages that it will bring about a reconciliation between the Peshwa and Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar between whom some discord has arisen. It is agreed that reconciliation should be speedily effected.

ARTICLE 10.

The Maharaja Holkar represents that the Honourable English Company should cause to be restored to him the goods, saddlery, elephants' trappings and baggage, etc., which were treacherously taken possession of by the Chief of Nagpur. If, however, the said Raja should not return these at the instance of the Honourable Company, the latter should not protect or assist him if the Maharaja takes such steps as he may deem necessary to recover his property.

ARTICLE 11.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar represents that the Honourable British Company should arrange that the Jagirs enjoyed by officials and Udak servants and others from the Peshwa from old times, should be restored to them. The zemindari rights should be restored to those who have hitherto enjoyed them.

ARTICLE 12.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar represents that brotherly feeling exists between Daulat Rao Sindhia and Maharaja Jaswant Rao. But owing to interests of the parties in the country and the instigations of certain officials, misunderstandings sometimes arise. In such a case the Honourable British Company should bear in mind that if by any chance some misunderstandings should occur between them, the Company should rest assured that they will themselves settle their differences.

ARTICLE 13.

Whatever territory belongs to this side in India from ancient times shall be restored.

ARTICLE 14.

Maharaja Jaswant Rao Holkar represents that the revenue (Mu'amlā) of Jaipur State belongs to him of right from ancient times that he will take it according to ancient practice, and that the Honourable British Company should not interfere in this matter.

ARTICLE 15.

Considering the fact that from the very first day of my friendship with brother Nawab Amir-ud-Daula Muhammad Amir Khan Bahadur, the arrangement was that at the time a treaty is concluded with the Honourable British Company, I shall have the country of Khetar, which belongs to Afghans, released and restored to him, now that no hostility exists between us, and I and brother Amir Khan Bahadur have all become supporters of the Company, it behoves the Honourable British Company to be so considerate as to restore the heritage of the Afghans, so that the persons concerned may receive their rights. The reason is that my said brother is as much a friend of the Honourable Company as he is of mine.

Done on the 6th of the month of Shawal, 1220 Hijra (28th December 1805) near Amritsar.
